ROOSEVELT GAINS; MORE PEOPLE ASK NAME ON BALLOT

Oregon and California Strong for the Ex-President and for Preferential Primary Vote.

OTHERS OF LIKE OPINION

Editors Believe Demand Will Become So Insistent Colonel Will Be Unable to Resist.

REITERNER URGES HIM TO RUN

The TRIBUNE'S suggestion that the name of Theodore Roosevelt be put upon the ballot in those states which have direct primaries continues to attract wide attention throughout the country.

Editors who favor his nomination believe that the response will show so insistent a demand for Roosevelt that he will be unable to resist.

The editor of the Capital-Journal of Salem, Ore., where a petition was filed on the day after THE TRIBUNE'S editorial appeared, writes as follows:

"Salem, Ore., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—The name of Theodore Roosevelt will be put on the next primary ballot for president in Oregon whether he desires it or not. Straw ballots show that a large majority of Republicans prefer to have him for a candidate, on the theory that he alone can hold the party together and give the country a successful and prosperous administration. Col. E. Hofer and Secretary of State Ben Olcott, progressive Republicans, are circulating the petitions and they are rapidly being signed. Roosevelt is the only candidate whom the people desire nominated, regardless of his own wishes in the matter.

"CAPITAL-JOURNAL."

Two Other Editors For It.

THE TRIBUNE also has received the following telegram from H. T. Hopkins, editor of The Dalles (Ore.) Chronicle:

"The Dalles, Ore., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—Yes, unless Roosevelt publicly announces he will not be a candidate under any conditions. The voting would not be a criterion of the choice of the voters were Roosevelt nominated.

"H. T. HOPKINS, Editor Chronicle."

Another telegram received by THE TRIBUNE from Oregon says:

"Baker, Ore., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—The Baker Herald, as the independent paper of the part of eastern Oregon, has been conducting a straw ballot and has thought enough of Roosevelt's candidacy to include him as a possibility. The returns show he has more votes than any other, with La Follette second. We believe he should be placed on the ballot at the direct primary to determine the will of the voters. We, therefore, favor his name being added.

"C. C. POWELL, Editor Baker Herald."

Special dispatches from Portland tell of the popularity of the movement in that state.

John F. Logan, a member of the Taft campaign committee in Oregon, frankly admits that if Mr. Roosevelt "continues to maintain his present loud silence" he will carry the Oregon primaries. Mr. Logan says there is no doubt that Roosevelt will draw heavily from both Taft and La Follette, and as the best man in the race should win easily in Oregon.

Denies Scheme to Split Forces.

Charges by Thomas McKercher, manager of La Follette's campaign in Oregon, that Roosevelt's name has been sprung in Oregon to split the La Follette forces and the further charges from other sources that the scheme was hatched at the meeting of the Republican national committee in Washington are denied by J. T. Ellis, one of the men responsible for placing the name of Roosevelt on the ballot in Oregon.

"That stuff's all bosh," said Mr. Ellis today. "What would the Taft forces gain by turning the Oregon delegation over to Roosevelt?"

Mr. Ellis has made public a letter he has written to Mr. Roosevelt notifying the ex-president of the movement to put his name on the primary ballot. The letter follows:

Inclosed herewith please find a copy of the petition that is now being circulated by Republicans in every county of this state; said petition is drawn in conformity with the primary nominating law adopted by the people at our last state election.

During the last three months I have made it a point to interview the voters from all parts of our state, and I believe that you will receive two votes to any opponent that may enter the field in Oregon. Under our law the candidate receiving the largest number of votes carries with it the vote of the Oregon delegation to the national convention.

There has been a determined effort made by a few of the wealthier voters of the up the Republicans in Oregon to support Taft, but from what I can gather the Oregon Republicans are not very enthusiastic in his behalf, any more than they are for Senator La Follette. I truly believe that if the nation decides on either Mr. Taft or Senator La Follette the Democratic candidate, no matter who he may be, will carry the state of Oregon.

We expect to organize a live committee in each county from the young and progressive Republicans and no doubt you will hear of their work through the press.

Two Men Bearing Expense.

Mr. Ellis says it will require little money to get the 500 petition signatures to put Roosevelt's name on the ballot, and that he and Oliver M. Hickey, a fellow attorney, are bearing the expense for stationery and postage.

Oregon will select the delegates to the national convention in the April primaries, and up to date there is no avowed aspirant

EDISON COMPANY BUYS BANK BLOCK; GIVES $2,860,000

Closes Deal for Continental-Commercial Building at Adams and Clark Streets.

PLANS COSTLY REMODELING

Will Make 17 Story Structure Home of Traction and Public Service Corporations.

TAKES DEPOSIT BRANCH STOCK

A deal for the sale of the Continental-Commercial National bank building to the Commonwealth Edison company has been closed, and official announcement will be made within a few days. The Commonwealth Edison acquires the building through the purchase of the $2,860,000 capital stock of the Commercial National Bank Safe Deposit company, which owns the building.

The price paid is understood to be close to par for the stock, which will make the sale price substantially $2,860,000. But in reality the stockholders will get more than par, for a few months ago the capital of the deposit company was increased 30 per cent, or $600,000. This was a stock dividend, on top of the original capital of $2,200,000. In effect, therefore, the Continental and Commercial National bank, which had a controlling interest in the deposit company, will receive $130 a share.

Minority Stockholders Stand Equal.

The Commonwealth Edison company agrees to pay the minority stockholders the same amount per share as that received by the bank, so that the Commonwealth will acquire all the shares at the uniform price of $130. In addition to the capital stock, the Commonwealth assumes a mortgage of $1,800,000 to secure a like amount of 4½ per cent bonds, which mature in 1938.

Possession of the building will not be obtained until two years hence upon the completion of the new Continental-Commercial National bank building. The company proposes to remodel the lower portion of the building it has just purchased and make the first floor the most pretentious in the city. The Commonwealth company will occupy the ground floor. The building will continue as an office structure, but an effort will be made to have it the headquarters of public utility corporations in Chicago. Headquarters of the street railroad systems of Chicago will also be in the building.

Will Issue $1,000,000 Bonds.

The Commonwealth company will issue something over $1,000,000 bonds to pay for the property. There will be no stock issue and the payments will be made in installments. The plans have been working for several months and the principal parties in interest would not confirm or deny the story yesterday that the deal had been closed.

The building, a seventeen story fireproof structure, was valued by the board of review at $2,700,000. It fronts 190 feet on Clark street, with a depth of 181 feet on Adams street, which ground was acquired under long term lease from the estate of Henry Field, Joseph N. Field, Rivers McNeill, etc., and from the estate of Moses G. Night, respectively, for an aggregate annual rent of $115,000. Most of the leases are for a term of 198 years from 1905. Capitalizing the ground rent on a 4 per cent basis gives a leasing value of $2,875,000.

JANITOR "FIRED," WON'T QUIT OR FIRE UP; TENANTS FREEZE.

Police Start Today to Storm Basement of South Side Flat Held by Obstinate Negro and 250 Pound Wife.

Charles F. Winkle, real estate dealer, won't discharge any more apartment house janitors when the thermometer indicates zero weather. Several days ago he "fired" J. Tharp, the negro janitor of the apartment building at 3415 Vernon avenue. The janitor let the fires go out two days ago and, with the help of his 250 pound wife, has prevented all comers from entering the basement of the building and starting up the furnace since that time, Winkle says.

Winkle got a warrant for Mrs. C. Tharp, the janitor's husky wife, charging her with assault. The police will try to storm the basement and serve it this morning.

"I discharged Tharp because he failed to perform his duties," Mr. Winkle told the judge. "I sent a new janitor out to the flat building yesterday morning and the janitor and his wife drove the new man away. The tenants are almost frozen because Tharp wouldn't build a fire in the furnace and wouldn't let any one else do it. I went out to fix matters up and this woman struck me in the face and then pushed me out of the basement entrance. I weigh 200 pounds, but I'm afraid of that woman."

WOMAN EMBARRASSING TO JURY.

Judge Holds She Must Remain with Eleven Men Colleagues—Screen to Separate Them.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—Because the law says a jury must be held together in a murder case Mrs. Retta Doddridge, a lone woman on the Bianchi murder jury, must remain with the eleven men who are her colleagues.

The trial judge held that her bed could be separated from the others by a screen and that she could have the attendance of a woman bailiff. The defense raised a point, insisting that the use of a screen will not be a literal compliance with the law.

If Bianchi is convicted the case will go to the Supreme court on the question raised by the woman's presence on the jury.

THE DEMOCRATIC POLITICIANS SEEM VERY EAGER TO EXPLAIN WHY ROOSEVELT SHOULD NOT BE NOMINATED.

R. T. CRANE ESTATE WORTH $20,000,000

Principal Heirs Seven Children, Grandchildren, Widow; Married Three Times.

EMPLOYES MAY SHARE.

Twenty million dollars is a conservative estimate of the value of the R. T. Crane estate. The great bulk of the late ironmaster's holdings are in the Crane company and the Crane Valve company, which, combined, have a paid up capital of $17,800,000. Banking and real estate interests will swell the total to above $20,000,000, according to a friend familiar with the manufacturer's affairs.

The principal heirs are the seven children, grandchildren, and the widow. Mr. Crane married three times. The children are all by the first wife who was Miss Mary Prentice. She died in 1887 and Mr. Crane married her sister, Miss Eliza A. Prentice. She died on Sept. 15, 1902. On Oct. 14, 1903, Mr. Crane married Miss Emily S. Hutchinson.

Adjusts Objection to Marriage.

There was some objection to the last marriage by the grown children, who were older than the bride. Mr. Crane adjusted the matter by settling upon Miss Hutchinson $1,000,000 in lieu of her dower rights. Therefore it is not considered probable the widow will share heavily in the estate.

C. R. Crane, R. T. Crane Jr., two sons, and R. T. Crane III., a grandson, are vice presidents of the Crane company. They have been active in its organization and it is likely they will succeed to its management. Other children are: Herbert Crane, Mrs. Edward Russell of Lake Forest, Mrs. A. F. Garts of Altadena, Cal., Mrs. Thomas Chadbourne, and Mrs. Frank Lillie.

Bequests for Employes.

It is expected that after the lifelong interest in the welfare of his employes Mr. Crane made some provision for them in his will. Five thousand of the company's workers reside in Chicago. There are 2,500 at the plant at Bridgeport, Conn., and an equal number are distributed among the forty-three branches over the nation. Their payroll last year exceeded $5,000,000.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning. Services will begin at 9 o'clock at Trinity Episcopal church, Twenty-sixth street and Michigan avenue. The Rev. John M. McGann will preach the sermon.

Following the service in the south side church the body will be taken by special train to Lake Geneva, Wis., where the summer residence of the family is located. Interment will be in Lake Geneva village cemetery, where other members of the family have been buried. Only relatives will accompany the body to the final resting place.

Employes to Be Pallbearers.

The active pallbearers will be chosen today from among the old employes of the Crane company by R. T. Crane Jr. and Martin A. Ryerson, who have the funeral arrangements in charge. A tentative list of honorary pallbearers was announced as follows:

A. C. Bartlett,	August C. Magnus,
E. B. Butler,	A. D. MacGill,
E. W. Blatchford,	William A. Pope,
William A. Fuller,	A. A. Sprague,
H. N. Higinbotham,	Orson Smith,
C. L. Hutchinson,	Byron L. Smith
T. J. Lefens,	Charles H. Wacker,
William R. Linn.

All the plants of the Crane company will be shut down tomorrow out of respect for the late head of the organization.

SAWED OFF SHOTGUN MEN WOUND THREE ITALIANS.

Shoot Leaden Slugs in Archer Avenue at Night, Hitting One Laborer in Twelve Places—Blackmailers Blamed.

Two unidentified men armed with sawed off shotguns last night put fifteen lead slugs in the bodies of three Italians passing them on Archer avenue, near Twenty-first street. Unequal distribution of the slugs placed twelve of them in one man. He probably will die. The wounded:

Antonio Cotronio, a laborer, 2821 Wentworth avenue; wounded twelve times.

Samuel Rose, barber, resided with Cotronio; wounded in right shoulder.

Samuel Scibito, saloonkeeper at 2239 Princeton avenue; wounded twice.

The shooting occurred at about 10 o'clock. Two shots were fired. The men were seen running away, but no one has any clew to their identity.

The wounded Italians all profess to know nothing that could have prompted the shooting. The men are at the People's hospital.

The police learned that Scibito had sold his saloon yesterday. They believed he sold his business because he feared he would be killed and that he was preparing to leave the city when the shooting occurred.

Last night's shooting occurred within a short distance of where, on Nov. 22, two Italians were shot and killed and a third received wounds which caused death.

FINDS HIS WIFE DEAD IN BED; DROPS DEAD OF SAME ILLNESS.

Arthur Echols on Visit to Spouse Falls Victim of Heart Disease While Lamenting Her Death.

Mrs. Arthur Echols died of heart disease yesterday morning at her residence, 3044 West Madison street. Her husband found her body a few minutes later lying on her bed. While a hurriedly summoned physician was examining the body the husband, who had been weeping hysterically, fell over dead from the same malady.

The Echols were married forty-three years ago. Mr. Echols was 64 years old, and his wife 69 years old. The couple have been living separately for several years, because of differences between Mr. Echols and his two sons, Walter and Arthur. The mother resided with her sons and Mr. Echols resided at the Athol house, 646 North Clark street. Mr. Echols since the separation has visited his wife regularly.

A verdict of death from organic heart disease was returned.

RISKS LIFE IN FIRE TO SAVE HER DAUGHTER, 1 YEAR OLD.

Oak Park Woman Wraps Rug About Head and Gropes Through Smoke to Baby's Crib.

To save her year old daughter, Inez, Mrs. T. L. Gatke yesterday forced her way through smoke that filled her burning residence at 122 South Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park. She had left the child asleep in her crib on the second floor and her 4 year old son, Frank, in charge of a nurse while she was visiting a neighbor.

The nurse, with Frank in her arms, ran to the neighbor's house crying that the Gatke house was on fire.

The mother ran to her house. She wrapped around her head a small rug and groped her way upstairs. Enfolding the child in the rug, she stumbled to the street. The house was destroyed. Mrs. Gatke estimated the loss at $20,000. Several oil paintings executed by Mrs. Gatke were burned.

ADOPTS HISTORY PHONOGRAPH PLAN

Chicago Society First to Preserve Voice of Mayor in Message to Council.

START WORK THIS MONTH

HISTORICAL PHONOGRAPH RECORDS.

1. "A Message to the Chicago City Council," by Mayor Harrison.
2. "The Founding of Hull House," by Jane Addams.
3. "How to Cure the Croup," by Dr. W. A. Evans.

The new year was made noteworthy for the Chicago Historical society by the adoption yesterday of the phonograph as a means of supplying interesting historical data to posterity. There was no opposition when the plan was presented to the board of directors at the regular monthly meeting.

The society first considered the advantages of the phonograph as a part of its equipment last November. The Borrowed Time club of Oak Park had listened to the voice of a departed comrade through a talking machine horn. A reporter for THE TRIBUNE called each officer and director of the society to inquire if there was any feasibility in a plan to preserve the voices of old settlers and noted citizens of Chicago. The suggestion was well received.

Get Equipment This Month.

At a monthly meeting held Dec. 9 it was decided to learn just how much apparatus the phonographic laboratory will require. A report was made yesterday by the committee, consisting of Dr. O. L. Schmidt, chairman, George Merriweather, and Seymour Morris. The action of the directors was the authorization of the special committee to add the phonographic equipment to the society's properties during the present month.

"We already have decided on our machine," Dr. Schmidt said last night. "An adequate record library will be ordered within the next few days for the filing of records.

"Mayor Harrison is to be asked first to talk into the reproducer. We want him to read an interesting part of one of his messages to the council. Miss Jane Addams will be the second to be invited. Then we want a health talk by Dr. W. A. Evans and short sermons by Archbishop Quigley, Bishop Fallows, and Dr. Gunsaulus.

Favor Fort Dearborn Centennial.

The society also gave approval to proposals for an all-Chicago celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the Fort Dearborn massacre Aug. 15, 1812. The Cook county real estate board also has favorably considered the centennial.

The outline of the centennial includes a great parade and an accurate reenactment of the massacre. All the members of the Fort Dearborn garrison were slaughtered by Indians.

DIES OF COLD IN CAR ON "L."

George N. Henry's Heart Believed to Have Been Affected by Wintry Temperature.

A combination of cold weather and weak heart is believed to have caused the death yesterday of George N. Henry, 127 East Garfield boulevard, while seated in a South Side "L" train. Mr. Henry was a thirty-second degree Mason. He had been a live stock agent for the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad for twenty-two years.

LORIMER WITNESS IN OWN DEFENSE; ACCUSES DENEEN

Swears Governor Prevented Election of Hopkins in Order to Win Himself.

GIVES STORY OF DEADLOCK

Testifies That "Band of Hope" Could Have Placed Aurora Man in Senate by Votes.

HINES TALKS ON CLUB AFFAIR

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—The climax of the senatorial investigation into the charges that Senator William Lorimer procured his seat by bribery and corruption was reached this afternoon when Mr. Lorimer took the witness stand.

It was one of the dramatic occasions of the inquiry, and the interest was heightened when the witness, in the course of his narrative, sought to show that Gov. Charles S. Deneen was guilty of political perfidy in preventing the reelection of former Senator Albert J. Hopkins and of base intrigue in his efforts to get the place himself.

There was nothing theatrical in Mr. Lorimer's manner, no attempt to heighten the effect of his remarks by an appeal to sympathy or partisanship, as was the case when he made his two speeches on the floor of the senate.

Listens to Hines' Testimony.

Mr. Lorimer had sat quietly through the morning and part of the afternoon session listening to an explanation by Edward Hines, the Chicago lumberman, who "put Lorimer over," reinforced by the testimony of H. A. J. Upham, a Milwaukee lumberman and attorney, as to Hines' occupancy of a room in the Union League club on the day Clarence S. Funk has testified that Hines asked him for a contribution of $10,000 to the Lorimer expense fund.

When notified that the committee would hear him the senator rose quietly from the seat he occupied next to his counsel, Elbridge Hanecy, passed by Hines and the latter's counsel, and appeared with right hand lifted before Senator Dillingham, chairman of the committee.

Mr. Dillingham imposed the usual oath, and Mr. Lorimer, the witness, took the witness chair.

Committee Room Crowded.

The committee room was crowded with spectators, every one of whom leaned forward and took an earnest look at the man who was about to give under oath his defense of the charges that bribery and corruption were practiced in his election. He looked as bland and self-confident as if he were preparing to make an address upon the "hobby" of his life—the deep waterway.

His gaze swept over the crowd of newspaper men on his right, wandered down the members of the committee on his left, and then passing the committee's counsel and the lawyers for himself and Hines, comprehensively took in the audience, among which were his ardent supporters, John Righeimer and Michael J. Faherty. His contemplation was interrupted by the questions of Mr. Hanecy.

Mr. Lorimer swore in the most sweeping fashion that he had no knowledge of nor did he believe corruption was practiced in his election. He knew nothing of any fund raised in behalf of his elevation to the senatorship.

Produces Letter from Blount.

To establish the high moral plane upon which he always has conducted his elections and also to show he was under no obligations to ex-Senator Hopkins, Lorimer produced correspondence with Fred M. Blount, the associate of Hopkins, to prove that he had without a single qualm returned to Blount a check for $500 which the latter had sent him by direction of the ex-senator to aid him in his campaign for congress in 1908.

In the testimony which has been given it has been said repeatedly that the election of Edward D. Shurtleff as speaker was the first step toward the election of Lorimer to the senate.

The witness told the committee today that he was taken ill on Sept. 13, 1908, prior to the elections, and went to the Pacific coast. He returned from the west about Dec. 1 and immediately came to Washington to attend to his congressional duties. He did not get to Springfield until about Jan. 12.

Tells of Speakership Canvass.

The only interview he had with reference to the speakership, Mr. Lorimer said, was with Shurtleff and Representative Shanahan. He proposed to them that Representative Chiperfield be elected speaker. When Gov. Deneen was on the witness stand his attention was called to the absence of Lorimer from Springfield from Sept. 13 until Jan. 12.

"The organization of the legislature," he swore, "was arranged before the primary and simply consummated on the 5th of January."

Mr. Lorimer directly placed upon the shoulders of Gov. Deneen the failure of Mr. Hopkins to secure reelection. The governor testified: "I supported Mr. Hopkins"; and gave instances of how he had done so. He also asserted Lorimer informed him his (Lorimer's) friends would not support Hopkins and that the latter could not be elected.

Says Deneen Opposed Hopkins.

Mr. Lorimer swore Mr. Deneen was greatly irritated over Hopkins' attitude and the treatment he had received at the hands of the friends of Hopkins, notably Mayor Busse and Postmaster Campbell, particularly in connection with the meeting of the Republican state committee on Jan. 13.

Though he concealed his feelings from others, the governor told Mr. Lorimer, according to the latter, that it was to the best interests of the party that Hopkins should not be elected, and that he would not help him in his campaign.

Besides being opposed to Hopkins, the witness alleged, Deneen was apprehensive of the attitude of the Busse-Campbell element, and wanted a working arrangement with Lorimer to control in Chicago, this control being strong enough to assure domination of the state.

Having shown to his own satisfaction at least that Deneen was hostile to Hopkins, Mr. Lorimer then testified as to the means adopted by the governor to prevent the election of the ex-senator.

Chances to End Deadlock.

He said Hopkins could have been elected on the ballot held by the two houses in separate session if twelve members of the "band of hope" who voted for another candidate and three who did not vote at all had cast their votes for Hopkins. The same result could have been secured on any of the five roll calls had in the first joint session if the thirteen members of the "band of hope" who voted for another candidate had voted for Hopkins.

When Gov. Deneen was asked about this mathematical proposition he replied that Hopkins could not have been elected, because a number of men who voted for Hopkins would have changed their votes.

The next step in the Deneen plot, according to Mr. Lorimer, was for the governor to realize his ambition and secure the senatorship. The governor was clever, however, and failed to show his hand, so that it became necessary for Mr. Lorimer to urge him to take his senatorship. The latter did so "at the interview when he told me positively that he would try to defeat Mr. Hopkins." Mr. Deneen, according to Lorimer, did not encourage the idea.

Proposal to Defer Election.

"Did he repel it?" asked Mr. Haney.

"No, I think not," replied the witness.

The governor said he did not see how he could take the place; that the people would not understand it, and suggested that the election be put over until after March 4, when Hopkins' term would expire and the state would become insistent upon having a senator elected.

The governor added that his friends, especially those in Chicago, would not agree to his acceptance of the senatorship, the organization he represented would oppose it, and, finally, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the Daily News, and the Chicago Record-Herald would not consent to it. But the governor was so anxious for delay that he urged Lorimer to have Speaker Shurtleff appoint a committee to visit the charitable institutions of the state, such committee to be made up entirely of Hopkins supporters. The speaker named the committee as desired by the governor. This removed a number of Hopkins men from Springfield for some weeks. In his testimony the governor explained that his reasons for wanting delay were inspired by the contest in connection with the governorship, and had no relation to the senatorial fight. Finally, the governor suggested, Lorimer said, that he (Lorimer) announce his candidacy.

Mr. Lorimer did not finish his story this afternoon. He will continue it tomorrow. What he said, however, was a sordid review of a game of politics which can give no satisfaction to the people of Illinois.

Text of Lorimer Testimony.

Senator Lorimer, upon taking the stand, was examined by his counsel. He gave his full name and said he had resided at Chicago forty years.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever pay any money or anything of value to anybody, at any time, for any vote for you for United States senator?

SENATOR LORIMER—I did not.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever pay any money, or anything of value, to anybody at any time, because anybody had voted for you for United States senator?

SENATOR LORIMER—I did not.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever authorize anybody at any time or place to pay any money or other thing of value for any vote for you, or on acount of any vote that had been cast for you for United States senator?

SENATOR LORIMER—I did not.

MR. HANECY—Do you know of anybody who ever paid any money or other thing of value to induce anybody to vote for you for United States senator, or because anybody had voted for you for United States senator?

SENATOR LORIMER—I do not.

MR. HANECY—Do you know of anybody who ever received any money or other thing of value at any time because anybody voted for you for United States senator, or to induce anybody to vote for you for United States senator?

SENATOR LORIMER—I do not.

Denies Knowledge of Fund.

MR. HANECY—In answering these questions, have you in mind the testimony given by Charles A. White, H. J. C. Beckemeyer, D. W. Holstlaw, and Michael S. Link?

SENATOR LORIMER—I have.

MR. HANECY—Do you know, or did you ever know, that anybody at any time was raising any fund, or any money, or anything of value to use in connection with your election as United States senator, either before your election or after it?

SENATOR LORIMER—No.

MR. HANECY—Did you yourself receive, or did you furnish anybody, or know of anybody raising any fund to aid in your election either to the house of representatives or to the senate?

SENATOR LORIMER—No.

MR. HANECY—Do you know Fred M. Blount and Albert J. Hopkins?

SENATOR LORIMER—Yes.

MR. HANECY—During your candidacy for the lower house of congress did Fred M. Blount, on behalf of himself or Senator Hopkins, offer to contribute anything to your election or to your campaign, in 1908?

SENATOR LORIMER—They sent me a check for $500 signed by Mr. Blount as a contribution.

Reads Letter from Blount.

MR. HANECY—I show you a letter on the letterhead of F. M. Blount, dated Nov. 2, 1908, addressed to you, and ask you whether that letter was ever sent to you, and if so, when?

SENATOR LORIMER—Yes, sir; I received this at my office. The letter is as follows:

Hon. William Lorimer, the Rookery, Chicago, Ill.—My Dear Lorimer: I am directed by Senator Hopkins to send you my check, which I herein inclose. Both of us are doing everything in our power to assist you, and hope that victory will perch on your banner. Yours truly,

F. M. BLOUNT.

Mr. Lorimer replied to this letter as follows:

Fred M. Blount, 630, 208 La Salle street, Chicago, Ill.—My Dear Friend: I received your communication with check inclosed for $500. I wish to express my thanks to both you and Senator Hopkins for your great kindness. I have paid the total expense of my campaigns, both primary and election, without accepting a contribution from any person, although a great many have been tendered. I therefore feel that I cannot accept yours. Assuring you that I appreciate the spirit in which it was sent, I am, yours very truly,

WM. LORIMER.

The contribution referred to was in connection with the last campaign of Mr. Lorimer for the house of representatives.

Absent at Shurtleff Election.

Mr. Lorimer said he was not in Springfield on Jan. 6, 1909, when the legislature of Illinois was organized and Mr. Shurtleff was elected speaker, but in Washington. He had not been in Springfield before the November election. Immediately after the election he went to the Pacific coast. He was taken ill on Sept. 15, 1908, and went away for his health.

He left the Pacific coast for Chicago on Nov. 28 or 29, arriving in Chicago about Dec. 1. He was in Washington when congress convened, and remained until the Christmas holidays, when he returned to Chicago, coming back to Washington by Jan. 4, 1909. During the holiday recess he had a conference with reference to the organization of the Illinois legislature with Messrs. Shurtleff and Shanahan.

MR. HANECY—And when was that?

SENATOR LORIMER—I cannot fix the date. It was some time between my arrival at home and my return to Washington.

MR. HANECY—During the holidays?

SENATOR LORIMER—During the holidays, yes.

MR. HANECY—That would be the latter part of December or the first few days of January, and before the 5th of January, 1909?

Tells of Legislative Conference.

SENATOR LORIMER—I am inclined to think it was the latter part of December. They called to tell me that Representative Chiperfield had said to them that the governor wanted him to become a candidate for speaker and that they concluded it was the best thing to do in the interests of party harmony, and asked me if I would suggest to my friends that it was the proper thing to do; that is, my friends in the legislature; and also asked my opinion as to whether or not it was the proper thing to do. I told them it was, and I said I would speak to my friends and ask them to coöperate with Mr. Chiperfield and the governor and Mr. Shurtleff and Mr. Shanahan in electing Mr. Chiperfield as speaker.

Mr. Chiperfield was then a member of Gov. Deneen's staff. Except with the men named, Mr. Lorimer said he did not talk with any other members of the forty-sixth general assembly with a view to taking any part in the organization of the Illinois legislature.

Offers Bills as Proof.

Mr. Haney called attention to a bill introduced by Mr. Lorimer in congress on Jan. 5, 1909, for the purpose of corroborating the fact of the senator's presence in Washington on that date. Senator Jones called attention to the practice of the house to put bills in a basket. Senator Lorimer said that when he discovered bills were being introduced in his name, he stopped it.

The fact was also placed in evidence that Mr. Lorimer introduced another bill on Jan. 6, 1909, and on Jan. 7, secured permission to withdraw certain papers. A roll call of the house on Jan. 8, 1909, in which Mr. Lorimer was recorded as voting also was presented.

Mr. Lorimer remained in Washington up to the 11th of January and reached Springfield on the 12th. The Republican state central committee of Illinois met at Springfield on Jan. 12 or 13, Mr. Lorimer arriving shortly before it assembled.

On the day after the meeting of the state central committee, Mr. Lorimer met Gov. Deneen, through an appointment made for him by Roy O. West. The two men talked from 5 o'clock in the evening until 9 o'clock, and on the governor's invitation proceeded to the executive mansion, where they had dinner and another conference which lasted until probably 12 o'clock.

Says Deneen Made Complaint.

The subjects discussed were the constitutional amendment providing for the construction of the deep waterway. They also talked about old times, and the governor complained, according to Lorimer, about the harsh treatment he had received from Senator Hopkins, Mayor Busse, and Postmaster Campbell of Chicago, and those who were supporting Mr. Hopkins. Mr. Deneen particularly complained about the way the men named had treated him in the meeting of the state central committee.

The committee meeting was called, Mr. Lorimer testified, for the purpose of inducing the Republican members of the house of representatives to join with the governor and appoint the committees of the house.

"The committee did not coöperate with the governor as he thought they should," continued the witness, "and the meeting broke up without passing any resolutions or accomplishing anything, and the appointment of the committees remained with the speaker of the house. The governor was chagrined at the outcome and put out at the way they had treated him; said they had treated him badly."

Says Busse Aided Hopkins.

Mr. Lorimer said Mayor Busse and Postmaster Campbell then were personal and political friends of Senator Hopkins, and continued as such all through the sessions of the Forty-sixth general assembly. The mayor and postmaster supported Hopkins, constituting an element in the state known as the Busse-Campbell element. The Deneen element was separate and distinct from the Busse element, but Busse and Campbell supported Deneen for the nomination. They were more closely allied to Hopkins than they were to Deneen.

Two or three days after the interview referred to and before the voting began on the senatorship, Mr. Lorimer said, he had another interview with Gov. Deneen at the executive mansion.

MR. HANECY—Did you talk with him then on political subjects, or the waterway, or the senatorship?

SENATOR LORIMER—We talked about the waterway and about political affairs generally, and then he complained again about the treatment that he had received at the hands of the friends of Hopkins, as he styled them, referring specifically to Mr. Busse and Postmaster Campbell and their friends.

Tells of Senatorial Voting.

Following this interview Mr. Lorimer returned to Washington.

Mr. Lorimer said there were five Republican members of the legislature representing his congressional district. All these members voted for Mr. Hopkins on the first senatorial ballot. The congressional district in which Gov. Deneen lived was represented by four Republicans in the legislature. The member from the Democratic senatorial district belonging to the Deneen congressional district, voted for Hopkins. It was his recollection that the other two house members voted for Foss. He knew they did not vote for Hopkins.

The Republican member of the Democratic district was Kowalski, who voted for Hopkins in the first ballot in separate houses, but for other candidates after that time. Fulton and Church were the two Republican members of the lower house, and Lundberg, the senator from Deneen's congressional district. These men voted for Foss on the ballot in separate houses. Fulton and Lundberg voted for Hopkins subsequently but Church did not.

Mr. Lorimer said Mr. Hopkins had a clear majority of all the votes cast in the senate on Jan. 19, 1909, but received only 61 in the house, when 74 were necessary to a choice.

MR. HANECY—Can you tell how many members of the "Band of Hope" or Deneen members of the legislature were present in Springfield who did not vote for Mr. Hopkins on the 19th?

SENATOR LORIMER—The roll call shows that there were twelve present and voting who did not vote for Mr. Hopkins and there were three who failed to vote.

Could Have Elected Hopkins.

MR. HANECY—If they had voted for Senator Hopkins on that day what would his vote have been?

SENATOR LORIMER—If you add fifteen to the sixty-one he received it makes seventy-six, two more than was necessary to elect Senator Hopkins in the house on that day.

MR. HANECY—And if Senator Hopkins had received all the votes of the "Band of Hope" or Deneen faction, together with what he did receive, and having received a majority of the senate that day, he would have been elected United States senator on the 19th of January, 1909, in the vote of the separate houses, would he not?

SENATOR LORIMER—On the first day, yes.

Mr. Lorimer gave the names of the members of the "Band of Hope" who were present and recorded as voting for some other candidate than Hopkins. They were Representatives Abbey, ApMadoc, Butts, Church, Fulton, Hagen, Hull, MacLean, Pierson, Price, Reynolds, and Sollitt. Campbell, Scanlan, and Ton were present but did not vote. Sollitt, according to the senator, was the Sollitt at whose office a meeting of the "Band of Hope" members was called to indorse Gov. Deneen for the United States senate.

Describes Second Day's Voting.

On the second day's voting, on the first joint ballot for United States senator, Hopkins received eighty-nine votes, whereas 100 were necessary for a choice. Thirteen members of the "Band of Hope" were present and not voting for Mr. Hopkins. They were all personal and political friends of Gov. Deneen. They were Senators Hay, Olson, and Schmitt, and Representatives Ap Madoc, Butts, Church, Hagan, Kowalski, MacLean, Price, Reynolds, Sollitt, and Ton. If these thirteen had voted for Hopkins, he would have been elected. Four other ballots were taken on that day. If the so-called Deneen following had supported Hopkins he would have been elected on any one of those ballots.

MR. HANECY—That was the 20th of January. When did you first learn that Gov. Deneen was not supporting or not going to support Senator Hopkins for re-election to the United States senate?

SENATOR LORIMER—Positively, I learned it after the first roll call—that is, after the first week of calling the roll. I had an impression, from what he said to me on the two previous occasions, that he would not support him; but he was not as frank in the first two interviews as he became thereafter and I would not be justified in saying that I knew positively until the interview after the first roll call.

Says That Deneen Complained.

SENATOR JONES—What did the governor say?

SENATOR LORIMER—He complained about the way they had treated him in the meeting of the committee and that some of the men who were supporting Senator Hopkins had supported Shurtleff for election as speaker of the house; and it all indicated, to his mind, that they were not friendly to him.

MR. HANECY—How many men who voted for Senator Hopkins voted for Shurtleff for speaker on the 6th of January, 1909?

MR. LORIMER—Seventeen members of the house.

MR. HANECY—Did you have to do in any way, directly or indirectly, with any of these seventeen men voting for Mr. Shurtleff for speaker?

SENATOR LORIMER—I did not ask any of them to vote. There were some friends of mine that voted for Shurtleff.

About the 27th of January Mr. Lorimer called upon the governor at the executive mansion. After the first meeting between the two men there was a sort of friendly relationship established, and it was understood they would meet and discuss political affairs in future. The interview which took place the last week in January began in the neighborhood of 10 or 11 o'clock and ran into the morning, and these were the hours when subsequent interviews were held.

Primary Cause of Meetings.

MR. HANECY—Were these interviews friendly or unfriendly?

SENATOR LORIMER—I thought Gov. Deneen was trying to establish friendly relations with the men with whom I was associated in Illinois and I am sure that was my disposition.

MR. HANECY—And what were the subjects discussed generally?

SENATOR LORIMER—I am certain we never had an interview but that we discussed the waterway, and from the latter part of January or after the first voting for United States senator, then we were a little more—O, we were less careful about our language and we discussed what might be the result on the party organization of Cook county of the Supreme court decision declaring the primary election law unconstitutional. The governor wanted to have an understanding that we would stand together if the law was declared unconstitutional and see to it that we had fair primaries; in other words, that we should not return to the old soapbox system of electing delegates to the convention and then giving to the convention the power to throw out the minority without any redress.

MR. HANECY—Did Gov. Deneen say he wanted to work with you or to have you and your friends work with him and his friends to prevent any return to an unfair primary?

SENATOR LORIMER—Yes; we discussed that a great deal.

Says Deneen Sought Alliance.

MR. HANECY—What, if anything, did Gov. Deneen say to you as to the direction that his fears took on that respect?

SENATOR LORIMER—He was afraid, he said, that Mayor Busse and his friends, having control of the police force in Chicago, would treat him unfairly. He knew that if his friends and my friends cooperated we would have a majority of the convention, and we together could prevent any unfair treatment to any delegate in that convention and could enforce fair primaries.

SENATOR JONES—Did you agree with the governor on these propositions?

SENATOR LORIMER—I did.

MR. HANECY—Was there any difference of opinion or expression between you and Gov. Deneen as to the advisability or desirability of both cooperating to enforce fair primaries?

SENATOR LORIMER—No, there was not.

MR. HANECY—You were not making the charge or suggestion that Mayor Busse would use the police force to obtain or enforce an unfair primary?

SENATOR LORIMER—No.

MR. HANECY—Was the question of the influence of the saloon, when cooperating with the police force, on politics, discussed or referred to?

SENATOR LORIMER—I do not recall that it was.

Says Deneen Feared Busse.

MR. HANECY—Now, what did Gov. Deneen say to you in the interview which you say you had with him during the last week of January, 1909, about the governor or his administration not supporting Senator Hopkins for reelection?

SENATOR LORIMER—He said that if Hopkins was reelected whatever power and influence went with the office would go to Busse and Campbell and that element of the party in Cook county, and he complained again because the senator had not given him such assistance as he thought he could have, and he said it would be for the best interests of the party that he (Hopkins) should not be elected, and that he would not help him.

MR. HANECY—Was that the first time you knew definitely of the opposition of Gov. Deneen to the reelection of Senator Hopkins?

SENATOR LORIMER—Yes; that is, the first time that I can say I knew definitely that he was opposed to Senator Hopkins.

MR. HANECY—You believed he was going to defeat Senator Hopkins if he could?

SENATOR LORIMER—That was my opinion.

MR. HANECY—Now, how many times did you talk with Gov. Deneen after that with reference to Gov. Deneen's attitude to Senator Hopkins or his reelection?

SENATOR LORIMER—I think I talked with him every week from that time on until the last week, or the second last week of the session of the general assembly; some weeks one interview, some weeks more. I think the governor grew firmer in his determination that Senator Hopkins should not be returned as the time passed by.

Urged Deneen to Enter Race.

MR. HANECY—About when was it that you and Gov. Deneen first discussed the possibility or the probability of Gov. Deneen being a candidate for United States senator.

SENATOR LORIMER—At the interview when he told me positively that he would try to defeat Senator Hopkins, I then urged him to become a candidate. That was the latter part of January.

MR. HANECY—What did Gov. Deneen say to your suggestion in that respect?

SENATOR LORIMER—At the first interview he indicated, I thought, that he would like to think about the matter. He did not encourage it, though he did not repel it.

MR. HANECY—Was it in that interview or some other that a suggestion was made by you or Gov. Deneen that somebody else should enter into the talks with you in relation to Gov. Deneen's candidacy for United States senator?

SENATOR LORIMER—No; that was a good time later on. I had several interviews between the one we have just been talking about and the one you refer to, where Roy West met with me. When I urged the governor to take the place he said he did not see how he could; that the people of the state would not understand it; and suggested that we coöperate in putting the election over until after the 4th of March.

MR. HANECY—Why?

Says Deneen Urged Deadlock.

SENATOR LORIMER—He said after the 4th of March, after the seat was vacant, some people of the state would probably become insistent upon having a senator elected and that that would probably make a condition by which he could accept the place.

MR. HANECY—Was there any other objection expressed by Gov. Deneen in any way to his taking the office of senator or becoming a candidate for the office of United States senator, except the fact that he had been recently elected governor and that the people might misunderstand his position if he sought the United States senatorship so soon after his election as governor?

SENATOR LORIMER—He said his friends in the state, and especially those in Chicago, would not agree to it; the organization that he represented in the state, he said, would oppose it, and his newspaper friends in Chicago would not agree to it because the lieutenant governor was a man that they were not friendly to.

MR. HANECY—To whom did Gov. Deneen refer as his newspaper friends in Chicago?

SENATOR LORIMER—He always talked more about Frank B. Noyes than anybody else. But his reference was to the Daily News and THE TRIBUNE and the Record Herald.

Reasons Why Deneen Declined.

MR. HANECY—What, if anything, did Gov. Deneen say about his newspaper friends not wanting him to take the senatorship?

SENATOR LORIMER—The substance of what he said was that if he took the senatorship, Lieut. Gov. John E. Oglesby would become governor, and his [Deneen's] friends would lose the influence that goes with the governor's office. He also said he had been the champion of the direct primary or probably more responsible than any other man in the state for its being upon the statute books of the state, and it would not look well for him to go and take the senatorship after Hopkins had received a plurality of the votes of the state.

MR. HANECY—Was that the reason why Gov. Deneen wanted to prevent the election of Senator Hopkins or anybody else to that office until after the office became vacant by the lapse of time on the 4th of March?

SENATOR LORIMER—The reason he gave was that a sentiment might be created by reason of the vacancy that would then make it possible for him to take the place.

MR. HANECY—Was there ever any change in the expression given by Gov. Deneen of his opposition to the re-election of Senator Hopkins?

SENATOR LORIMER—No; not in any conference that I ever had with him.

Says Deneen Told Power.

MR. HANECY—Did Gov. Deneen talk with you about how he would or could prevent the election of Senator Hopkins to the United States senate?

SENATOR LORIMER—He said that they could prevent enough of his friends from voting for Hopkins to defeat him.

MR. HANECY—Did Gov. Deneen say anything to you about the senator from his home district, Mr. Lundberg, voting for Hopkins?

SENATOR LORIMER—Yes, he was having a conference with Senator Hopkins and his friends as frequently as twice or three times a week, and they were urging him to help elect Senator Hopkins; and he told them that he was doing all that he could, and he said it would not be consistent to make these statements if the men that he had influence with from his district voted against Hopkins. So Lundberg, I think, voted for Hopkins the second day.

Mr. Lorimer said there was a time when Gov. Deneen thought Mr. Hopkins might get a few votes that had not been supporting him and he asked the witness to speak to Speaker Shurtleff and suggest that he appoint a committee to visit the charitable institutions. All Hopkins men were to be members of this committee and as they would be away for a couple of weeks that much time would be gained. Mr. Lorimer carried this message to Speaker Shurtleff. The latter called the next day on the governor and the committee was appointed as the governor suggested.

Says Deneen Feared Inquiry.

Senator Fletcher asked Senator Lorimer if he discussed the organization of the house with Gov. Deneen. Mr. Lorimer replied that at the first interview the governor talked about the committee that probably would be appointed to investigate his election. The governor seemed to be fearful that a committee would be appointed to turn him out of office regardless of the testimony, and he felt that Speaker Shurtleff was so antagonistic to him he would do anything to destroy him.

SENATOR FLETCHER—Did he want to postpone any election of senator until after his contest was ended? Do you remember any expressions of that sort?

SENATOR LORIMER—No; he never said that. The only suggestion he ever made to me was that it be postponed until after the 4th of March, when there would be a vacancy and then to adjourn the legislature without electing a senator and that after that he might be able to take it. But that statement was made after the 4th of March.

MR. HANECY—And then, I suppose, he would call a special session of the legislature to elect a United States senator and he might accept the office?

Says Deneen Urged Candidacy.

SENATOR LORIMER—Yes. That is, he thought if the legislature adjourned without electing a senator, the people would be so insistent upon having a senator that he would have to call a session of the legislature; that he might then, on account of that sentiment, be able to take the office.

MR. HANECY—In any of the conversations that you had with Gov. Deneen did he ever suggest that you become a candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator Hopkins?

SENATOR LORIMER—O, he frequently made the suggestion that I could become a candidate and be elected; but, in my opinion, not seriously until we had exhausted all the candidates who were discussed for the election, after he had refused to become a candidate himself, which, I think, was after the 24th of March.

MR. HANECY—When was it that you suggested to Gov. Deneen, or he suggested to you, that Roy West be called in to represent the governor in the negotiations or the conferences between you and him as to Gov. Deneen's taking the United States senatorship?

SENATOR LORIMER—I think that was about the 15th of March. We had an interview one evening and the governor said it would be embarrassing for him to make the arrangement to become a candidate, and I suggested to him that he have Roy West, the chairman of the state central committee, come to Springfield the following week and I would discuss it with him; and West did come the following week, and I met him.

Testimony Given by Hines.

The discovery of a $1 item among Mr. Hines' Union League club bills, indicating that he had used a private room at the club May 27, 1909, the day he met Mr. Funk, was the cause of his being called to the stand today.

Mr. Hines used this private room for a conference with H. A. J. Upham of Milwaukee over a lumber deal with Senator Isaac Stephenson, according to the story the Chicago lumberman told when he took the stand before the committee today. Mr. Upham was present as a witness to corroborate the story.

Considerable amusement was caused by the diary of Mr. Upham, in which he carefully noted $1 for a meal, but made no note of the $1,000,000 deal.

Admits He Refreshed Memory.

Mr. Hines went on the stand early in today's hearing.

"Have you refreshed your memory since you were on the stand as to the purpose for which you used that room?" asked Attorney John H. Marble.

"Yes, sir," replied Mr. Hines. "On May 26 I telephoned Mr. Upham from the Union League club that Senator Stephenson, whom I had just left in Washington, wanted me to inquire when he was going to Washington and ask him to stop off in Chicago and meet me. The next day I met him at the club and as we wanted to talk over the purchase of the cut of the Ludington Lumber company, a big deal, about $900,000, I suggested we get a private room."

In answer to questions from Senator Kern Mr. Hines said the meeting with Mr. Upham was at about 3 p. m. The one previously testified to with Fred H. Carney Jr. of Marinette, Wis., when Clarence S. Funk came along, was about 1 p. m.

"Is the parlor of the club more crowded at 1 o'clock than at 3 p. m.?" asked Mr. Marble.

"It usually is," replied Mr. Hines.

Mr. Hines said the $1 charge for the room did not indicate when or how long he had reserved it, except that it was not for an

SENATOR KERN—I can't understand how a man can investigate for weeks, as you have done, to find where you were between 1 and 2 o'clock and not, incidentally, find where you were between 3 and 4 o'clock when at 3 and 4 o'clock you were negotiating a million dollar contract.

MR. HINES—That is not impossible. I didn't have any recollection of it.

SENATOR KERN—You stated particularly that you did go upstairs in the club today?

MR. HINES—Yes, with Mr. Baker to the Hall, but I did not recall going upstairs.

MR. MARBLE—You testified you could recall everything for the week. Did you recall the Upham meeting?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

SENATOR KERN—You had no recollection at all about this $1,000,000 transaction when you testified before?

MR. HINES—No, sir.

Questioned on Funk Money.

Another tack came in the questions with an interchange of telegrams between Mr. Hines and Mr. Funk in November, 1908, was taken up. The first from Mr. Hines to Mr. Funk at the Manhattan hotel in New York asks him to join with forty other business houses in indorsing William J. Mayer for congress, as "very strong interests are behind him."

"Unwise for us to sign; several reasons will explain to you. Home Thursday morning," was Mr. Funk's reply Nov. 17.

Until the Helm investigation, Mr. Hines said, his business relations were "continuously, uninterruptedly cordial" with the harvester company and that they continued so with Harold F. McCormick.

SENATOR KERN—Were you a party to the employment of detectives to follow Mr. Funk in Washington?

MR. HINES—We employed detectives.

LUMBER MEN SUPPORT HINES.

Edward Hines, the Chicago lumberman accused by Clarence S. Funk of corruption in the election of Senator William Lorimer, received a vote of confidence and sympathy from the board of governors of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association at a formal session of that body held at the La Salle hotel yesterday. The vote in favor of Mr. Hines was unanimous, a copy of the resolutions being wired to Mr. Hines, who is testifying in the Lorimer case in Washington. The resolutions are as follows:

"Whereas, at the time the ninth annual meeting of the National Manufacturers' association was held in Chicago, May 20, 1909, Mr. Edward Hines, then president of the association, was under accusation charging him with dishonorable acts in connection with the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate; and,

"Whereas, Mr. Hines declared that when given opportunity he would be able to prove his innocence of the charges made against him; and,

"Whereas, a committee of the United States senate has been conducting a most searching investigation into Mr. Lorimer's election; and,

"Whereas, a careful examination of all of the evidence presented shows that not one of the charges against Edward Hines has been proved, and entirely satisfies us that Mr. Hines is guiltless of any of the dishonorable acts which it is alleged that he committed.

"Be it therefore, Resolved, that we extend to Mr. Hines our congratulations at having so completely verified the statements made to us at the time of the said last annual meeting;

"And further, that we extend to Mr. Hines our sympathies for the trying ordeal to which he has been subjected in consequence of said unfounded and unjust charges."

Architects Take Examination.

Nine persons began an examination before the civil service commission yesterday for architectural engineer. The examination is under direction of Henry Gaskell on the tenth floor of the city hall.

DENEEN ATTACKS LAWMAKING PLAN

Change System or Legislature Never Will Be Honest, He Tells the City Club.

RUSH WORK AT FINISH.

Points to Wholesale Slaughter of Bills at End of Session as Great Evil.

Gov. Deneen attacked the state legislature's system of transacting business in a speech at the City club last night. He declared Illinois never would have an honest legislature until its rules are revised.

The governor recited the difficulties encountered in efforts to get legislation through the state law making body. He told how bills are killed in the last days of a session and asserted the rules which make such a practice possible do not exist for a good purpose.

It was at the end of a speech explaining the accomplishments of his administration that the governor launched into an attack on the legislature's rules. Another speaker of the evening was Gov. Francis E. McGovern of Wisconsin. He came to Chicago to exhibit the work of the legislature of that state.

Compared with Wisconsin.

Gov. Deneen spoke first, and he wasted no time in starting a recital of the work of the Illinois legislature. At every opportunity he compared the legislation of Illinois with that of Wisconsin.

"Every time they do a good thing in Wisconsin it is hailed from one end of the country to the other," said Gov. Deneen. "Maybe the reason Illinois legislation is not so well known is because it takes so much effort to get laws passed in this state that by the time it is accomplished we are all exhausted and can't advertise what we have done.

"Do you know what is the trouble with the legislature of Illinois? It is the rules they make. They have good men, but their rules do not make good legislation. The legislature wastes six or eight weeks before committees are appointed. Bills are referred to committees to be acted upon either favorably or unfavorably.

Says Change System.

"In every case the legislature lags until the last days before doing any real work. Emergency bills and appropriation bills which must be passed are put through early and then at the last minute everything is put in the hopper. The time for adjournment is fixed before any bills are passed.

"The great struggle in this state is not to have a bill passed, but to have it considered. It takes 102 votes to consider a bill out of its regular order and only 77 votes to pass it. Great wrongs are committed in preventing bills from being considered. Until we change these infamous rules we can't have an honest legislature, let alone good government."

McGovern Tells of Own State.

Gov. McGovern detailed the work accomplished by the last Wisconsin legislature.

"When will this progressive movement end?" he asked in closing. "When will this restless activity, demanding more and ever more legislation and governmental interference—when will it cease? No one knows. Let us hope there will be no end, no relaxation until their ultimate, fundamental objects have been attained.

"What are these objects? They may be expressed in two homely words—freedom and more freedom in government, justice in industry. Freedom not merely from the tyranny of kings and potentates, but from the oppression of bosses, merchant princes, and political machines; justice not only in courts and legislative halls, but also upon the stock exchange and board of trade, in factories and mines, out upon the farm, and in every institution that touches the daily life of the American people."

Celebrate "Government Night."

Last night was government night at the club. Members of the city council, the state legislature, and county officials were present. Corporation Counsel Sexton and Ald. John Richert and Theodore K. Long also spoke.

Tonight will be "education night." Following a dinner at 6 o'clock, speeches will be made by Charles McCarthy of the legislative reference department of Madison, Wis.; Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of Chicago's schools; the Rev. Thomas V. Moore, and Henry E. Legler, librarian of the city's public library.

160 ACRES FOR AUSTIN PARK; BOARD WILL BUY PROPERTY.

Commissioners Authorize Payment of $425,000 to Catholic Bishop for New Playground.

Negotiations for the purchase of 160 acres of land in Austin for the creation of a park and playground were authorized by the west park commissioners at their meeting yesterday.

Representatives of the board were instructed to offer to Archbishop James E. Quigley, representing the Roman Catholic church, $425,000 for the property. It was said at $400,000, but the valuation of the Chicago Real Estate board was $450,000. If the offer of the commissioners is not accepted, condemnation proceedings may be begun to acquire title. The property is bounded by Lake street, the Metropolitan elevated, Central Austin and Central avenues.

President William Kolacek, Secretary Georg A. Mugler, Treasurer B. A. Eckhart, and Auditor W. E. Eggert were reelected for the year. Mr. Kolacek reported that the cash balance on hand was $503,000 or $115,000 more than a year ago.

MISS HOGAN REBUFFS SISTER.

Arguments to Persuade Girl to Testify Against Physician All Fail.

All the arguments of a sister failed yesterday to break the silence of Miss Hazel Hogan, held in the county jail because of her refusal to testify against Dr. Irvine Risinger and the man she accused of robbing her of $1,750 in July. Mrs. James Cushing, the sister, returned to Coal City, Ill., last evening convinced that argument was useless.

"LONELIES" JOINED IN CLUB

One Hundred Gather at Church Dance and Make Friends.

GIRL RELATES HER STORY.

Has First Good Time of Nine Months in Chicago.

One hundred men and women, who have been living on one hundred "Lonely Isles" in busy, teeming Chicago, found out last night that Chicago isn't as lonely as they had thought.

A plan was suggested by many letters written to Laura Jean Libbey and published in THE TRIBUNE from persons who found themselves isolated in the midst of millions. The Rev. John M. McGann of Trinity Episcopal church last night held the first meeting of his "Lonely club."

When a hundred arrived at the parish house, Twenty-sixth street and Michigan avenue, they found in the ballroom fifty or more women of the church, headed by Mrs. T. Vernette Morse, ready to greet them and an orchestra ready to start dance music when the club was formally organized.

Pastor Believes in Dancing.

"I believe in every one getting acquainted," said the Rev. Mr. McGann. "No one should be lonely. Come to the parish house and make it your clubhouse. You who have written to THE TRIBUNE saying that you couldn't find friends will find them here. There will be no churchly restrictions or atmosphere to hinder good fellowship. I believe in dancing.

"Once I refused an endowment for a church because the man who offered it objected because I allowed dancing in my church. I told him to keep his money, and we kept on dancing. Every Tuesday the parish house will be open and the club will hold its meetings."

Frances Squire Potter told the audience of similar work in England and then the dancing began. Every one was introduced to every one else by some one who knew neither. Informality and "good fellowship" prevailed.

Lonely Girl Made Happy.

"This is the first time I have enjoyed myself since I came to Chicago nine months ago," said one young woman as she ended a dance. "I am a stenographer. At my boarding house I can't make friends. So night after night I have just looked at the four walls and taken my only amusement in a good cry. I wrote to THE TRIBUNE. I said I was lonely. Then I read of this club going to be formed. And here I am."

"My case exactly, Miss Agnes," returned her dancing partner. "I got tired of being by myself, and I didn't have the money for theaters, and I don't drink, so saloons don't interest me. May I have this next dance also?"

Before the evening was over the 100 lonely ones had been joined by nearly 200 parishioners, who took part in the dance and assisted in introducing every one.

Among those who assisted the Rev. Mr. McGann and Mrs. Morse in receiving were Mrs. John O'Connor, Mrs. W. Scott Thurber, Mrs. J. H. Williard, Mrs. J. J. Boreland, Mrs. Freeman Brown, and Mrs. McGann.

POLICE BELIEVE "SUN" CULT HIDES LINDSAY BOY IN CITY.

Watch Homes of Mazdaznan Followers—Give Up Outside Search—Fear Lad May Be Ill.

The search for Mrs. Elizabeth H. Lindsay and her son, Billy Lindsay, has practically been abandoned outside of Chicago. Detectives who have been working on the case are now of the opinion that the woman and her boy are hiding in Chicago. The Mazdaznan temple at 3016 South Park avenue and the homes of members of the cult are being watched.

There is considerable speculation as to whether the Lindsay boy is dead or alive. Since he and his mother came under the spell of the Mazdaznan cult and its leader, Ottoman Zar-Adusht Hanish, the lad has not been in the best of health. He is said to have been nearly famished on a diet prescribed for him by cult members at the time he was rescued from them by private detectives acting for his father's relatives on Dec. 16.

Lewellyn B. Reakirt of Cincinnati, uncle of Billy Lindsay, who feared that his own son, Robert, had also fallen into the hands of the Mazdaznan members, returned to his home yesterday after convincing himself that his son is living with his divorced wife.

WOMAN BARTZEN ACCUSED FILES A SUIT FOR SLANDER.

President of the County Board Gets Into More Trouble as Result of "Detective Work" at Detention Hospital.

Miss Alice Landgren will file a suit for slander today against Peter Bartzen, president of the county board. The basis for the suit will be an interview credited to Bartzen about Aug. 16 last in which he charged that Miss Landgren had "short changed" a woman detective whom the president of the county board had sent to the hospital.

"Bartzen knew that charge was false and was too much of a coward to put it in writing," said Vincent D. Wyman, attorney for Miss Landgren.

Baby Abandoned in Hallway.

A week old boy, abandoned by his mother, was found last night in a hallway at 4030 West Madison street by Mrs. Elizabeth Simons, 3040 West Madison street. The police took the infant to St. Vincent's orphan asylum.

'CONFESSES' CRIME FOR TRIP

Prisoner Tells of Murders to Get to Panama Free.

HE TRIES TO DODGE TEXAS.

Wanted There, He Seeks to Be Transported Elsewhere.

Calmly admitting he was one the most expert safe blowers in the country and was responsible for robberies of banks at Panama City and New Westminster, B. C., that netted $469,000, Frank Holloway, boasted of half a dozen aliases, said he had killed two men at least, and asked the police to send him to trial. He said he was willing to go to Canada, but preferred to go to Panama—although he killed a man there—because the weather was warmer.

Holloway's reputation as an expert burglar was established at the identification bureau, but his title of "king of bank robbers" was taken away when Pinkerton and Burns operatives declared he had nothing to do with either large robbery, and was merely seeking a free trip to get away from Texas officials who wanted him.

Jumped Bonds in Texas.

The sheriff at Harroll, Tex., wired that the man was wanted for jumping bonds of $2,600 while waiting trial on charges of robbery. A detective started from Texas last night to get Holloway.

Holloway was arrested with several others suspected of being pickpockets and nearly floored Inspector Hunt by his recital when asked what he had been doing lately.

Questioned by Pinkerton Man.

Inspector Hunt, surprised as he was, questioned him closely and finding that he repeated his story without a change, notified the Pinkerton Detective agency, which has been seeking the Westminster robbers for months. Operative Weiss talked with Holloway for an hour, and then told the police his confession had been "faked."

"He has a long record all right, and used to be known as a clever crook," said Weiss, "but he never had anything to do with the big jobs he mentioned. He wants to keep out of Texas and thought the police would believe his story and send him to Canada, and when he proved an alibi he would be released."

Word was received from Seattle that Holloway had "confessed" the New Westminster robbery there last October. Tulsa, Okla, authorities say Holloway killed a man there but plead self-defense.

WATCHMAN GIVES CLEW IN BACH-VALENTINE CASE.

Jacob Wietershein Says He Talked with Missing Couple on the Morning They Disappeared.

Jacob Wietershein, night watchman at the Bach brickyard, 2647 West Montrose avenue, yesterday told Lieut. Martin J. O'Malley of the Summerdale police station that he saw and talked to Miss Millie Valentine and Adolph Bach in the office of the brick company fifteen minutes after midnight on the morning they are supposed to have been drowned.

Miss Valentine and Bach both seemed in good spirits, said the watchman. Bach was especially talkative. Miss Valentine complained of feeling sleepy. Neither gave any explanation for being in the office at that time of night, and Wietershein asked no questions.

They sat down and while Miss Valentine settled to sleep on Bach's arm he talked to the watchman. Bach carried a bottle of whisky, from which he drank from time to time. It was 4 o'clock when the watchman rose to make his rounds. When he returned the office was empty.

GIRLS TOO PLUMP FOR GOWNS

Lack of Models Almost Makes Dressmakers' Display Failure.

I. C. SMOKE SETS STYLE.

Newest Hue in Materials Copied After Exhalations of Engines.

The exposition of styles in women's gowns set for yesterday at the Congress hotel by the Ladies' Tailors and Dressmakers' association of America was made almost a failure by the plumpness of Chicago young women who were "loaned" as models. Six fascinating "try on ladies" from State street department stores appeared. Each dismayed the visiting tailors.

"Ach, how can I put my gown on such a woman?" inquired Robert Pluym of Washington, spreading his hands eloquently. "She is too—what you say?—wide."

A second of the six was lead into the dressing room. She was undeniably pretty, also undeniably plump.

Shoe Model Won't Do.

"Is it not so?" demanded the astute Mr. Pluym of the model, "you are a shoe model? You have a pretty face and a charming foot, but, my dear young lady, these designs are for slim women." He held one of the gowns up. "See," he said, "you couldn't wiggle into this."

Then the other four were brought forward. None of them would fill the bill. It was too apparent to Mr. Pluym's educated eye that they would too completely fill the gowns.

"The fashionable figure is the stove pipe," Mr. Pluym explained. "We are to have another season of tight skirts. The gowns that we brought with us have all been fitted to slender young women. We can't use these girls."

The half dozen models were sent back to the department stores. When it was found impossible to obtain others from the theaters on such short notice, a woman tailor consented to wear the gowns.

Illinois Central Smoke in Style.

A gown of wool toweling by S. Reichman, president of the Chicago Women's Tailors' association, attracted much notice. Its color was described as "Chicago smoke," the newest of hues, and greater popularity is predicted for it than last year's "London smoke." "Chicago smoke" is a light drab—the kind dispensed by the Illinois Central railroad.

Buttons on the gown were of glass. A specialty in its making is that the tambru stitch was used, a new idea in women's clothes. In the tambru stitch rough silk is woven in the trimmings so that it stands out prominently.

At the election of officers of the association yesterday the results were: Robert Pluym of Washington, president; D. Mikol of Boston, first vice president; H. C. Du Fine of Chicago, second vice president; J. Goldsmith of Syracuse, N. Y., third vice president; Pa. Adolphe of New York.

WINS CHILDREN "LOST" 15 YEARS

Mother Becomes Parent in Fact of Offspring She Claims She Lost by Fraud.

SON HELPS IN FIGHT.

Spirits Sister Away from Iowa Hotelkeeper Who Had Adopted Her.

After a period of fifteen years filled with heartaches Mrs. Matilda Olson-Durant of 56 East Chicago avenue became the legal mother, as well as mother-in-fact, of her two children, Joseph and Verbena, aged 18 and 15 respectively. Also, for the first time in her life, Mrs. Olson-Durant was arrested. But she said that the recovery of her children was well worth that humiliation.

The history of Mrs. Durant and her children is a bit complicated. To properly identify the children it might be well to explain that their real name is Olson, that being the name of their father. Their legal name till yesterday was Peterson. Last night they said their name was Durant.

Hotel Man Adopts Children.

Mrs. Durant claims that fifteen years ago, when her first husband died, her children were adopted by Carl Peterson, a hotel keeper of Marshalltown, Ia. She claims she signed away her children under duress and that since then she has been trying to recover legal possession of them.

Over a year ago Joseph Olson-Peterson, and now Durant, left Marshalltown and joined his mother in Chicago. This he did with the consent of his foster father. Three weeks ago he went to Marshalltown and secretly brought back his sister. Peterson, the hotel man, arrived in Chicago Monday to take her back.

Mrs. Durant appealed to Chief Probation Officer Lynch, whose investigators reported to him that the woman was well fit to care for her children and bring them up. To obtain temporary jurisdiction over the case County Judge Owens issued an order compelling her to support the children.

Has the Mother Arrested.

Peterson in turn appealed to the federal authorities, accused Mrs. Durant of having spirited away her own daughter from Marshalltown to Chicago for immoral purposes, and had her arrested under the Mann white slave act. She was arraigned before United States Commissioner Foote and was allowed to sign her own bond.

In Commissioner Foote's office Peterson's advances toward the girl whom he had raised as a daughter from infancy were unheeded. She hid behind her mother. This morning he will appeal to the County court for her possession under the contract signed in Iowa fifteen years ago by her mother.

FIND TEN HOUR LAW COSTLY

Hotels Pay $50,000 Extra Monthly; Stores $15,000 Daily.

DAVIES GIVES STATISTICS.

Says $18,000 Fines Have Been Collected in Protecting Women.

As a result of the enforcement of the ten hour law for women in Illinois, Edgar T. Davies, chief factory inspector, issued statistics yesterday showing that the law had cost hotel men not less than $50,000 a month and that State street stores had obeyed the law at a loss of $15,000 a day during the holiday season, being compelled to employ 10,000 additional persons.

Although the ten hour law was passed in 1907, when only laundry women and a few other trades were affected, the law covering all industries for women has been enforced only since July of last year. Since then $18,000 has been collected in fines, and out of 23,000 inspections made there have been sixty convictions.

Davies said the proportion looked small, but that he had studied official reports of other states which boasted their protective laws for women and that the convictions in other states since the inception of their laws do not equal those made in Illinois in a week.

As thirty factory inspectors are needed to make investigations to enforce the ten hour law, Davies is now urging all skilled mechanics to enter for the state's examinations. The men will be examined on mechanics, machinery transmissions, hygiene, living standards, fire inspection, the child labor law, and the building law.

As the state is trying to save woman in her work from fatigue, it is not consistent that she should enter industries which require the lifting of heavy articles, says Davies. Within a year there has been an increase of 20 per cent of women entering such industries and receiving from $3 to $10 a week for their services, he says.

HEIRS OF MRS. YERKES LOSE.

Philadelphia Court Decides They Are Not Entitled to Her Dower Rights in Husband's Estate.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—While deciding that the late Mrs. Adelaide Yerkes was entitled to dower rights in the estate of her husband, Charles T. Yerkes, millionaire street railway promoter and builder of the London tube system, Common Please court No. 5 ruled today that her heirs are not entitled to her share of the money. This decision was reached in the suit brought by Mrs. Yerkes for dower rights in real estate in Morris street, which her husband's executors failed to adjust. She petitioned the court to order a sale of the property.

BALTIMORE GETS BIG CONVENTION

Democrats Won to Eastern City by Offer of $100,000 and Free Hall.

WILSON GAINS IN FAVOR.

New Jersey Man Goes to Front Despite Fact Others Rule Machinery.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—With Woodrow Wilson stock taking a slightly upward tendency, but with the old guard in control of the convention machinery, the Democratic national committee continued its session here today.

The national convention of the party will meet in Baltimore on June 25, one week after the assembling of the Republican national convention in Chicago.

Baltimore won the convention by turning over a certified check for $100,000 and a written promise to provide a convention hall and decorations free.

Chicago was beaten by a combination of commercial and political considerations. It offered to pay all convention expenses on a liberal basis and give the committee a bonus of $50,000, but Baltimore's offer was considered about $25,000 better than this, besides being all cash with no strings to it.

Party Split Hurts Chicago.

But the principal obstacle to the success of Chicago was the fact that Committeeman Roger Sullivan and other conservative leaders were not enthusiastic over the prospect of nominating a presidential candidate in that city, because there would be too much Hearst and Harrison influence there, according to admissions made by the friends of Sullivan, though the Illinois committeeman indignantly denied the insinuations.

But on the first ballot Chicago mustered only seven votes, while Baltimore received twenty-five and St. Louis nineteen.

Asked why Chicago was defeated, Committeeman Sullivan pondered the question a moment and then replied:

"Well, you know, Senator Rayner of Maryland made an extremely pathetic plea for Baltimore."

In private, bitter charges were made by members of the Chicago delegation that Sullivan secretly had opposed Chicago. They quoted committeemen to the effect that they would have voted for Chicago to please Sullivan, but that the Illinois man never asked their votes.

Baltimore Pleases Both Sides.

The old guard gets most of the satisfaction out of the proceedings of the committee and the arrangements for the convention. It is bossing the job, and has demonstrated its ability to run the steam roller over the progressives.

The regulars think Wilson will not fare so well in a convention in Baltimore, in the heart of the conservative east, as he would in a western convention. But the Wilson men like the Baltimore location, for it will be close to their home territory.

The Bryan-Wilson progressives also are claiming a victory in the committee's adoption of a resolution opening the way to direct presidential preference primaries. It recognizes the presidential primaries in all states where provided by law, and authorizes state committees in other states to provide for informal direct primaries. It is a broader and more progressive provision for the election of delegates than that adopted by the Republican national committee.

It was the result of a compromise effected before the committee met today, and Bryan was satisfied it was the most he could hope to obtain. He therefore did not attend the meeting, but left the city during the forenoon.

Text of Primary Resolution.

The resolution adopted was a modification of one proposed by Senator Chamberlain of Oregon. It was framed by a subcommittee, headed by Clark Howell of Georgia, and was as follows:

"That in the choice of delegates and alternates to the national Democratic convention of 1912 the Democratic state or territorial committee may, if not otherwise directed by law of such states or territories, provide for the direct election of such delegates or alternates if in the opinion of the respective committees it is deemed desirable and possible to do so with proper and sufficient safeguards.

"Where such provision is not made by the respective committees for the choice of delegates and alternates and where the state laws do not provide specifically the manner of such choice, then the delegates and alternates to the said national convention shall be chosen in the manner that governed the choice of delegates from the respective states and territories to the last national Democratic convention."

Hall May Seat 20,000.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 9.—The Democratic national convention of 1912 will be held in the Fifth regiment armory, Baltimore's largest auditorium.

The armory is an imposing structure of granite surmounted by a vaulted roof which rises 106 feet above the main floor. Having an area of 200x300 feet, the main, or drill hall, will seat comfortably more than 12,000 persons, allowing ample space for promenaders, aisles, etc. There are two balconies, and if necessary, by the erection of raised platforms at either end of the building, the seating capacity can be increased to more than 20,000 persons.

Experts say the acoustic properties can be made almost perfect for a hall of its size.

Income Tax Law Held Valid.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin supreme court by unanimous opinion today held the new graduated income tax law constitutional. The court says the income tax law does not violate the provision of the state constitution requiring uniformity of taxation, because incomes are not property and can be taxed as the legislature may direct.

Under the Oregon law parts of the delegates' expenses is paid by the state. The state law, adopted by the initiative last November, provides that national convention delegates shall obey the voice of the voters as expressed by the presidential primary.

CALIFORNIA.

Sentiment in Golden State Practically Unanimous for Putting Roosevelt on Ballot.

Must Go On in Justice to People.

Redlands, Cal., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—The name of Roosevelt must go on the primary ballot if the people are to have an opportunity to express their preference for president. There is no doubt that in this section Roosevelt would receive more votes than Taft and La Follette combined, therefore, to leave his name off the ballot would be to make a farce of the primary proceedings. Voters should be given an opportunity to cast their ballots for their first choice, not for their second.

LYMAN M. KING, Editor Facts.

Result Would Force Nomination.

Santa Ana, Cal., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—By all means, yes. The result would be so overwhelmingly for Roosevelt as to force his nomination and acceptance.

J. P. BAUMGARTNER, Register.

People Should Have Privilege.

Red Bluff, Cal., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—I believe the people should have the absolute privilege of expressing their choice, whether for Roosevelt, La Follette, Taft, or Beveridge

D. D. DODSON, Editor Sentinel.

"By All Means Put Him On."

San Luis Obispo, Cal., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—By all means place Roosevelt on the ballot in the direct primary. TRIBUNE.

Thinks It Good Idea.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—It is a good idea. California's presidential primary law permits names on such tickets when petitioned for by 1 per cent of voters, but any man can keep his name off the ballot by filing a declaration thirty-five days before May 14 next that he does not want his name thereon.

CHARLES K. MCCLATCHY, editor Bee.

Without Question Should Go On.

Redding, Cal., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—Without question Roosevelt's name should be on the primary ballots as well as Taft's and La Follette's. What are the primaries for if not for Republicans to be given a chance to express their presidential preferences?

COURIER FREE PRESS.

No Reason Why It Should Not?

Woodland, Cal., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—While Taft is the logical candidate for president there is no good reason why the name of Roosevelt or any other good American should not appear on the primary ballots.

Sentiment for Him Strong.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—If Col. Roosevelt will permit his name to be used as a candidate for the presidency there will be no question but that the Republican sentiment of California will overwhelmingly demand that his name go on the primary ballot. EDITOR ENQUIRER.

People Should Have Chance.

Bridgeport, Cal., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—The people should have an opportunity to express their choice for president at the primaries.

CHRONICLE UNION.

KANSAS.

Democratic County That Roosevelt Carried by 715 Wants Name on Ballot.

Undoubtedly Should Go On.

Great Bend, Kas., Jan. 9.—(Special.)—Considering the fact that Roosevelt is the most talked of man in the country today in connection with the Republican nomination for president his name should undoubtedly go on the ballot. This (Barton) county is normally Democratic by 500, but Roosevelt carried it in 1904 by 715 plurality. THE ITEM-TRIBUNE.

By All Means Should Go On.

Winfield, Kas., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—Roosevelt's name should by all means go on the primary ballots. He is the only Republican who can carry Kansas. With Roosevelt heading the ticket Kansas will return a solid Republican delegation to congress.

EDITOR COURIER.

Looks Forward to 1916.

Manhattan, Kas., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—Am opposed to putting Roosevelt's name on the ballots without his consent. In the absence of the definite candidacy of Roosevelt, Republicans should renominate one who has been safe and sane and yet a progressive president. I believe Roosevelt's chance in 1916 would be enhanced if he refused to interfere this year with his friend Taft and no impending calamity exists to justify the effort to force Roosevelt to come out.

NATIONALIST.

Favors Taft's Renomination.

Cherryvale, Kas., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—Personally I should oppose placing Roosevelt's name on the presidential ballot in Kansas should a primary be held. This is not a one man country. I favor the renomination and reelection of President Taft.

H. J. POWELL, Editor Republican.

NEW JERSEY.

Editor Would Put Everything on Ballot "to Check Asinine Legislation."

Sees Taft Sentiment in New Jersey.

Bayonne, N. J., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—We do not observe any unusual Roosevelt sentiment and do not favor placing his name on the primary ballots, which would result in agitation and consequently unrest, from which the country has suffered sufficiently. There is a decided Taft sentiment in New Jersey. TIMES.

Wants Everything on Ballot.

Burlington, N. J., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—We know of no better way to check and repeal asinine legislation favoring direct primaries, the initiative, the referendum, and the recall than to put on the ballots every name and every subject that anybody would like to submit to a suffering public.

ENTERPRISE.

NEBRASKA.

Think Name Ought to Go On Ballot; Voters Should Have Unrestricted Opportunity.

For Him if a Candidate.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—Do not believe the plan feasible unless Roosevelt signifies in advance that he will accept the nomination. His name on the ballot in Nebraska would be ignored, for the reason that it is not believed here he will consent to become a candidate. The result would be that more Republicans would vote for either Taft or La Follette. If he were a bona fide candidate Nebraska would vote overwhelmingly for Roosevelt.

H. T. DOBBINS, Editor Journal.

First Love Idea Pervades Parties.

[Peoria Herald-Transcript (Rep.).]

Out in Nebraska the enthusiasm of the voters of both parties is breaking out in its natural and unrestrained fashion. They have a presidential preference primary out there and the common voter will enjoy the unusual sensation of expressing his preference for presidential candidates in person, instead of sitting at home and swearing while a machine appointed delegate misrepresents him in a convention.

As a result the names of Theodore Roosevelt, Republican, and William Jennings Bryan, Democrat, are already filed with the secretary of state for publication on the primary ballot.

The Nebraska filings are in the nature of a confession that must be good for the soul. In spite of everything, the first love idea still pervades both parties, and if the truth were told it would doubtless appear that Roosevelt is still the idol of the vast majority of Republicans, and Bryan of the vast majority of Democrats.

INDORSE CLINNIN FOR RECORDER

Attorneys in Circular Letter Urge Chief Deputy for County Office to "Continue Its Efficiency."

Copies of a letter signed by more than a score of prominent attorneys indorsing the candidacy of John V. Clinnin for recorder of deeds were put in the mail yesterday. Mr. Clinnin now is chief deputy recorder and his election was urged in the letter as the best assurance of "a continuation of the efficiency" shown under the administration of Abel Davis, retiring recorder.

"Mr. Clinnin has faithfully assisted in the reforms of this office," read one paragraph, "making it an object lesson for other public offices and a standard of good public service."

Among the signers were John S. Miller, Levy Mayer, George T. Buckingham, E. M. Ashcraft, Simon Strauss, W. W. Gurley, Howard W. Hayes, Rush C. Butler, Jacob Newman, E. C. Kohlsaat, and A. J. Pfaum.

QUAKER CITY MEN WANT ROOSEVELT

Leading Citizens Out Openly Working in Behalf of Ex-President.

WANT TO WIN, THEY SAY.

Philadelphians in Interviews Tell Why Colonel Should Be Candidate.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—Despite the failure of Theodore Roosevelt to announce that he is a candidate to succeed President Taft in the White House, his Philadelphia followers are working day and night to line up a solid Roosevelt front among the city's manufacturers and business men.

The campaign is being conducted quietly but effectively under the leadership of Nathan T. Folwell, president of the Manufacturers' club. In cases where the business men show a distinct leaning the Roosevelt way, the interviews are given to the newspapers. The list is growing larger each day. Today several more Roosevelt interviews were spread broadcast.

William R. Nicholson, president of the Land Title and Trust company said:

"I am for Roosevelt. I do not believe the people have any confidence in Taft, while they have great confidence in Roosevelt."

"Roosevelt Would Sweep Country."

John Burt, president of the Southwark mills and one of the leading members of the Manufacturers' club, said:

"The nomination of Mr. Taft would make a losing fight for the Republican party, while Roosevelt would sweep the country. Taft is neither a progressive nor a standpatter. He seems to be bound round with red tape and system.

"The American people want a positive man for president. Gov. Wilson, while he is able, would not be a success as president. The people with whom I come into contact want Roosevelt, and if nominated his election will be without a doubt."

Charles L. Fluck, the leading business man of the northwestern section of the city, is endeavoring to line up his bailiwick for Roosevelt. Mr. Fluck said:

"The Republicans are disappointed with the Taft administration. They want a strong man. There is but one person to succeed Taft. That is Roosevelt. He should be given an opportunity to finish the great work which he preached and inaugurated."

"Want Man We Can Elect."

Nathan T. Folwell, the leader of the Roosevelt movement and the opponent of Taft, owing to Taft's stand on schedule K, says:

"We believe Roosevelt is the man who will build the nation up as he did in the years he occupied the presidential chair. Theodore Roosevelt is a citizen of ripe experience, a forceful personality, and has the ability to harmonize conflicting interests. Roosevelt would carry the country to safety and would insure the success of the Republican party.

"Col. Roosevelt would carry the Republican party to victory and would harmonize the party in all parts of the country."

Roosevelt for Square Deal.

Robert Dornan, one of the largest carpet manufacturers in the city, said:

"We cannot hope to elect Taft. Roosevelt may appear to be a radical at times, but he is for the square deal and the business men of this city are with him. They will get out and work for him and they will work against Taft."

John H. Nugent, president of the Republican League of Ward Workers, and heretofore allied with the Taft administration, declares he is out in the open for Roosevelt and that he will use the influence of his political position to assist in nominating Roosevelt.

Sheriff Hatch of Camden has charge of the Roosevelt boom in southern New Jersey. He is organizing a business men's committee and will endeavor to line up the Jersey delegation for the editor.

Roosevelt Leads Indiana Vote.

Gary, Ind., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—At a straw vote in Lake county, Ind., the Lake County Times of Hammond gives the following results:

Taft	281	Beveridge	417
Roosevelt	923	La Follette	386

In Gary, the steel city, the vote was reported as 3 to 1 in favor of Roosevelt.

Roosevelt Guest at Dinner.

New York, Jan. 9.—Former President Roosevelt was a guest and speaker tonight at a dinner given by the Aldine club to him and to Lyman Abbott.

HARMON TO OPEN FIGHT HERE

Speaks at Luncheon Tomorrow; at East St. Louis Friday.

MOVE BY DENEEN EXPECTED

Governor Will Meet Chicago Leaders; Announcement This Week?

Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio initiates his campaign for the Democratic nomination for president tomorrow in Chicago. From Chicag he will go to East St. Louis, where he will speak on Friday night at a roundup of Harmon Democrats from the six congressional districts south of Springfield.

Original announcement was that Mr. Harmon was to come as social guest of the Iroquois club. But immediately following action of the Democratic national committee at Washington in placing the national convention at Baltimore, on June 25, word went forth that tomorrow's speech begins an active effort to swing the fifty-eight convention votes of Illinois to Harmon.

300 Accept Club Invitations.

The Ohio governor's Chicago speech will be made at a luncheon of the Iroquois club at Hotel La Salle at 12:30 o'clock. For the luncheon 300 acceptances have been received.

Open house will be kept all day in a hotel parlor at which Chicago Democrats will have an opportunity of meeting Ohio's executive.

Word from Deneen This Week.

Gov. Deneen came from Springfield in the morning and spent the day in seclusion at Union League club, preparing the address which he made at night before the City club. He intimated he would be in Chicago today and tomorrow and that there will be conferences of importance.

The day's developments inside the Republican ranks, indicated there will be a definite statement from the governor this week and that his campaign is likely to start early next week.

NEW CONGRESSMAN A DEMOCRAT

George A. Neeley Elected in Kansas to Succeed the Late Edmond H. Madison, Republican.

Hutchinson, Kas., Jan. 9.—George A. Neeley, Democrat, was today elected to congress from the Seventh Kansas district, to succeed the late Representative Edmond H. Madison, Republican. John M. Kinkle, chairman of the Republican district committee, at 10 o'clock tonight conceded the election of Neeley by 1,200 to 1,500 votes.

Representative Madison was elected in 1910 over Mr. Neeley by 5,000 votes.

Today's election adds the second Democrat to the house of representatives from Kansas, Joseph J. Taggart having recently been elected to succeed the late A. C. Mitchell in the Second district.

TELL OF A PLOT AGAINST POLICE

Two Negroes Insist Merit Board Sleuth Offered Bribe for False Testimony.

PRICE PUT AT $40 OR $50.

Levee Witnesses Say W. E. Todd Planned "Frameup" Against Wheeler and Aids.

William E. Todd, negro investigator for the city civil service commission, was the target of four members of his own race, who took the witness stand yesterday on behalf of Inspector Wheeler and his four police aids, who are being tried on charges of inefficiency and neglect of duty.

The quartet of negroes had remarkable memories for the happenings on Oct. 6, 1911, but were exceedingly hazy in their recollections of occurrences just prior and subsequent to that date. Their testimony was introduced to disprove statements made by Todd that he had visited gambling places and saloons in the south side on that October day and evening.

Julius Wright and Oscar Huff swore Todd offered them money to testify falsely before the commission against the accused officials. With the exception of Wright the witnesses stuck to their original stories under a sharp cross examination by Attorney Wheelock. Wright was caught three times in contradictory statements by Mr. Wheelock.

Tells of Bribe Offer.

Huff started out by describing himself as an assistant porter in a saloon. He said Todd had approached him on Dec. 20 with an offer to show him how to make "some easy money."

"He were askin' me if I know Ald. Tearney, Lieut. Egan, Lieut. Prim, and Inspector Wheeler," the witness said. "He told me they were the men he had to get. He said I was to tell that I saw Inspector Wheeler, Lieut. Egan, and four other men shakin' dice in Ald. Tearney's saloon after 1 o'clock in the mornin', and that I see Lieut. Prim drinkin' with the bartender in Gumb's saloon.

"Furthermore, he had written out the statement I was to swear to. May I be paralyzed afore I get out o' this chair if that ain't the truth, gentlemen. He said if I would give that everdence it would be worth $40 or $50."

"And what became of the paper on which he had written what you were to swear to?" Attorney P. H. O'Donnell asked.

"My wife, she burned it up."

"Did she know what was on the paper?"

"No, she didn't know what that were, but she said if I come down and swore to any such lies she'd leave me," the witness answered.

Says Negroes Were Together.

J. T. Brewington, a negro politician, who described himself as the "colored manager of the Merriam campaign," corroborated Wright's story that Wright was with Todd the night of Oct. 6. Brewington said he saw the two negroes in the Pekin barroom and conversed with them about 1 o'clock in the morning. Albert Gordon, a restaurant keeper, said Todd and Wright were in his place together earlier in the evening.

Acting Inspector Cudmore took the witness stand to testify to former Chief Steward's interpretation of the general vice order issued by Col. Steward. He said the section relating to resorts on street car lines meant that no new places were to be allowed on thoroughfares, over which car lines run, but the old places were to be allowed to remain. Chief McWeeny has interpreted the same order as meaning that all resorts are to be driven from streets with car lines.

QUITABLE LIFE BUILDING BURNS

...re to New York Struc- ...$6,000,000; Company's Loss Not Real One.

SIX DIE IN THE FLAMES.

Banker Saved from Vault; Battalion Chief Victim; Harriman Biography Gone.

New York, Jan. 9.—The immense marble and granite home of the Equitable Life Assurance society, covering a square in lower Broadway, was destroyed by fire today with loss of six lives and probably $6,000,000 in property. A dozen persons were injured.

The building was a landmark of New York's earlier period of skyscrapers.

Valuable records, including the biography of E. H. Harriman, and two priceless libraries which cannot be replaced went up in smoke.

Fire officials tonight made an inspection of the vaults of the Equitable Life Assurance society, the Equitable Safe Deposit company, and the Mercantile Trust company, which contain $300,000,000 in securities, and found them all intact as far as outward examination could determine.

Wall Street Business Suspended.

People in the heart of the financial district, the fire upset the financial machinery of Wall street and business was practically suspended throughout the day.

The fire started in the Café Savarin, an eating house in the basement. While the restaurant employés were smothering the flames in the kitchens the blaze crept up the elevator shafts without their knowledge and a few minutes later reached the upper floors. Of those who lost their lives three men were killed by jumping from the roof, to which they were driven by the flames. They were employés in the building.

Battalion Chief William J. Walsh disappeared in a whirl of smoke and flame when a cave-in occurred on the third floor, where he was fighting the flames. No trace of his body has been found.

William Campion, captain of the watchmen in the Mercantile safe deposit vaults, and Frank J. Neider, a special officer, whose bodies have not been recovered, complete the list of dead so far as known.

Others May Have Died.

Several persons, watchmen and others, who were in the doomed structure when the fire started at an early hour, have not been positively accounted for, but are believed to have escaped.

Among the injured is President William J. Gilds of the Mercantile Safe Deposit company, who was sawed out of a basement vault by firemen. He had gone into the vault to save securities and accidentally locked himself in with an employé who accompanied him.

One man in another vault of the Mercantile Safe Deposit company, believed to be Campion, could be seen from the street with his legs pinned down by a mass of debris, but could not be rescued because of the heavy steel doors which barred the way of the rescuers. Through the smashed windows of the vault he was given the last rites by Chaplain McGlynn of the fire department just as he was withdrawn from view by the smoke.

Building Not Carried as Asset.

State Superintendent of Insurance Hotchkiss, in a statement issued tonight, said the Equitable's loss is not a real one as the building was not carried as an asset either by the company or the insurance department. The company's surplus stands tonight, he said, substantially where it stood yesterday. The records of vital moment to the policy holders are safe in the company's fire proof building, and those lost probably can be already replaced.

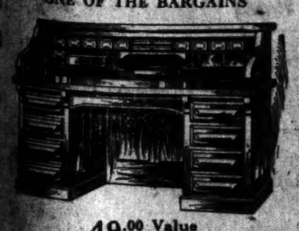

U. S. GETS RECORDS OF ELGIN BOARD IN BUTTER INQUIRY.

Department of Justice Takes Documents for Its Suit Against Chicago Butter and Egg Board.

Elgin, Ill., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—A demand of the department of justice for records of the Elgin board of trade was granted late yesterday following a conference between Charles H. Potter, president, and F. A. Findlay, investigator from the office of Attorney General Wickersham. Colvin W. Brown, secretary of the board, was instructed to turn over the records to the government.

Ostensibly the records are to be used in the civil proceedings against the Chicago butter and egg board in the effort to force abolition of the quotation committee. Many members of the Chicago board are members of the Elgin board.

The Elgin board operates with a quotation committee similar to the Chicago body and the legality under the Sherman law has been questioned frequently. The proposition of abolishing the committee, it is understood, is to be considered at the quarterly meeting of the board of directors next Monday and a policy decided upon.

Once Given Up to Die; Now He's Romping

OLIE MANTYLA

Six year old Olie Mantyla, who eight months ago was in the third stage of tuberculosis, romped into THE TRIBUNE office yesterday and said he enjoyed cold weather immensely. The youngster, because of open air treatment, will be cured in one year.

Less than a year ago Olie was strapped to a board and placed in a cottage at the Lake County Tuberculosis Institute at Waukegan, Ill. At that time it was said the child would die. He had a large lump on his back caused by the disease, which has been reduced to the size of an egg.

The boy was born with tuberculosis. His mother died of the disease a few months ago. The open air treatment at once began to improve his condition. He was put in a cottage. Night and day the windows were left open. Mrs. Grace McCarthy, supervising nurse, after a month announced the child would get well.

"I am glad I can walk," declared the child yesterday. "It was awful hard to be strapped on a big board, but I guess I will get well, and O, I am so glad. I was out in the cold during the spell below zero. My nurse said it was 20 below, but I delight in this cold weather."

There are twenty persons at the Lake County Tuberculosis Institute taking the open air cure. All are in cottages. Mrs. McCarthy said the majority would get well.

OFFERS EVANSTON FILTER SITE.

Northwestern University Would Give Land for Plant to Purify Water.

A sand filtration plant to purify the water supply of Evanston and reduce typhoid fever cases, was suggested last night by Mayor Joseph Paden at the council meeting as the most feasible manner to combat the disease. The mayor announced that Northwestern university through William A. Dyche, had offered 2½ acres near the water tower for this filtration plant.

SHOOTS HIMSELF BEFORE WIFE.

Husband Visits Her and Pleads Reconciliation—Tries to End Life When She Refuses.

William J. Wilber, a barber, fired two shots into his left side yesterday when his wife refused a reconciliation. The shooting occurred in the home of the wife, 2249 West Madison street. Wilbur was taken to the county hospital and died last night. Wilbur and his wife have been living apart for several months, and his wife recently began divorce proceedings, it is said.

COLD WILL STICK; RESPITE BRIEF

Forecaster Says Chicago Will Have Only Slight Relief for a Day or Two.

TOO NEAR STOVE, DIES.

Man Burns to Death and Three Others Are Rescued on Lake Ice Floe.

Cold weather is the only kind in sight. If it moderates a little today and tomorrow the relief will be only temporary. Snow flurries are coming. This from the local forecaster.

The thermometer began to rise early yesterday morning, but accompanied by a thirty mile gale from the west it dropped back below zero. By 9 o'clock the mercury stood at even zero, but the gale was still coming out of the west. It continued to come all day.

At 1:40 o'clock the velocity of the gale had jumped to forty-two miles. The mercury had risen to 6 degrees above. It reached the high point of the day an hour later when at 3 o'clock it stood at 7. From then on the temperature fell toward zero.

Gets Near Stove; Dies.

"The supply of cold air in the northwest is unlimited," Prof. Cox said as he held up the latest weather map. "It is 30 and 32 degrees below up there beyond the Canadian border. It is warm enough on the Pacific coast, but the zephyrs from that region haven't any chance with the cold winds farther inland and to the north. I think it is going to warm up a little tomorrow, and maybe a little more the next day, but two days of better weather is the best we can hope for."

One man died during the day as an indirect result of the cold wave. He slept so close to a stove on Monday night that his clothing caught fire and he was severely burned. He died yesterday afternoon at the county hospital. He was Casmir Lerschert, 20 years old, 1221 South Union avenue.

Three men escaped death in Lake Michigan only after they had spent the night on an ice floe. The three set out on Monday to hunt ducks in a small boat. The ice battered their craft until it sprang a leak. They took to the ice. The floe they chose drifted out into the lake during the night, but drifted back along toward morning. They were rescued by the police. They were Joseph Moss, 4129 Hayes court; Thomas Lee, 349 West Ohio street, and Edward Hanley, 3942 North Clark street.

Young Talks About Cold Cars.

The federal weather forecaster wasn't the only Chicagoan who decided this is a real winter. Many preparations were made by citizens who had hoped the cold snap would disappear as quickly as it came. Health Commissioner Young issued a statement concerning cold street cars.

"The street railway companies seem already to have forgotten that the deserved ill will of the mass of the citizens cannot be capitalized to advantage," Dr. Young said.

"Some 600 inspections have been made. Many cars had temperatures near or below 32 degrees, but only those cases in which the temperature was five degrees or more below the legal minimum were entered for suit. There were 118 of these.

"The corporation counsel is pushing the suits and the companies have attacked in court the validity of the ordinance. 'Millions for evasion, but not one cent for fines,' seems to remain the corporate idea of statesmanship.

"One thing ought to be made clear. If they succeed in knocking out the present ordinance on a legal technicality they are liable to get a new ordinance that won't please them as well and that will be passed in such shape as to stay passed."

DEAN SUMNER "OUSTS" BEGGAR.

Clergyman Appears Against Alms Solicitor—Fine Will Be Suspended if Mendicant Leaves Neighborhood.

Dean Walter T. Sumner of the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul appeared before Municipal Judge Caverly at the Desplaines street court yesterday to prosecute Edward Donahue, 11 South Sangamon street, on a charge of disorderly conduct. Dean Sumner testified that Donahue has been annoying persons by begging. The court fined Donahue $200 and costs.

ADD $5,620 TO THE COLD FUND

Contributions Pour In on United Charities.

FREE BEDS GIVEN TO 800 MEN

Worst Yet to Come, Says Malcolm McDowell; First Thaw to Bring Misery.

Contributions of yesterday swelled the United Charities relief fund by $5,585. THE TRIBUNE received $35 more.

Most of the subscriptions were small. There was just one donation of $500. This came from Mrs. T. B. Blackstone of 1012 Prairie avenue.

Pullman, Florence, and Frances Lowden—grandchildren of Mrs. George M. Pullman—who on Monday gave $300 to the fund, took up another contribution among themselves, netting $16, which they specified should be used to buy coal. From three other children came $8.51. From Delta, Iowa, came a subscription of 25 cents. Selz, Schwab & Co. gave five cases of shoes.

A total of more than $135 has now been added to the original $1,000 of THE TRIBUNE ice fund, all of which is being turned over to the United Charities. Yesterday's TRIBUNE donors were:

Beds for 800 "Down and Outs."

The Volunteers of America last night provided beds for about 800 homeless men at the three stores it is maintaining as lodging houses at 1235 West Madison street, 16 South Desplaines street, and 667 West Sixty-third street. The moderation of the weather has not cut down the number of applicants for warm sleeping quarters, although it has given many of them a chance to earn from 25 cents to 75 cents a day washing windows, clearing away snow, and doing all other odd jobs that come to hand.

Quarters Offered Rent Free.

The city may accept the offer of the first floor of the Times building, 102 North Fifth avenue, to house the overflow. George K. Owsley, agent of the building, yesterday notified Health Commissioner George B. Young that he will offer it free of rent if a capable man is kept in charge.

In the yard adjoining the cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul, North Peoria street and Washington boulevard, bushel baskets of coal were sold yesterday at 10 cents each. Dean Walter T. Sumner, to whom five coal companies donated the fuel, estimates this is the cost of handling the coal.

Foresees All Winter Job.

"Chicago must not forget that she will have a job lasting all winter—not simply a week or two—when it comes to providing for the poor and unemployed," said Malcolm MacDowell, last night, as he marshaled the Jefferson street coffee wagon patrons into line. "The worst conditions will not be during these cold days we are having now, but rather after the cold spell breaks up."

JENNINGS RULES AGAINST LORIMER LEAGUE WATCHERS.

Shatters Defense Put Up by Petition Bearers Arrested for Loitering in City Hall Corridors.

The Lorimer-Lincoln league didn't fare well yesterday in court proceedings resulting from the arrest of two of its watchers. The watchers had insisted on loitering outside the election commissioners' office in the city hall after being told to move on.

The defense arranged in behalf of Walter H. Schmidt and John C. Swickard, who had carried petitions for nomination of two of the league's candidates, was shattered by Municipal Judge Charles E. Jennings' rulings.

The hearing continues today.

COMISKEY PLANS TO AID SOX FANS

Obtains Estimates on Cost of Increasing the Seating Capacity of Park.

SURE OF WINNING TEAM.

Overflow Crowds of Last Season Compel Old Roman to Figure on Larger Ones.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

So confident is President Comiskey of the ability of Manager Callahan to make a winning team out of the White Sox that he is figuring on increasing the seating capacity of Comiskey park and already has obtained estimates of the probable cost and specifications for the needed materials. The improvement he has in mind will involve the expenditure of an additional $100,000.

Comiskey's plans include the extension of the second deck of the grand stand at each end so as to cover the pavilions back of first and third bases and the extension of the present bleachers. An additional 5,000 or 6,000 seats can be provided in this way without difficulty. When the plant was built the original plans provided for this expansion at some future date. The steel structure of the pavilions was designed to carry a second story if desired. The bleachers can be extended so as to inclose center field if necessary, but the demand for the higher priced seats has been greater than for bleacher accommodations.

Crowds Force Expansion.

The 36,308 crowd that saw the third game of the Sox-Cub series last fall and the several thousand who were locked out when the gates were closed that day were the compelling factors in Comiskey's determination to expand. On several days during the championship season the capacity of the big plant was taxed to the utmost, and that with a team that did not live up to expectations. With a winner fighting for a pennant the days on which the present accommodations would prove insufficient would be more frequent. The master of the Sox does not like to have spectators on the field on account of their interference with the play. Except for that the plant could be so arranged as to handle the overflow on big days in the space behind the outfielders, but it is Comiskey's desire to handle all his patrons within the stands themselves if possible.

Whether or not he will attempt to have the improvements made before the opening of the next season President Comiskey has not definitely decided, as the matter has not gone beyond the figuring stage. But if it is found to be feasible within the estimates made the work will be done this spring.

Johnson Off for Cincinnati.

President Johnson of the American league left last night for Cincinnati to confer with Chairman Herrmann of the national commission in regard to revisions in the wording of the national agreement made necessary by the recent concessions to the minor leagues. When put in final form the new agreement must be formally ratified by the two major leagues and by the minor leagues' association before becoming operative. For that purpose Mr. Johnson announced that he would issue on his return a call for an American league meeting to be held in this city around Feb. 14. At this time the playing schedule also will be adopted.

President Joe Jackson of the Baseball Writers' association was named as the third member of the American league's rules committee. Umpire Tom Connolly already had been appointed chairman o fthis committee and Manager Callahan of the Sox had been named to serve on it. Mr. Johnson said he did not believe any important changes in the rules would be made this winter. He plans to return tomorrow and then will finish preparations for the trip which he and President Comiskey of the Sox are to make to Florida to fish for sharks and other deep sea denizens. They will leave for the south on Saturday.

Manager Callahan received the signed contract of V. J. Clemons, the catcher purchased from the Pueblo club of the Western league. Clemons is a big fellow with a good whip and a head on his shoulders in spite of his youth. He is only 20 years old, but was the class of the Western league backstops last season and Frank Isbell, owner of the club, was so enthusiastic about the youngster that he fairly begged Comiskey to take the catcher.

Corhan Recovers from Injury.

A letter from Roy Corhan, the shortstop recruit who was injured last summer, to Dr. Blair, the club's physician, reported that he had recovered fully from the injury and that his head did not bother him at all. Corhan was making good at shortstop when he was knocked out by a pitched ball in New York in midseason. For several days he was flighty and he did not recover from the effects of the blow during the season.

Word came to Cub headquarters that President Murphy had returned to New Orleans from his visit to Panama and, although no definite date was fixed for his appearance in Chicago, he is expected before the end of the week.

Jimmy Archer, the Cub catcher, who has been spending the holidays here, will blow the climate tomorrow and go to Florida for the rest of the winter. Jimmy Sheckard, Tom Needham, and probably Peaches Graham will make up the Cub colony in the south. Archer expects to remain in Florida until time to join the team at New Orleans in March.

CONKLIN ADDS TO LEAD OVER C. DEMAREST IN SECOND BLOCK.

International 18-2 Amateur Champion Increases Advantage Over the Professional by 75 Points.

Fred Conklin, the international amateur 18-2 champion, added 62 points to his lead over Calvin Demarest, the former 18-2 professional champion, in the second block of their handicap match at Mussey's last night and now is leading the professional by 75 points. Conklin scored his complement of 267 points in 27 innings, averaging 9 24-27. Demarest getting 358 points in 26 innings and averaging 14 14-26. The grand totals are Conklin 534 and Demarest 745, the latter having to play 2,000 to 1,325 by the amateur champion.

Conklin was detained at a meeting and had to start play before getting warmed up, and for nearly half the game he played with his coat on. He had the balls in good position from the last shot of Monday night and ran 24, bringing the total for the run to 68, his best run of the match. Demarest's run of 62 in his twentieth inning was a clever display. Scores:

MARCUS H. CARTWRIGHT DEAD

Noted Bookmaker Succumbs to Heart Trouble Here.

LEFT A $1,000,000 ESTATE?

Started Career as Butcher and Then Switched to Operator.

Marcus H. Cartwright, one of the noted bookmakers of the American turf, is dead. Death, due to heart trouble, from which he had been suffering for many years, came yesterday morning at 8 o'clock at the Del Prado hotel, where the former operator had made his home for some time. He was 52 years old.

The passing of Mr. Cartwright was not unexpected, for the affliction which brought about his death had gradually sapped his strength until it was only a matter of how long he might fight off the inevitable. The remains will be taken to Nashville, Tenn., today for burial.

It was in Nashville that Marcus Cartwright began his career, and it was as a butcher boy that he started. It is reported that he left an estate valued close to $1,000,000.

The call of the racetrack early took Mr. Cartwright from the butcher trade, and he began a meteoric rise in finance. His first real success came when he formed a partnership in bookmaking with William Beverley at Nashville. Together they played all along the line, having a book at the tracks from New Orleans to St. Paul in the days when racing was at its best. In the late '80's and early '90's. They also cut in at the eastern tracks around New York.

Mr. Cartwright's activity at the racetracks came to a close about 1895, but his interests did not cease at that time, for he had others making book for him among these whom he backed being Marsh Reden and Fred Persh. In fact, he had a whole army of "bookies" working in his interests. It was in 1895 that the first attack of heart trouble came, from which he had suffered until the time of his death.

He was a big operator, but a conservative one in many ways. He gained fame around the racetracks because he was a consistent layer against favorites. He hated odds-on choices and always said: "I'll lose with favorites, but make my winnings on the others."

Financial success came to Cartwright through his turf operations, and he immediately invested it in real estate in Nashville and Chicago.

JACK JOHNSON WANTS SANTRY TO REFEREE BOUT WITH FLYNN.

Heavyweight Champion Confident Former Featherweight Title Holder Would Make Capable Judge.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Eddie Santry, former featherweight champion, is the choice of Jack Johnson for referee of the champion's fight with Jim Flynn for the heavyweight title. Johnson said as long as Santry has been a boxer and has had experience in acting as the third man in the ring he should be good enough to work in a championship battle.

"Santry knows the game from A to Z," the champion said. "I have known him for many years, and as long as I am a middle western man I believe Santry should be selected because he is a Chicagoan. I have heard a great deal about his officiating, and I hope Curley and Flynn will see fit to agree with me."

The champion is in favor of Harry Gibbons acting as stakeholder of the forfeits. Jack Curley manager of Jim Flynn, has suggested the name of Al Tearney, but Johnson wants Gibbons. Johnson also was pleased to learn that efforts are being made to secure the services of Jimmy Coffroth, the well known coast promoter, to look after the details of the fight.

Johnson is willing to wager $1,000 that Jack White can beat Abe Attel in a twenty round bout, providing the champion makes 122 pounds ringside. The negro champion believes Attel is about through, and he firmly believes White is coming all the time. Jack asserted Attel is afraid to meet a strong boy over the twenty round route.

Jack White finally has been matched for a battle with Joe Rivers, the Mexican whirlwind. The bout will take place at Los Angeles on March 17 before the club presided over by Tom McCarey. Harry Gilmore Jr., who is on the coast, closed the deal yesterday, acting for his brother, Fred, who is manager of White. The weight demanded by Rivers was 126 pounds at 10 o'clock the morning of the fight, which is to be held in the afternoon.

Jack McGuigan, the Philadelphia matchmaker, is after Jim Flynn. He notified the fireman-fighter yesterday that he intends making an effort to bring Bombardier Wells from England for a series of bouts in this country and wants Flynn to tackle the Britisher. Another bout planned for Wells is with Al Palzer.

Packey McFarland and his manager, Emil Thiry, left last night for Toronto, Can., where Packey will meet "Kid" Alberts over the ten round route tomorrow night. From Toronto Thiry will go to Pittsburgh, where his other fighter, Willie Ritchie, has been matched to meet "Kid" Saylor in a six round go on Saturday night. Ritchie will meet Phil Brock at Cleveland, O., on Jan. 22.

Lou Boarman, the colored bantam, is hot on the trail of Johnny Coulon. Boarman will be at South Bend to challenge the winner of the Coulon-Kitson bout tomorrow night.

SPORTING GOSSIP BY MARQUIS

Relates Story of Gallinule, Famous Sire to Be Retired.

FEAR TO PUT ON FIGHT.

Recent Decisions Throw Big Scare Into English Promoters.

BY THE MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY.

All good Irishmen know or should have heard of the great Gallinule, that wonderful sire horse, which for more than twenty years has been such a wonderful success in the stud for Capt. Greer. It has now been decided that after this year Gallinule shall be retired so far as public mares are concerned, and he will spend his honored old age at his owner's place.

Gallinule, which is by the great Isonomy out of a mare called Moorhen, by Hermit, was during the best part of his racing career owned by the late Marquis of Ailesbury, then Lord Savernake. As a 2-year-old he won several races so that the highest hopes were entertained about his turf future. Through some cause he failed to justify early predictions.

For part of the time he was trained in an original manner. He was exercised round a miniature circular track in Savernake forest, as his owner liked to see him at exercise. Lord Ailesbury varied that enjoyment with cock fighting after dinner at his palatial residence and would have little prize fighting shows in the servants' hall or barn.

I have forgotten whether it was before or after Lord Ailesbury was warned off the turf that Gallinule was sold. However, he first went to the stud in 1890, being in charge of a Mr. Clanchy, a well known Irish vet. At first Gallinule's stud fee was $101, but $1,040 was asked for him in 1903.

Captain Greer believed in Gallinule, although it was pointed out that his dam Moorhen had once changed hands for $250. She had no racing record, but on her dam's side went back to the mighty Stockwell. Her owner had been told that he was throwing $500 away when he sent Moorhen to Isonomy, but the result was Gallinule.

It was when he was a young 2-year-old that Lord Ailesbury bought him for about $4,000 and such was his reputation that the late Mr. Abington Baird, a millionaire gentleman rider and an associate and backer of pugilists, paid $26,000 for him. He was a most disappointing purchase, as he never won a race for him. Abington Baird therefore let him go to Capt. Greer for $5,000.

Capt. Greer's belief must have been a great reward for his judgment. Gallinule was the sire of Pretty Polly, perhaps the greatest mare that ever appeared on an English racecourse. It is rather curious, however, that he never sired the winner of the Derby. Wildflower, which won the St. Leger in 1898, was by him. It is not often that sire and son stand together at the same stud, but Gallinule and Wildfowler were at Capt. Greer's place together, until the latter was sold to go to France.

The provincial police in Great Britain seem in doubt and at variance how to act in the face of advertised boxing matches. The latest move was to stop a bout in Cardiff. Jimmy Britt told me that he intended to see it, but received information in time that the fight would be stopped. It was to have been held at a local club.

Pending the argument whether the police were acting within their rights the chief constable gave out the statement that he did not prohibit the contest, but sent an officer to explain the law on boxing contests and prize fights to the club officials. They convened a meeting and sent a communication that they did not intend to proceed with the tournament.

There is no doubt but the committee of this club is scared to "go on," in view of some recent decisions; and one thing is certain, that outside London there will be considerable hesitancy about organizing any boxing fixtures.

Plans to Stop Seat Scalping.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 9.—Secretary Seekamp of the St. Louis National league team has drafted a city ordinance prohibiting scalping of baseball and theater passes. Seekamp declares the club was embarrassed last season by speculators who on several occasions handled large blocks of reservations. The ordinance will be submitted to the house of delegates at an early date.

NEW YORK IN GRAND CIRCUIT

Harness Racing Stewards Make Radical Changes.

LEXINGTON INVITED TO JOIN

Allotment of Dates Made, Opening with Grand Rapids Tentatively.

New York, Jan. 9.—Grand circuit harness racing will undergo important changes next summer as the result of action taken at the annual meeting of stewards today. In the allotment of dates New York and Pittsburgh are admitted to the circuit, Lexington is invited to join, Columbus is reinstated, while Indianapolis is withdrawn, and Goshen, N. Y., is out for the coming year at least. The dates assigned are:

Grand Rapids [probable], July 8-13.
Kalamazoo, Mich., July 15-20.
Detroit, Mich., July 22-27.
Cleveland, O., July 29-Aug. 3.
Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 5-10.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 12-17.
New York, Aug. 19-24.
Readville, Mass., Aug. 26-31.
Hartford, Conn., Sept. 2-7.
Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 9-14.
Michigan state fair, Sept. 16-21.
Columbus, O., Sept. 23-Oct. 5.

Late Dates for Lexington.

A two weeks' meet at Lexington is expected to follow Columbus, if the Lexington club accepts the late dates. The Lexington club is expected to come in, but this cannot be determined until after the annual meeting of the club on Jan. 16. If it accepts, it will be the first time this great racing and breeding center has held grand circuit trotting meetings.

The New York idea is said to be backed by Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas, president of the American Trotting association, who is interesting owners of the Gravesend track in the plan to hold a trotting meet there. Formal application in behalf of New York was made by Andrew Welch of Hartford, who presented a certified check for $500 as a guarantee that racing would be held at the Gravesend track and declared he would waive his privilege of asking for the return of the money in the event of no racing.

The application of W. A. Gove, owner of the $1,000,000 track at Salem, N. H., was rejected with the proviso that if plans for races here do not materialize, the dates Aug. 19 and 24 would be assigned to Salem.

Three Offices Are Abolished.

The admission of Pittsburgh was unopposed and racing men said they looked for a successful meet there on Brunot's Island in the Ohio river.

The stewards voted to abolish the offices of national judge and starter, and authorized each trotting association to employ a presiding judge and official starter. The office of master of transportation, formerly filled by Charles F. Lewis, was abolished. A reduction in the annual dues of associations and clubs from $125 to $50 was made.

H. K. Devereaux of CCleveland was reëlected president of the board of stewards. A. E. Perrin of Syracuse was elected vice president to succeed W. P. Engelman, and George G. Dietrich of Cleveland was reëlected secretary.

One-Half of Money Raised to Build Challenger for Racing Union Trophy.

Syndicate Vessels to Be Built on Class P Design and Under Universal Rules.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

The return of the Chicago Yacht club to international competition was assured last night when at a meeting of the Yacht Owners' association at the La Salle hotel it was decided to build at least one boat to contest for the Yacht Racing union trophy, a cup recently donated by Commodore Richardson of Toledo to take the place of the historic Canada cup, now enmeshed in red tape by the Rochester Yacht club.

Commodore William Hale Thompson of the local organization heads a newly formed syndicate that will order plans drawn at once for a challenger to meet for international honors a boat to be entered by the Royal Canadian Yacht club of Toronto. At last night's meeting Chairman G. H. Atkin of the Yacht Owners' association secured subscriptions for one-half of the necessary amount. Those familiar with the situation express a belief that not only will the necessary balance be easily raised, but that one or two other syndicates will be formed within the Chicago Yacht club for the purpose of building other challengers.

Price Heads Committee.

Fred A. Price, who was named by Commodore Thompson as chairman of the committee to arrange for the building of the boat and to negotiate with the Royal Canadian Yacht club, read a communication from Secretary MacMurray of the latter organization which showed eagerness on the part of the Canucks to renew friendly competition with the Chicago club which a few years ago ran in this city one of the races for the Canada cup. The Canadians express a desire to have the race held in Toronto, but the local yachtsmen are confident that the contest can be secured for Chicago during the coming summer.

The syndicate boat to be built will be of class P design and will be constructed under universal rules. The cost to build and maintain for the season will be between $8,000 and $10,000. Named with Chairman Price on the building committee are Commodore Thompson, G. H. Atkin, Ogden T. McClurg, and James B. Keogh. The committee will draw up the deed of gift and raise the necessary funds to build and race the challenger.

Ten One Design Boats Ordered.

Contracts for ten of the new one design boats recently adopted by the C. Y. C. were reported by George Weed of the special committee. These yachts have been ordered by Dr. W. L. Baum and the crew of Amorita, Commodore William Hale Thompson and the crew of Valmore, E. M. Mills and the crew of Invader, Joseph Winterbotham, George Tramel, Sterling Morton, Arthur P. Church, and by the Chicago Yacht club, which will have three of the little boats.

NEW ATHLETIC UNION PLANNED.

Local Jewish Men's Club Representatives Will Meet Tonight to Complete the Organization.

The first meeting of the Jewish-American Athletic and Social union will be held at the Chicago Hebrew institute tonight. IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

The controversy between James J. Corbett and John A. Johnson is our notion of nothing to enlarge upon or go along with. The trouble with Corbett is that he was injured internally in that famous "goat getting" match in the ring at Reno, when the simple colored child of nature made a sucker of him at the ex-pompadour gent's chosen line of going. It will be remembered that if Corbett had any business in that ring or vicinity it was to get Johnson's cabrita. He himself considered that the best thing he could do and he told everybody that hove in sight how he was going to do it. But, lo! when the smoke of the interpolated rag chewing match had cleared away it was Corbett's, not Johnson's hollow horned ruminant that was missing. Johnson had it and he has had it ever since. Hence the peevishness.

Corbett's charge of studied "stalling" against Johnson would have had no better foundation in fact had it been printed before the black fellow made his match with Flynn, but it would have made better reading. In any case, the consideration of the source would be the best answer for Johnson or his supporters to make.

As to Johnson's countercharge, involving H. H. Frazee, the chances are that the big spade shot without taking aim. Frazee's interest in pugilistic affairs about the time the Johnson-Jeffries thing was culminating was not quite clear to sporting eyes. He never was a sporting man, and he never had an interest in the game for the game's sake. That phase of the situation was obvious. The ethics of sportsmanship would be about the last thing that would appeal to Frazee if his purpose was to create an "attraction." His mind, and probably his methods, were those of a showman, not of a sportsman or sporting man.

Set me down somewhere near State str., where all is white with snow;
An icy tang is in the air that sets your blood aglow.
There you feel the joy of living in every breath you take,
While the blizzard is a blizzing and the ice packs in the lake.

There is something in the very air that makes you want to run,
And life is just one grand hooray and work is only fun.
Heaven must be a lovely place to go to when you die,
But I'll trade my chance of heaven for one winter back in Chi.

CHICAGO, JAN. 6, 1912.

Back, back to the equator where the portugeezers dwell,
Where the breeze that sways the palm tree fronds is like a breath of hell;
Where you slip into your bathing suit and shoes, perhaps a vest,
And top it with a bumbershoot—that's all—you're fully drest.
And when the sun ain't shining there's at work a yellow moon,
And the time don't count for nothin' and there is no month but June.
Abaa the stuffy ear muff, fur coat, and arctic boot!
It's me to the equator and a little G-string suit.

Bill Niesen's idea of a new league will prove a perfectly good idea if he leaves it where it is. If he tries to mobilize it, it will fall apart. Besides it looks better without the added suggestion of car fare and salaries.

It's an ill nor'wester that blows no good for the ski jumpers.

"I want it understood," preambles Ted Sullivan, who is never more at home than he is when shattering modern baseball icons, "that I do not want to take one gem from Cobb's baseball crown." Certainly not. Far be it from Ted. But when he gets through not only the gems but the whole bally diadem is missing.

A woman scorned hath nothing on a swipe discharged. Barney Furey—apt name in this connection—who helped to rub Jack Johnson before his fight with Jeffries and consequently "knows more about him than any other living man," picks Flynn to win. The circumstance that Barney "is no longer connected" and is looking for a job in Flynn's camp has nothing to do with his opinion, of course.

The conservators of "amateurism" in this country wax in wisdom. They soon will know enough about it to know that they know nothing.

CRISIS IN FRANCE MENACES CABINET

Foreign Minister Resigns in Dramatic Manner; Upheaval Threatened.

MOROCCO TREATY CAUSE.

Charges of Secret Negotiations on Rail Concessions Bring Trouble.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—The Franco-German Morocco treaty, which ended the war crisis a few months ago, brought about this evening in a dramatic manner the resignation of the French foreign minister, Justin de Selves. This threatens to be followed by a general parliamentary investigation and ministerial upheaval.

Charges that financiers of France and Germany were permitted to carry on secret negotiations relative to the Congo and Morocco caused the rupture.

Premier Caillaux before the state committee gave his word of honor that there had been no such negotiations, but the foreign minister declined to back the premier and refused to make a statement pro or con.

Crisis Brewing for Some Time.

The crisis has been brewing ever since the treaty was signed, due to repeated allegations that the French ambassador, Jules Cambon, did not have a free hand in the negotiations with Germany, and that other negotiations, of which the foreign office and ambassador were ignorant, were being secretly conducted between the two countries regarding railroad concessions in the Congo, Kamerun, and Morocco.

The storm broke at the meeting of the senate committee, with ex-Premier Clemenceau holding a great advantage.

Premier Caillaux denied there ever had been semi-official pourparlers before the interview at Kissingen. He had, he said, rejected a contract for railroad concessions alleged to have been made between a Frenchman named Fondere and Dr. Semler, a member of the reichstag.

He narrated the negotiations relative to proposed railroads in Morocco, and affirmed that he was happy to give his word of honor that there had been no negotiations except those of which the foreign office and M. Cambon were cognizant.

Refusal Causes Sensation.

M. Clemenceau arose and looked fixedly at the foreign minister.

"Will you confirm the statement of the premier?" he asked.

M. de Selves at first refused to answer, but pressed by Senator Bourgeois, chairman of the committee, finally said:

"I cannot answer the question. I am tied between a double duty—to stick to the truth and tell all, and not to hurt the interests of the country by deserting the cabinet."

These words caused a sensation and the committee adjourned in great confusion.

M. de Selves sent his resignation to President Fallieres. In his letter he said he could not [illegible] protest against the statement of Premier Caillaux. On the other hand, his conscience forbade him to confirm it.

The premier likewise issued a statement in which he insisted that he had told the truth.

U. S. TROOPS SENT TO CHINA

Ordered There from Manila to Keep Railway Open.

REQUESTED BY MR. CALHOUN

Free Communication with Capital Required by Powers' Treaty.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—After a lapse of more than ten years, American troops are to invade China again. They are to aid in keeping open the railroad from Peking to the sea.

Orders were cabled to Gen. Bell at Manila late today to embark immediately 500 infantry soldiers for Chinwangtao, China. They are to act under the directions of American Minister Calhoun.

Several days ago Mr. Calhoun intimated that some of the other powers were looking to the United States to contribute a quota of troops to meet treaty obligations to keep open communication between the capital and the coast.

Hope for Peace Reviving.

It required the intervening time to develop the exact needs of the situation, and it was not until today that Mr. Calhoun was able to inform the state department that 500 troops would suffice to discharge the United States' obligation.

Reports that an armistice had been arranged to prevent a renewal of the fighting between the republicans and the imperialists in China was welcomed at the state department as indicating that there still is hope for the conclusion of peace, though it is feared this can only be arranged on the basis of a division of the existing empire.

RUSSIA'S DEMANDS KEPT SECRET.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PEKING, Jan. 9.—Full details of Russia's demands in Mongolia cannot be obtained, as both Russia and China are suppressing all information on that subject. It is understood that Russia has stipulated that the Mongolian envoys who recently went to St. Petersburg to open certain negotiations shall not be punished for such action.

END SUICIDE PLEA IN MORROW CASE?

Accused Widow's Lawyer Hints Defense Has Not Been Decided Upon.

COOK TELLS OF FIGHT.

Says She Tried to Be Peacemaker Night Before Inventor Was Found Dead.

The state's prediction that Mrs. Rena B. Morrow, charged with the murder of her husband, would not stick to her contention of suicide was partly borne out, the police say, by yesterday's developments in the preliminary hearing before Judge Fake.

Her apparent change of attitude came during a wrangle between her counsel, Charles E. Erbstein, and Assistant State's Attorney Northup over the admissibility of a postal card the inventor wrote to his son, Dr. Arthur W. Morrow, shortly before the tragedy.

Defense May Not Be Suicide.

Mr. Northup cited authorities to show such evidence was proper in cases of suicide, when he was suddenly halted by Mr. Erbstein, who insisted he had not yet indicated what his defense would be. Judge Fake looked surprised.

Heretofore Mrs. Morrow sat quietly in the courtroom. Yesterday she called a witness a "liar" and created such a furor by her display of temper that the judge had to silence her.

Catherine Scanlan, the cook employed at the Morrow home, 4545 Michigan avenue, was on the stand when the defendant became unnerved.

Tries to Be Peacemaker.

"They never got along well together," testified Mrs. Scanlan, "and had a fierce quarrel the night Mr. Morrow was killed. I tried to interfere and visited Mrs. Morrow in her room. She was in her night dress. I asked her if I should try to induce Mr. Morrow to leave the house. Mrs. Morrow said 'No, he is looking for trouble and I will stand my ground.' She still was in her room and Mr. Morrow was sitting in the dark dining room when I departed for my own home about 8:20 p. m.

"I returned to the house the next morning about 7:30 and was with Esther Johnson, the maid, when we discovered the body. I rushed upstairs to inform Mrs. Morrow. She requested me to go back downstairs and get the revolver. Later she instructed me to tell inquirers that Morrow was depressed because of financial reverses. During their last quarrel Mrs. Morrow told me Mr. Morrow was too much of a coward to take his life."

Saw Her Take Tin Box.

The witness also told about Mrs. Morrow taking from the inventor's room the mysterious tin safety box Attorney Erbstein has been displaying at the hearing.

H. M. Witt testified he had known Morrow for fifteen or sixteen years, that Morrow visited the witness the night before the murder, that they had an engagement for the night following, and that Morrow was in the best of spirits over his financial future.

Man Dead; Seeks Brother.

Chicago police were asked yesterday to search for Richard Russell, whose brother, Peter Russell, is dead in Fort Smith, Ark.

WEBSTER WILL PLEAD GUILTY

Drops All Defense to Charge of Killing His Wife.

RELATIVES ABANDON HIM.

He Has No Funds with Which to Fight the Case.

Before the week is over the Webster murder case will be history and Dr. Harry Elgin Webster will have been sentenced for the murder of his wife, Bessie Kent Webster.

Dr. Webster has abandoned all defense, even a plea of insanity. He is to plead guilty next Friday morning before Judge R. S. Farrand of the Ogle county Circuit court at Oregon, Ill. This announcement came yesterday from Attorneys James F. and Frances J. Callahan of Chicago, but this course was decided upon three weeks ago, when the attorneys informed State's Attorney W. J. Emerson of Ogle county.

Plea to Save Life.

No explanation was given for the abandonment of defense, but it is understood it was agreed upon to save Webster from hanging.

Webster has wealthy relatives. They abandoned him when they read of his confession to the police in Chicago and to his own parents and sisters. The doctor had not the necessary funds to fight his battle against heavy odds.

New Confession Expected.

There will be a new and more complete confession presented to the court following Webster's plea of guilty. Webster is now working on that confession in his cell. He insists his mind was a blank during part of the time he was taking his wife from Dixon Sept. 15 to a lonely spot in the woods, five miles north of Polo, Ill., where he killed her and left her nude body.

Tafts Inaugurate State Receptions.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—With the members of the diplomatic corps as chief guests, the president and Mrs. Taft inaugurated their series of state receptions tonight. The receiving line, much depleted by the successive deaths in the cabinet families, included, in addition to the president and Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Knox, Mrs. MacVeagh, Mrs. Meyer, Mrs. Nagel, Mrs. Fisher, and Mrs. Hilles, wife of the secretary of the president.

Baron Hengelmuller, as dean of the corps, headed the diplomatic contingent, carrying his honors alone, since the Baroness Hengelmuller has postponed her arrival in Washington until late in the spring. The ambassador from Russia and Mme. Bahkemeteff, the new ambassador from Brazil, and the minister from Belgium and Mme. Havenith, were among the diplomatic circle who made their initial appearance at what is looked upon as the most brilliant of the state receptions at the White House.

A distinguished list of guests were in attendance, chief among these being the American ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Boardman. Others in the company were Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter and her house guests, Mrs. Jack Gardner of Boston and Mrs. Pretyman of London, the latter a niece of Mrs. Leiter.

The usual elaborate gowning marked the occasion. Mrs. MacVeagh wore a robe of ivory white brocade satin, with trimmings of Venetian pointe lace and a tiara and necklace of diamonds. Mrs. Leiter wore an embossed chiffon velvet of soft blue, with trimmings of old lace, and her famous ruby and diamond jewels. Mrs. Jack Gardner wore a robe of cloth of gold, with diamonds and pearl jewels, and Mrs. Pretyman had a gown of purple of chiffon velvet, with trimmings of old lace and a necklace and bodice jewels of pearls and diamonds.

Mrs. George Edmund Foss wore white satin brocade, with trimmings of gold lace. Miss Helen Cannon wore violet satin, with bodice and skirt garnitures of silver lace. Mrs. James R. Mann wore white chiffon over white satin, and pearl jewels. Mrs. Ira C. Copley wore a gown of soft pink velvet, and Mrs. Lyndon Evans wore pink moire, with a bodice drapery of black Chantilly.

The usual informal dance in the east room followed the formal reception.

The secretary of the navy and Mrs. Meyer had as guests at dinner tonight the Misses Meyer, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Miss Lippitt, Mrs. Lippincott, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thomas, Mr. De Bach, Mr. Maugras, Count Csekonics, Mr. Kerr, Mr. Horstmann, Mr. Hedry, Mitchell Innes, Mr. Hutter, and Mr. Robinson.

Dr. A. W. Harris Tells How to Travel.

Members of the Tuesday Art and Travel club were given advice on how to travel yesterday afternoon at their meeting in the Hotel Sherman. President A. W. Harris of Northwestern university gave the advice.

The beaten paths should be tabooed, according to President Harris, and every individual should travel in the way he likes best.

"Too many people just go to see the birthplace of Shakspeare, the best known cathedrals, and the show places of Paris and Rome," said President Harris.

Rules President Harris laid down were:

Don't adhere too closely to a set program.
Don't think too much about the expense.
Don't take too much baggage.
Don't go to see things you don't want to see.
Don't spend too much time in the art galleries.
Go over on a slow boat and come back on a fast one.

He urged the members of the club to take one trip across third class to study the people who travel that way.

Deaconess Fund Gets $31,000.

Thirty-one thousand dollars was added yesterday to the $100,000 fund established by N. W. Harris, president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, as a pension fund for aged deaconesses of the Methodist Episcopal church. Of this amount $25,000 was contributed by a donor who withheld his name, $5,000 was given by A. W. Harris, vice president Harris Trust and Savings bank, and $1,000 by R. S. Douglass of Cincinnati.

These gifts bring the pension fund to $183,695. Mr. Harris in making his initial gift of $100,000, stipulated that payments from the interest of the fund would not begin until the total of $250,000 was reached.

Street Heads Playgoers' Club.

"Business Bachelor" New Degree.

Business training is to be put on a par with classical or scientific training at Northwestern university by conferring on the graduates of the school of commerce a bachelor's degree. Bachelor of business administration is the full title. This decision was made yesterday at the quarterly meeting of the trustees in the Union League club. A candidate for the degree must have two years' regular college work and spend two years in the school of commerce.

Marion Harland's Helping Hand.

Our Midweek Helping Hand.

BY MARION HARLAND.

Marion Harland is recognized by the editors of every woman's magazine in the country as the greatest authority on all matters concerning housekeeping and homemaking. If you don't know what to do in regard to any household problem write to Marion Harland, in care The Tribune, and she will gladly help you.

Sends Stamps and Album.

"Thanks for the address of the boy in Chicago. I have sent him a stamp album, some stamps, and a few reading books, and hope he will enjoy them. J. C."

I lead off today with this report—a model for conciseness and comprehensiveness—from one of our masculine coworkers, because it is an "appetizer," and furthermore, because it is a direct leader to something I wish to say here and now.

You will note that the boy is in Chicago. The helper is a New York man. The Corner has correspondents and active members from Canada to the gulf of Mexico, and from Cape Cod to the Golden Gate. We enroll new recruits daily.

Three persons have written me to remonstrate against inserting communications from those who are not residents of their especial city and township. One says: "What do I care for the address of a shut-in in Denver who wants magazines? Charity begins at home!" The writer is a Pittsburgh, Pa., woman.

A Denver man, two days later, begged that no addresses be sent him of eastern and middle states correspondents.

From Atlanta, Ga., comes a plea that we shall not make mention to southern subscribers of poverty stricken people in Buffalo, N. Y. "We have enough troubles of our own!"

Will these malcontents, who form a gratifyingly small percentage of our large souled, broad minded, warm hearted constituents, forgive a personal allusion? I have wrought to little purpose for half a century to benefit the households of America if my friends and colleagues are confined to one section of our common country.

While I dare not echo the boast of John Wesley, "My parish is the world!" I yet claim the right to recognize the children of my love wherever they are found, let the avenue of approach be what it will.

When I am asked for an address by a New Yorker who would receive or give books, pieces of cloth, or other bulky objects, I tell him or her frankly if the applicant lives in Los Angeles or in Rome, Ga. Then I leave the would-be donor to follow his or her own inclination.

There are no party lines and no sectional jealousies in the corner.

Magazines for Children.

"If any of your correspondents have young folk's magazines I should be glad to call for them. I have three little girls who are fond of reading. I am not able to buy any for them, and there are many who would be glad to pass theirs on. MRS. G. S."

The mother's name and address are with me.

Chance to Help Shut-In.

"I come again to ask you to lend me your ever ready helping hand as you have done before for me, and this typewritten letter is one of the results of your kind help. Probably you remember me asking you to help me get a typewriter and the sending of the letter and address of 'Mr. H.' of Chicago. Shortly after writing you I entered the local hospital, where I spent three months without getting any relief from my ailment, rheumatism. After my coming home 'Mr. H.' shipped the typewriter and here I am, lying on my back, writing to know if you could assist me in getting copying to do on my machine, as I imagine that some of your Cornerites might have manuscript, etc., they desire to have copied.

"If it is not breaking one of the rules of your Corner would you please let your readers know that I am prepared to do such work, thereby helping a fellow to help himself, which I think is the proper kind of help for one in my position, and the kind I appreciate.

After six years of shut-in life, most of that time on my back, I can say that I have worried most over the fact that I have been depending on my people and kind friends as far as my keep has been concerned; therefore I intend to see what I can do as a typist, because the work is similar to the job I had before coming 'down and out'—that of compositor on a newspaper. My former experience will be helpful, as one of the strictest rules about a newspaper's composing rooms is 'follow copy.' HARRY O'N."

I am continually refusing (sometimes with terrible heartache) to ask for salaried work. It is impossible to throw open our Corner to such appeals. But the exception which proves the strength of the rule comes to the front here. We got a typewriter for this one of our shut-in members. What is he to do with it?

Readers and members will pardon the question and take it off my hands and conscience. What can we, as a whole and individually, do for this young fellow?

Needs a Typewriter.

"I want to tell you of a poor woman who takes care of the halls in flats. She is a widow and is trying to send one of her daughters through business college. The girl needs a second hand typewriter very much. Do you think you could get one for her by asking through your very interesting Corner? I thought perhaps some one would have one he or she would gladly loan or donate to a worthy cause. The woman works very hard and is very deserving. MRS. JOHN S. R."

I hold the mother's address in the fond hope of getting it into other keeping ere long.

Chapter of Good Done.

"Many cases of destitution and sadness have reached me direct from your office, either letters written by you to your constituents, or through articles published in your Corner concerning the work of the Children's Day association. I have thought each week that the next one would not be such a busy one, and that I should write you the results of some of the interesting cases that have come to us from your Corner. But, alas! they have multiplied until it seems almost impossible to give you a faint idea.

"Permit me to say, however, that not one case has reached us that has not been thoroughly investigated, and this is our 'EMERGENCY.' Will the pessimist think it rather strange that not one case in which a mother has written to you, saying she wanted something to do whereby she might keep her children, but has proved to be wholly worthy? Those who asked for information as to how to find homes for their children, claiming they could not support them, proved in each instance to be shallow creatures who felt the duties of motherhood a burden instead of a pleasure.

"I am going to give you a brief history of some of the cases.

"One widow with a baby 13 months old asked the Corner for a high chair. The request came to me. I found the woman was employed in a home where she slept, or reposed rather, on a hard leather couch, such as is used in an office. The baby rested at night in a small [illegible]. For three months this little mother and baby had not had one night's good rest. An advertisement, costing $1.85, in THE TRIBUNE secured a position as housekeeper for a woman in a home with two brothers and a motherless little girl of 7, at $5 per week, and a good home for herself and baby, and a place to sleep.

"Another interesting case was that of a mother left a widow in a distant city with children, the oldest 9 and the youngest a baby of 7 months. At the time she applied to you for guidance she had been staying with relatives by marriage, until she felt she could no longer partake of their hospitality. You referred her to the Children's Day association. Her case was investigated the same day, and emergency aid given. She was told to find suitable rooms, and the report came back, twenty hours afterward, that she had found rooms. A special delivery letter was sent her with a check to pay the rent.

"The members of the association interested themselves, and by the time she reached her little home-to-be, the following day, five chairs, some furniture, a few small rugs, a bed, and some other small articles were already in the rooms. Other pieces of furniture were procured, and one of the happiest mothers I have ever beheld graces that home. It cost the association, all told, $54 to place this family on a self-supporting basis, and still other good things were in store for her. A young brother came from another city, secured employment, and is paying $6 per week for room and board. With her own income she is now well cared for.

"Another case that is most interesting from many standpoints is that of a mother who applied to you for infants' apparel. The [illegible] of the association was absent on her vacation. A check was mailed to this woman to purchase some, as we had no clothing on hand. What was our surprise a few days later, when the check was returned, with a beautiful letter explaining that through what seemed divine providence, she had been offered a good position in the country with her baby. Her own words were: 'I herewith inclose the check so kindly sent that it may be used for the needs of some other anxious poor mother who [illegible] has not the prospect of employment.'

"I trust that we may have many more such reports to give you. M. G. F."

Laura Jean Libbey's Comment and Advice.

Mutual Attraction.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1912: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

WHENEVER I hear a man remark that affection is on the wane I am sure to find in him a man who is wedded to one whom he considers an uncongenial mate, or, a callow youth who has not gotten past the primer of life; yet he is sure that he knows all about the book of fate. If every one knew that he, or she, would be sure to come in contact with the right one at 20 years of age, he or she would consider it the only thing to do—to marry there and then. This would settle the great question of life at once and forever. At this stage of life a man may be attracted toward a young girl, but he may fail to find favor in the girl's eyes. It requires mutual attraction to inspire love and the wish to marry. It is not the intention of the Creator that each man should meet the one woman who is to fill his heart, in the same way, at the same time or place.

One man loves and weds at two and twenty. Another has his family half reared at 35. While yet other men successfully elude the maneuvers of Cupid until they are well past 40. Such a man may go through life still further on the bachelor path, and he cannot feel sure but at the next turn in his path, 'ere another birthday has dawned, that he will not come face to face with the one woman in the world whom he would at last care to wed. It is this mutual attraction that solves the all important question for him. Those who are intended for each other will be drawn together, though the whole wide world lies between them.

There never was a heart created but what there was a mate for it. They could not go through the length of life without being attracted towards each other. If friends or relatives are able to talk a man out of the notion that he's in love, he is not attracted toward her sufficiently to marry her. The trouble is that many people in life trust to spurious influences. It may be years before they find out that this is not the real attraction which makes for true happiness and the welding of two hearts that shall beat as one.

He's Kind to Her.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a widow by divorce, have been going with a gentleman off and on since being divorced. He dearly loves me and would do anything for me I ask him to; he is very kind to me. I like him, but can't say I love him. He has asked me to get married. Would you think I could learn to love him when he would continue being so good to me? ANXIOUS."

No; don't marry him unless you love him. You have had one failure. Guard against another.

She's "Dying" to See Him.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am deeply in love with a man 20. He works every night and he told me to call him up, but is never at home. I dropped him cards, but he seldom answers them. I am dying to see him. I know he loves me dearly, for he has already confessed his love for me. He told me I was the only girl he ever loved. What shall I do? I am dying with a broken heart. What shall I do to win him back? WORRIED."

If he loves you what do you have to win him back for? If he doesn't answer your cards don't send them.

He's Quite Popular.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a fairly good looking gentleman of 25 and am quite popular among my friends. I have no steady lady friend, but there is a young lady I have been acquainted with for quite a few years and she is practically the only girl I would care to keep company with, that is for a steady. But now she has a friend at present, but I am sure I could beat his time, but a friend of mine told me that I would be doing entirely wrong by cutting that fellow out, and for that reason I wish to have your advice as to whether it is right or wrong. D. J. B."

No; go ahead and win the girl if you can.

Has "the Dearest Mother."

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have the dearest mother that ever lived and I think the world of her. As I am the only one she has, she naturally thinks the same of me. I have been engaged for over a year to a young man whom I love most dearly. On account of his actions in the first place he did not impress my folk as being the one for me, and they are afraid I shall not be happy. He now is sorry and knows he did not do what was right to a certain extent. He says he cannot give me up, etc., and wants to be friendly with all. Whenever I mention him or talk about him it seems to make my mother feel bad, as she says he has caused her many unhappy hours. I take most of the blame, but I do not know if she will ever think different. I do not know what in the world to do, because I love them both the same, and my one wish would be to see them friends. NATHALIE."

I think I should take plenty of time to consider before marrying the man. There must be something wrong with him or your mother would not object to him so. At any rate, it will mean strained relations between them always.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

The Right Idea of Beauty.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright: 1912: By Lillian Russell.]

YOU can have the most beautiful hair and eyes on earth, and if one is unkempt and the other tear dimmed the whole effect will pass you by. A young woman wrote me in a letter yesterday that she would like to be beautiful if she did not have to "waste time and money or anything else on it." It is quite as impossible to obtain beauty as it is to obtain anything else of worth unless you work and think about it. You cannot use a jar of cold cream, powder, or rouge upon your face and expect to turn yourself out immediately a beauty of the first water.

If you show me a girl or a woman who is considered beautiful I will show you a woman who is careful of the slightest detail of her costume, her grooming, and her thoughts.

Remember: If you really desire beauty you will work until you obtain it.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

V. R.: If you will practice deep breathing, take plenty of exercise, and abstain from desserts, pastries, and greasy foods I think you will find your cheeks will become rosy. I don't understand just what you mean by something that will whiten the face. Do you want a powder that will whiten it temporarily or a cream that will do the work more slowly but more effectually?

M. B.: There is nothing that will turn the hair white. You will just have to possess your soul in patience until your "Joseph's coat" turns from "something of shreds and patches" to beautiful cloth of silver.

L. H.: If you will go to sleep with your mouth tightly closed and practice breathing entirely through the nose you will find that you do not snore. Most people only snore when they lie on their backs, which shows that their mouths are more apt to be open when they lie in this position. The only real cure for snoring is to impress it upon your mind the last thing before you go to sleep that you will keep your mouth shut.

E. R.: You are troubled with pyorrhea—a serious affection of the gums. I should go to the dentist immediately; otherwise it will be impossible to save your teeth.

Stories Told of R. T. Crane.

Crane's Treatment of Men Made His Business Great.

RICHARD T. CRANE was more than the "boss" of his 10,000 employés; he was their friend. He treated his workers like human beings. In return his extraordinary man handling policy brought added efficiency, loyalty, and permanency. These enabled him to build an $18,000,000 corporation, which of late years has expanded rapidly.

An example of Mr. Crane's policy of advancing employés, a system which was rewarded with a deep loyalty, is shown in the following incident:

While the chief was away a new salesman was hired for an important open territory. By house rule some member of the organization should have been advanced. The requirements of the situation and the stranger's equipment dovetailed so perfectly that the exception was made. No available man in the field was in this fellow's class. Logic assigned the job to him, and his success was extraordinary.

Returning, the ironmaster's eye singled out the recruit's name on the pay roll.

"Who is this man?" he asked. "Why was he hired?"

They told him. The business emergency, the outsider's fitness, and the dearth of house material.

"You tried no one?"

This was admitted, but the lieutenants pointed out that this was an opportunity to add to the force a creative business getter, and they called attention to what he had accomplished. Instantly came Mr. Crane's decision.

"Get rid of him. Be fair in settling with him. Help him to a new connection, and make it clear why he is leaving us, but get rid of him. That job belongs to one of our men. Who is in line for it?"

This was the policy which built a manufacturing and selling organization remarkable for efficiency and individual initiative and company spirit.

"Civil service rules prevail throughout this house," Mr. Crane explained many times. "No stranger is to be given the place some one already in our employ can fill. Everyday efficiency is to count as proof of fitness and capacity to administer larger trusts."

Finishing its fiftieth year in 1905 the Chicago shops and offices mustered forty-two employés in harness from twenty-five to forty years, and several families were represented by three generations of workers.

His campaign against higher education kept Mr. Crane in the public eye. He spent thousands of dollars investigating conditions at universities in the middle west and the east. His published accounts of the results of these often developed into controversies with the presidents of the attacked institutions.

Mr. Crane has told that his schooling did not extend above that received by the child in the fourth or fifth grades in the grammar schools. He spent the first few years of his life on a farm and only went to school when there was nothing else to keep him from it. When he was only 9 years old he began to work in a spinning mill in New Jersey. There was no more schooling after that.

Mr. Crane applied his ideas on education to his business. Boys, who must be at least 16 years old, were his raw material. They are required to have a common school education, reputations free from vice, meanness, and dishonesty. Character and capacity are tested in a strict school. "Getting the right boy is the basis of our organization," Mr. Crane had said. "If we hire the wrong boy at the start we waste our training on a drone, or ultimately advancing him, get a bad executive. Our plan is to catch them young, to train them to our methods, to develop their initiative, and how to work and think in our way."

The head of the company always insisted that department heads train men below them to familiarity with the duties of their offices.

"I will not have a man who is overimportant," he once said. "I don't want one who cannot go away for six months, if necessary, without injury to the business. The man is a failure who hasn't the courage and ability to choose strong men as his aids and to train them to take his place."

Mr. Crane evolved an extraordinary system of rules—the latest numbered around [illegible]. They embody the crystallized experience of the company. Whenever an error was made the "boss" issued a rule to correct it and prevent its recurrence. These rules have become unconscious habits of the employés.

To educate the boys in his employ Mr. Crane organized development classes, in which the backward are taught in the "three R's." Another class gives older employés instruction. Monthly tests in progress and competence are held, and from the high men are chosen men for promotions.

Mr. Crane believed the efficient organization has the minimum of changes. So basic is the idea of continuity that men not likely to remain long in his employ were not hired.

A plan of dividing profits with employés was put into operation ten years ago by Mr. Crane. For the first three years employés received at Christmas time 5 per cent of the total amount of their year's salaries. Since 1905 they have been paid 10 per cent. Just before Christmas the Crane company distributed more than half a million dollars in profits among the employés. In explaining this plan, Mr. Crane said:

"More good will be accomplished than by spending large sums, as some people do, in other directions. While the gift is governed by the spirit of kindliness, I am not blind to the fact that it is in the nature of a good investment. I believe in profit sharing as a business principle. No greater incentive to the employé can exist than the fairness which goes beyond the wage contract."

A tribute was paid to Mr. Crane yesterday by Peter Botham, superintendent of the "heavy work" iron foundry, who has been with the company perhaps longer than any other employé. "I lost my dearest friend in the death of Mr. Crane—'Father' Crane, we called him. I began to work for him when I left the army in 1865. I started as a [illegible] and there was less than 300 men employed at the time. As long as I have been with the company I never had an altercation with him. Few men can say as much after a service of forty-six years. He was more of a friend than an employer."

MUSICIAN HONORS HIS CHICAGO KIN

Ferrari, Composer of "Jewels of Madonna," Dedicates His First Work to Relatives.

WEDS AMERICAN GIRL.

Marriage Led Him to Take Up Music in Preference to Painting.

Ermano Wolf Ferrari, composer of "The Jewels of the Madonna" and "The Secret of Susanne," who will arrive in Chicago this morning, wrote one of his early works in honor of an aunt and uncle who for forty-five years have been residents of this city. The uncle is Fred W. Wolf, head of a manufacturing concern at 827 Rees street, who lives at 345 Fullerton parkway.

In Mr. and Mrs. Wolf's house are many paintings from the hand of the musician's father. He destined his son also for this art. But before early manhood Ermano decided to abandon the palette for his present vocation.

Even as a youth he had been a composer. When a 14 year old boy he visited with nephews and nieces at the home of an aunt in Bayreuth. The young folks amused themselves by holding a competition in composition. The prize was awarded without opposition to young Ermano's production. The juvenile work is now by critics considered a worthy predecessor of his more mature creations. It is printed and on the title page appears: "Meinem Onkel Friedrich und Tante Anna gewidmet" (dedicated to my Uncle Fred and Aunt Anna).

Declines Uncle's Proposition.

Some years afterward, the pianolas became a commercial success the astute Uncle Fred thought that he could return the courtesy of his nephew by poining out a big profit to him. Mr. Wolf wrote his nephew to send him some music suitable for pianola rolls. He added that he expected to be able to transfer a neat sum of money from Chicago pockets to his nephew's by the transaction. The artist, however, declined the offer with thanks.

Marries an American Girl.

Ferrari is essentially a cosmopolitan. He was born in Venice. His father is German and sent him to Munich to study. There he met an American girl student, Miss Clara Kilian of New York, who attended the Academy of Music. Soon after the introduction to the American girl he wrote to his father in Rome, saying that studying music with the fair New Yorker was the most inspiring happiness conceivable and that the brush could not compare with it. Shortly after the two were married.

WIDOW OF RABBI ADLER DIES.

Was Preparing to Attend Centenary Celebration of Late Husband's Birth Next Saturday.

Mrs. Zerline Adler, who was to have been the central figure at a celebration of the centenary of the birth of her late husband, Rabbi Liebman Adler, Saturday evening, died on Monday at her residence, 5221 Michigan avenue. She was 89 years old.

The Kehilath Anshe Mayriv, of which Dr. Adler was the head from 1861 until his death in 1892, was to conduct the celebration with the coöperation of the Rabbinical association. Among the speakers listed were Dr. Joseph Stolz, Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, and Rabbi Tobias Schanfarber.

Mrs. Adler's death caused an indefinite postponement of the celebration. Many of those who had planned to attend it will be at the widow's funeral at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, from the K. A. M. temple. Of seven children eight survive—Hannah, Abraham, Jacob, Celia, Emanuel, and Isaac Adler, Mrs. Leah Weisel, and Mrs. Della Stein.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE C. LEMON, a member of the board of trade since 1867, died yesterday at the residence of his son, George, 9 North Sheridan avenue, at the age of 82 years. He was born at Bruno, Ind., and came to Chicago in 1867 and opened a grain store, becoming a member of the board of trade. He retired from active business in 1891. He is survived by a widow, three sons, and a daughter.

PETER J. MULVANEY, general foreman of the registry division of the Chicago postoffice, appointed Nov. 7, 1865, died Monday at his home, 1619 Glenlake avenue, of pneumonia. Mr. Mulvaney, although ill since Dec. 15, would not "absent" himself because of the stress of work due to the Christmas mail. He was born Feb. 3, 1866. A widow and five children survive him.

L. GASTON GOTTSCHALK, 942 Eastwood avenue, former grand opera singer, who died Sunday of heart disease, will be buried this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the chapel of the Western Casket company, Michigan avenue and Randolph street.

Music and Drama

Notes of the Opera.

"The Tales of Hoffmann" was repeated last night at the opera, the cast being unchanged, save in the last act, where Mme. Zeppilli replaced Miss Teyte as Antonia. Mr. Warnery was the poet, Mme. Dufau the mechanical doll, and Miss White the Giulietta.

Mme. Schumann-Heink arrived late yesterday afternoon to rehearse for her appearance as Ortrude in tonight's performance of "Lohengrin." A detailed rehearsal was not necessary for her, however, and she contented herself with looking over the important scenes with Conductor Szendrei.

Ermanno Wolf-Ferrari, the composer of the opera, "I Giojelli Della Madonna," which is scheduled for its American premiere Friday evening, will arrive in Chicago this morning. He will be the guest of Mr. Andreas Dippel during his stay in Chicago.

A "galla" performance is planned for the evening of Friday, Jan. 19, at the opera. Owing to the length of the program the performance will begin at the unusual hour of 7:45 o'clock. Mme. Gerville-Reache and Mr. Guardabassi will present the second act from "Samson et Dalila" as the opening number. Little Miss Galli and the ballet will give several selections from her repertory as a second number. Mme. White, Miss Riegelman, and Mr. Sammarco will then present the third act from "The Marriage of Figaro"; Miss Garden and Mr. Whitehill, the big scene from "Thais"; Mrs. Osborn-Hannah, Mr. Dalmores, and Mr. Whitehill, a scene from "Lohengrin"; Mrs. Frease-Green and Mr. Bassi, a scene from "Il Trovatore," and Miss Garden, Mr. Dufranne, and the ensemble, the third act from "The Juggler of Notre Dame." More dances by Miss Galli and the first act from "The Tales of Hoffmann" will conclude the evening's offerings.

There will be a special matinée performance of "Cinderella" today at 2 o'clock, with Mme. Zeppilli in the title rôle. Otherwise the cast will remain unchanged, Miss Garden again impersonating the prince, Mme. Dufau the fairy, and Mr. Dufranne the father. The proceeds of the performance will go to the Chicago Home for Boys.

Theatrical Notes.

After Miss Marie Cahill's engagement of two weeks in "The Opera Ball" at the Garrick, beginning Sunday night, Miss Marie Dressler will appear at that theater in "Tillie's Nightmare."

Preceding the season of the Drama Players, which begins Feb. 5 at the Lyric, the Lombardi Italian grand opera company and Laurance D'Orsay in "The Earl of Pawtucket," will play engagements there of one week each. The run of "The Kiss Waltz" will end next week.

There will be no Sunday performances of "Bunty Pulls the Strings" at the Princess. Three matinées will be given weekly, however, on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays.

Miss Sylva will remain three weeks longer at the Chicago Opera house in "Gypsy Love." Feb. 4 Walker Whiteside will produce "The Typhoon" at the Chicago.

Miss Fola La Follette and Mrs. Felix Morris will be among those employed in Percy Mackaye's "The Scarecrow" when Frank Reicher presents that play at Powers' next week.

The name of Miss Rachel Crothers' play soon to be produced by Miss Viola Allen, has been changed from "He and She" to "The Herefords."

Miss Elgie Bowen has left the cast of "The Spring Maid" and she will be succeeded by Miss Ann Tasker on Thursday evening.

FINDS PROFIT IN 'TICKET SCALPING'

Receiver for H. N. Waterfall, Inc., Cuts Commissions in Half; Still Makes Money.

FIRM WENT BANKRUPT.

President Declares "Expenses" Overran Income; Landis Orders Thorough Report.

The United States government has demonstrated how to conduct a "ticket scalping" business on a small margin of profit and make money in the conduct of the business of H. N. Waterfall, Inc., "theater ticket scalpers."

The government receiver is making money on a profit of 25 cents on each ticket, according to Frank McKey, the receiver, although Harry N. Waterfall, president of the company, upon examination by attorneys before Referee in Bankruptcy Eastman yesterday declared that he could not make money even though his profits ranged from 50 cents to $2 a ticket.

A complete report of the conduct of "ticket scalping" by the Waterfall corporation will be made and presented to Judge Landis, following his orders.

LETTER, IF FOUND, MAY SHOW CAUSE FOR NURSE'S SUICIDE.

Miss Baugh Posted Message Just Before Killing Herself—Boy Tells of "Leap Year" Story.

A letter written and posted by Miss Dorothy Baugh a few hours before her death last Monday night may reveal the reason why the young woman took her life, if the police are able to learn to whom it was addressed. Miss Baugh, who was chief nurse at the Lake View hospital, killed herself by swallowing alcohol and carbolic acid. General melancholia was the verdict given by a coroner's inquest yesterday.

At the inquest the 10 year old son of Miss Baugh's landlady said the nurse had told him that as it is leap year she intended to propose to a young man and to kill herself if she was not accepted. He also said she had written and posted a letter just before her death. Other nurses at the hospital declared that Miss Baugh was not known to have a love affair and expressed doubt regarding the boy's story.

Another theory that Miss Baugh killed herself while despondent as the result of her widowed mother's remarriage was dispelled by her brother, who came from Decatur, Ill.

EFFICIENCY AND TAXES.

At least Bartzen's recommendation to do away with the efficiency division of his civil service department is genuine. Anything that suggests efficiency or the possibility of efficiency has no place in a Bartzenized government.

Meanwhile Mr. Hewitt's articles on the repair contracts at Oak Forest and the efficiency displayed by Bartzen's official architect are commended to taxpayers of either Democratic or Republican persuasion. If the people of Cook county like to be taxed to maintain Bartzenized, inflated pay rolls and Bartzenized public works they are entitled to enjoy that luxury. But they need not do it with their eyes shut.

AN ANNOYING MISTAKE.

Our honored friend, Mr. William Randolph Hearst, getting into a position from which he might be able to command a general observation of Col. Roosevelt, says:

"The man is a very harlequin of politics, capering forward and backward and sideways over every conflicting quarter of the political stage, masked as to his real opinion and intention, attired in a tinsel patchwork of opposing principles, carrying not a big stick but a slapstick with which to make much noise and do no service, appearing unexpectedly through every trap door of opportunity, and disappearing acrobatically through every open window of time serving expediency."

Our honored friend is the victim of an annoying little mistake. He did not notice that the glass through which he thought he was observing Col. Roosevelt had a coating of quicksilver on the other side.

RICHARD T. CRANE.

Mr. Richard T. Crane, dead at the age of 79 years, was of the American type which uses brains, determination, and physical vigor to build up a fortune, attain distinction, and acquire authority. We have discarded the descriptive phrase "a self-made man," but we continue to recognize the genius of men who throw themselves into the work of the world and by the force of their own natural ability take the best of what it has to offer. Mr. Crane was one of these.

His services to the public were numerous. The most conspicuous was not found in his opposition to universities and training schools. His own experience had prepared him to assess lightly the value of certain kinds of education, and his observation strengthened his belief that time was wasted and money misapplied in modern schools. He supported his theories so vigorously as to spread his reputation over the country. His opposition to educational methods may have brought some benefits to educators, but this was not Mr. Crane's greatest service. He was most useful as a citizen of Chicago, contributing to its progress and prosperity.

INTERIOR PROBLEMS.

The report of Secretary of the Interior Fisher is a strong presentation of practical conservation proposals. Secretary Fisher is a constructive administrator who believes that conservation does not mean stagnation, but progress; that conserving our national resources means using them—and using them wisely.

The proposal of a national trunk line railway to develop Alaska is probably sound and farsighted. Private capital cannot be expected to go into such a project without very heavy returns, and as the domain has special conditions as to location, climate, etc., it seems wise to give public assistance. Alaska has agricultural possibilities in some regions and settlement should be encouraged. The leasing system under proper regulation and with the suggested reservation of coal for our naval use should make it possible for Alaska to begin a natural growth at once, free from the danger of corporation control.

The suggestion that Alaskan affairs be placed in the hands of a commission during this first period of development is likewise worthy of consideration and probably of adoption.

THE TRIBUNE repeatedly has urged upon congress adequate provision for superannuated government employes and heartily supports the secretary's recommendation on this point. If we are to attract and retain the right sort of men for the public service we must provide for them against old age.

As to the need for a prompt and statesmanly treatment of the water power question throughout the United States there can be no question. Whether there is any shadow of hope for such treatment until after election will be sadly doubted. However, Secretary Fisher has done well to call attention again to this problem, to point out that "there is no necessary conflict between state and nation in a rightly considered water power policy," and to urge the prompt adoption of such a policy and the passage of necessary legislation. Congress should set the example to the states.

COL. BRYAN AND COL. GUFFEY.

It may not flatter Col. James M. Guffey of Pennsylvania, but certainly it keeps him interested that Col. Bryan should select him as the arch type of undesirable Democrat. The Nebraska colonel has had his little fling with Murphy of New York, with Roger C. Sullivan of Illinois, and with various other enemies of the republic at various times. He has chided them, scolded them, spanked them, remonstrated with them, sought to improve them, and has hoped that they would be better boys, but persistently he sticks to his Guffey.

In spite of the Pennsylvania colonel's personal amiability he presents to the Nebraska colonel's patriotic vision a particularly obnoxious type of Democrat, a type which seeks control of party machinery in a state completely dominated by the Republican party, and uses that control only as it may be of value to brother barons on the other side politically or to enterprises in which large corporations have a valuable stake.

Col. Bryan has selected Col. Guffey as the symbol of what he wants the Democratic party to rid itself. For a year or more our honored friend, Col. Sullivan, filled Col. Bryan's eye thus menacingly, but whether it was because the Nebraska colonel found it impossible to remain angry long with our amiable friend, or whether it was because he saw signs of repentance in that hardened corporation soul, he gave over the fight against our prominent gas and biscuit manufacturer and took on Col. Guffey as an opponent.

At one time Col. Guffey was affectionate, and as a timid token of his esteem he made bold to offer the Nebraska colonel a handsome stained glass window for Fairview, his residence. Col. Bryan had the window, or windows, put in, but the amenities, if not the glass, soon were broken. It was noticed that as the time for the opening of the national convention of 1908 came nearer a controversy between the two colonels became violent. Suddenly it became painfully acerb. Afterwards it was learned that Col. Bryan had requested Col. Guffey to send him a bill for the stained glass. It may easily be that there is a bit of personal rancor in the political war.

Col. Bryan had his way with Col. Guffey. Emotional statesmen such as our honored gas and biscuit manufacturer and the Hon. Urey Woodson of Kentucky, the Hon. Thomas Taggart of Indiana, and even the Hon. Norman E. Mack of New York turned aside to hide the unmanly tear, but Col. Bryan hurled Col. Guffey off the national committee. This triumph was all too short. The man in whose interests Col. Bryan had made the fight died and the triumphant Democracy of Pennsylvania elected Col. Guffey again.

Col. Bryan's fight before the national committee Monday was to persuade that body to reject the choice of Pennsylvania and to seat the contestant put forward by the progressive Democracy of the state. It failed. The emotional statesmen, all friends of Col. Guffey, declined to weep again.

Guffey serves Bryan as an illustration of what he wants cut out of the party. Our gas and biscuit manufacturer so served him once. The Nebraska colonel must have some one to whom he may point as a representative of the powers which do not make for good.

SPEAKING of cold weather, as most of us are doing, do you remember that winter of 1887-'88?

AS IF to atone for the apparent lack of enthusiasm over Andrew Jackson day, the mercury rose several degrees.

DOUBTLESS it has occurred to you, while gazing at portraits of Editor Bok, that he would look much better if he wore a full beard.

UNDER its new management the valued New York Sun appears to need too much room for society news to be able to devote a column to chess.

BACK of that castiron countenance of his the Hon. Woodrow Wilson probably is indulging in tumultuous thoughts concerning a man who will make public the contents of a private letter.

IT does not follow, however, that Col. Roosevelt would have fallen over himself to accept an invitation to a war banquet.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Plain as Could Be.

"Maw, I've come across a word that I can't pronounce."

"Spell it, dear."

"G, e, o, m, o, r, p, h, y."

"Why, that's a proper noun—Geo. Morphy. Pay more attention to what you are reading, and don't bother me again."

His Nose Sensitive Now.

"Mister," plaintively began the hobo, "won't ye please——"

"You're Wareham Long, aren't you?" interrupted Fellaire—formerly Rusty Rufus—eyeing him sharply.

"Yes'r, but I don't seem to know——"

"Doesn't make any difference who I am; I know you well enough. Old chap, I'll give you a dollar, on one condition."

"Wot's that?"

"That you'll stand on the leeward side of me while you talk. That's right. Now go ahead with your hard luck story."

Making a Star Play.

The attorney for the defense arose to address the jury.

"Gentlemen," he said, "in all this testimony to which you have listened so patiently there is not one——"

Then he paused, and the jurors braced themselves. They knew what was coming. Or they thought they knew.

The attorney for the defense resumed:

"There is not one particle of evidence against my client!"

Then the jurors breathed more freely and looked at one another with a glad smile.

He had not said "scintilla."

As to Papa's Wealth.

"Mamma, what is papa worth?"

"I don't know, dear, but it must be a great deal. I heard him say once that he had put $100,000 into a mining company's stock."

"What's the name of the mining company?"

"Wildcat, I think he said. I presume they named it that because it's in some unsettled country away out on the frontier."

How to Keep Well, By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit or the subject is not suitable letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

PNEUMONIA IN THE AGED.

THERE are three groups of people who are especially afraid of pneumonia—drunkards, fat people, and the aged. Of the first two I intend to write next week when discussing colds. The relation of old age to pneumonia is the subject of this article.

In Chicago in 1909 pneumonia (called by four different names) was responsible for 16 per cent of all deaths. During that year 1,163 people over 80 years of age died from all causes, and 232, or 20 per cent, of these died from pneumonia. The death rate from pneumonia among those over 80 is therefore 4 per cent higher than the general pneumonia death rate.

There are estimated to be 95,200 children under 2 years of age in Chicago, of whom about 1,800 die from pneumonia in a year—about 1.9 per cent. There are 4,980 people over 80 years of age in Chicago, of whom nearly 5 per cent die from pneumonia each year.

The three most important disease groups of the old, named in the order of their importance, as shown by statistics, are, first, diseases of the heart and blood vessels; second, pneumonia, bronchitis, and colds; third, diseases of the kidneys.

The old man's fear of pneumonia is justified. Why?

The susceptibility of old people to infections is very low. As a result of their life experiences they have practically become immune to typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox, consumption, and the general run of bacterial diseases. They cannot catch anything much except pneumonia and colds, and, considering everything, they are not very prone to catch those.

The reason they should fear colds is not because they are exceptionally subject to them, but rather because colds "go very hard" with them. Their heart muscles are weak—as are all their muscles—and when the lungs get solid and the extra work of pushing blood through more solid tissue is put on the flabby heart muscle, it is not equal to the load.

To avoid colds the old must follow these rules:

They must dress warmly enough. Their arteries have not the old time carrying capacity and their feet and hands get cold easily. In addition, they are not as good heat makers as they were. They must keep out of hot places. Properly wrapped, they must stay in the open air just as much as possible, but, on the other hand, they must not stay so long nor be so poorly wrapped that they get chilled through.

They must go to bed with the slightest of colds. They must keep away from people with colds. If they have been accustomed to cold water or air baths they can keep these up so long as they react well, but they must not let their pride keep them up after the power to react is lost.

Pneumonia is like a wolf that cuts down those who do not have a good hold on the life line. Such are found at the ends—the young—the old.

CURE OF INSOMNIA.

O. C. B. writes: "Dr. Evans and others have some very good general rules for overcoming insomnia, one of which is the repetition of familiar pieces of prose or poetry. Let me give some concrete illustrations. Many persons think the frequent repetition of the paternoster in Latin or in a mother tongue will soothe the perturbed and worried spirits and bring refreshing slumber. Catholics and Protestants alike believe that this great petition leads the soul into closer relationship and communion with the infinite God and will cause peaceful sleep. But perhaps the unbeliever would say that any rhythmic prose or poetry would have the same effect. Very well. Let him repeat again and again, in a measured manner, James Hogg's charming poem beginning:

"Bird of the wilderness,
Blithesome and cumberless,
Sweet be thy matin o'er moorland and lea!
Emblem of happiness,
Blest by thy dwelling place:
O to abide in the desert with thee."

Or he may take Longfellow's poem, the first and last stanzas of which are:

"The day is done, and the darkness
Falls from the wings of night
As a feather is wafted downward
From an eagle in his flight.

And the night shall be filled with music
And the cares that infest the day
Shall fold their tents like the Arabs
And as silently steal away."

REPLY.

The cure of insomnia comes from relief of mental tension. Worry for fear one will not sleep is a most important cause. Reciting the paternoster, or some poetry would be of great service.

TROUBLED WITH NOSE BLEED.

A Friend writes: "Will you kindly inform me if nose bleed indicates any serious malady for a woman between the ages of 45 and 55. What is the cause? She is under the care of a specialist. He told me it was not serious a year ago. But now she has another attack, not so serious. What remedy is there?"

REPLY.

Nose bleed usually does not indicate any serious condition. If your physician finds so serious trouble as a basis for it, you need not worry. Pressing the nostrils firmly together, while leaning forward and breathing through the mouth will stop nose bleed. If this fails, have a physician plug the nostrils.

CAUSE OF BAD BREATH.

Mrs. R. writes: "Would you consider it sanitary for a father having a bad breath to clean his teeth by using the drinking cup, dipping the brush in the cup, where there is a family of five using this cup for drinking purposes?"

REPLY.

No, though the bad breath makes no essential difference. Bad breath is due to absorption of putrefaction gases from the intestinal tract, or decaying matter in the nose or tonsils. But as to your question, again, no.

GIFFORD, THAT WAS FORESTER, SPEAKS:
I found him in the ricochet of balls;
I gained his presence time and time again
When ministers, ambassadors, and envoys
Extraordinary cooled their heels without.
I marked his footsteps in the Mall; and climbed
With him the rocky slopes which lined the stream
And led us to the vale of that old churl
Called Cabin John; eluded with him squires
Of watchful Wilkie, master of the plots
Of men. And so we planned and dreamed; and with Gesticulation, hearty laugh, and rude
Contempt of precedent, we battled for
The commonweal of you and your descendants.
But in the ways of his successor do
I find him not. Ah me! It is as though
Some greater power had found its might, and brought Confusion to our work, and left us gagged
With precedent and bound with sheepskin gyve:
Till the electorate awake and know
Their peril, and their leader put again
In place of power to rout the foes of progress.
Or else as if the game were wholly vain,
And we had done our work for naught, and lost
The fight, and passed, and died; and left the field
To private power, aggrandizement, and greed.

WE came downtown Monday evening on an I. C. express that was 50 minutes late and returned home on the 11:20 express, which reached Hyde Park at 11:52. Similar experiences fell to our lot half a dozen years ago, when we commuted on the New Haven road, but with the electrification of that railway delays disappeared. Zero weather has no effect on electricity.

THE New Haven road might have chosen the third rail, but preferred to experiment with the overhead alternating current, and the experiment succeeded. The storage battery is an advance, and the I. C. should select that, if there is assurance that it will work.

ANYBODY will put up with breakdowns and delays if the road is trying to keep abreast with or ahead of the times, but to be stalled in an antiquated, hot weather vehicle on a cold night leads to profanity and vexation of spirit.

MARINE NOTE.

Again the tide of love has overflown the shores of time and with its receding, two prominent and esteemed young couples have been enveloped in its irresistible embrace and peacefully driven out upon the open sea of sacred matrimony.

SOME verses recently printed in this Stack of Blues, beginning: "Praise Hearst from whom all blessings flow," are reprinted in the San Pedro (Cal.) Daily News. With becoming reticence, the editor, Mr. John C. Wray, attributes the verses to Mr. John C. Wray. We note one or two changes. The line, "Humanity's unselfish friend," becomes "Humanity's most unselfish friend," but as this adds an extra foot we are not convinced that the change is for the better. Again, the last line, "A modest sweet white violet," becomes "A blooming, blushing, modest (?) violet," which leads us further to suspect that Mr. John C. Wray's lyrical and satirical senses are faulty. Still, if a man is attributing something to himself we suppose he is privileged to make what alterations he chooses.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1912: By the Brentwood Company.]

SIR EDWARD CARSON, a prey to dyspepsia and who is the most somber and saturnine looking man in British politics, is, at the present moment, perhaps the most important figure therein, by reason of his leadership of the almost fanatical opposition on both sides of St. George's channel to any form of Irish home rule, to everything in fact that can tend to repeal the union between Ireland and Great Britain.

Indeed, he is going to the length of inciting the adversaries of home rule in Great Britain, and more especially in Ireland, to resistance by force, if necessary, and challenged, at a meeting of the Ulster Orangemen's association, of which he is president, at Omagh in Ireland, on Thursday last, the government of the day to treat him as a rebel against the crown and to do its worst against him in the courts of law.

"He is an Irishman, both on the side of his father and his mother, the latter having been one of the Galway Lamberts. A graduate of Trinity college, Dublin, where he won fame as an athlete, he speaks with a rich and rather soft Dublin accent. He is tall, of the lanky, willowy order, and justifies the gibe of the flippant reporter who wrote that Sir Edward Carson "rose, at great length, to reply." He is the embodiment of the popular idea of Sherlock Holmes, having a thin, hatchet face, an extremely dark, sallow complexion, imperturable calm, and shares with Joseph Chamberlain the rare gift of making the tone of the voice and the facial expression intensify the bitterness of the spoken word.

He first made his name at the Irish bar, and then came prominently before the public as prosecutor for the crown in Ireland under the so-called crimes act, when Arthur Balfour was Irish secretary.

His experiences in those exciting times were of the most extraordinary description, and one of the strangest was the occasion when he was called upon to prosecute William O'Brien, M. P., I think, at Cork. Just as the case was about to open, a telegram from the government in cipher was put into his hand, instructing him to get the case postponed.

In spite of this, prompted by some intuition, he decided to take no notice of the instructions and to go on with the trial. His course won him no end of notice, for the telegram turned out to be a forgery, although how the senders managed to get hold of the government cipher and how they succeeded in forging the stamp of the telegraph office as they did—for the message never passed over the wires at all—no one ever found out.

Although Sir Edward Carson bore the brunt of the fighting in connection with the so-called crimes act, he received little or no reward.

Sir Edward's most memorable success at the English bar was his brilliant defense of the late Marquis of Queensberry, in the action for slander brought against him should ever have entertained any unkindly by Oscar Wilde, whom he virtually drove out of English life.

With a mother who belonged to one of the oldest county families of Galway and with a charming Irish wife, who belongs to another of these Galway clans, it is only natural that Sir Edward should be the champion par excellence of the Irish landlords.

While there may be many different opinions as to the eventual outcome of the fight against that Irish home rule, to which the present government stands committed and which has even been accepted in principle by a number of conservative statesmen, such as, for instance, Arthur Balfour, there is no doubt that the adversaries of the repeal of the union, alike in Ireland and in Great Britain, have in Sir Edward Carson, as their leader, an altogether remarkable man, daring, clever, alternately somber and gay, in turn fierce and gentle, magnetic, slightly mysterious, a perfect fanatic in some things, broad-minded to the extreme in others, extraordinarily quick witted, and gifted with a thoroughly Hibernian talent of repartee, as changeable as the Irish sky, and, in one word, with the complex temperament of the true Celt.

In view of Miss Ellen Stone's announcement from Chelsea, Mass., that having recovered her health, she is about to return to her educational work in Macedonia, where she was some ten years ago captured by brigands and carried off into mountain fastnesses until the heavy ransom of some $70,000, demanded for her release, had been paid, first by popular subscription, the subscribers later being reimbursed by congress, it would be well if the state department at Washington were to make public a notification similar to the one issued in 1908 by the English foreign office, to the effect that the British government would thenceforth decline to pay ransom for any British subject who had been captured by brigands in Morocco or in any other lawless or more or less barbarous country.

Until that time, as often as Britons had been captured by bandits, when picnicking on the plains of Marathon, while engaged on shooting expeditions in the interior of Albania and other portions of Turkey, in hunting trips in Morocco, in geographical explorations, in educational or missionary work in China and other parts of Asia and Africa the English government always had been required to pay the ransom, on the risky chance of recovering the amount from the potentate in whose dominions the outrage had taken place.

In many cases the British treasury had been unsuccessful in getting back the money in this fashion, the government concerned arguing that the people captured had gone there at their own risk, knowing full well that it was against the wishes of the local authorities, who had warned them that they could not guarantee their safety. The money, therefore, had usually to come out of the pocket of the British taxpayer.

Now there is no earthly reason why the taxpayers who stay at home should be called upon to pay ransom for some compatriot who, for his own amusement, for his own profit, or through some sense of self-ascribed duty, enters of his own accord a country infested by brigands. If he chooses to run the risk of capture by bandits, a risk of which he is perfectly well aware, he should accept the consequences.

Moreover, as long as it was known that the British government undertook to ransom any of its subjects who happened to be captured by foreign brigands, the latter had a potent inducement to kidnap and hold for ransom, lieges of the King of England.

In fact, there has been much less of this kidnaping of English by brigands, since it has become generally known that the British government would under no circumstances furnish the ransom. I may add that one never hears of any Italian or Greek, Spaniard or Portuguese being captured by Turkish or Moorish bandits, who know too well that it would be hopeless to expect anything in the shape of ransom from the governments to which their prisoners are subject.

Without in the least deprecating the sense of duty which leads Miss Stone to return to the scene of her capture and ransom some ten years ago she ought to be given thoroughly to understand that she goes at her own risk, that the United States government cannot undertake to protect her in the wilds of Macedonia, which is in a state of acknowledged lawlessness and rebellion, and that she must not expect that either the United States treasury or the people who put their hands into their pockets for her a decade ago will do so again.

The Friend of the People

AN ORDINANCE IS PENDING.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The writer, a subscriber of THE TRIBUNE and a resident of Hyde Park for over twenty years, writes to ask why the residents of Hyde Park cannot be favored with convenient street car transportation to equal the increased population of this section.

There is a space between Forty-seventh and Fifty-fifth streets that is provided for only by the Illinois Central railroad, which is unsurpassed transportation to the business center. But we have absolutely no way of getting to the interior streets of the boundary mentioned.

Please say if there is any prospect of a street car line that will enable us to transfer on any of the intersecting street car lines, such as Cottage Grove or Indiana avenue. By putting this inquiry before the proper authority you will receive the thanks of scores of Hyde Parkers and greatly oblige E. H.

An ordinance now is pending covering the extension of Lake avenue from Forty-seventh street to Fifty-fifth street.
CHICAGO CITY RAILWAY COMPANY.

COST EXCEEDS THE RENT.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I wish to concur in the efforts of "Principle" in your issue of Dec. 22, to have ashes removed from buildings of three flats or more by the city. I now pay $1.50 per month for having ashes removed from a six flat building. I have also just received notice of an assessment for paving an alley and a side street. Since May 1 I have spent in interest, insurance, coal, and repairs $141.61 more than I received in rents. The building occupies two lots. I pay taxes and assessments on two lots. Am I not entitled by city ordinance to have the ashes removed from four flats, or two-thirds of the ashes removed by the city? F. B. C.

PROSPECT FOR STREET SIGNS.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Why doesn't Chicago have street signs all over the city? When one is searching for a number in an unfamiliar part he often has to depend upon a passerby to know when he reaches the desired street. If there were legible signs at all street corners it would save much time and worry. I can't understand why Chicago should be so far behind almost every other city in this regard.
WM. C. DEAN.

Chicago has pleaded poverty as the reason for not putting signs on its streets. The Association of Commerce has spent $5,000 of its own money in labeling the loop streets, and this has shamed the corporation into putting an appropriation for this purpose in the budget. The sum is about half what is needed to sign all the streets of the city.

A SUGGESTION FOR "L" SIGNS.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Referring to Mr. Gustav L. Voss' letter of the 4th in regard to marking elevated stations, would suggest in addition to his plan the following: That the stations be marked with the distance north, south, or west, from the city base lines something in this manner. For instance the Northwestern station at Chicago avenue —800 north, 300 west.

South Side station at Twelfth street—1,200 south, 2 east.

Metropolitan station at Canal street—500 west, 300 south.

And so on, throughout all elevated lines to the end that the stranger within our gates may be able to find his way without trouble.
CHICAGOAN.

PAYMENT OF WATER [illegible]

Chicago, Jan. 3.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Why is it necessary for the [illegible] department of Chicago to address a bill to the owner of a house or flat building for water used simply "Owner or Occupant," with no name on the address at all?

The department leaves the proper delivery to the letter carrier, who, in many instances, is not informed as to who is the owner. There may be one or more families in the same building and the carrier is not sure that he is putting the bill in the box of the owner, who may not live in the building at all.

The trouble is that persons to whom these bills have been improperly delivered neglect to return or deliver them, and the owner, having received no bill, neglects to pay it within the discount limit and is mulcted into paying the excess.

Of course, we admit that every householder knows pretty well when to pay his bill, but the business world over, it is customary for a payee to get a bill, and the bill should be sent to him in his own name and to his correct address.

And while we are at it there ought to be no harm in asking the water department to make public the arrangement it has with an express corporation, by which the corporation has the postage on its advertisements paid by the city.

Does the said express company pay anything for this concession, if such it may be termed; if so, who gets the money? If the department is short of funds and is without means to hire help to write the names of patrons of the department on their bills, why not use the fund, if any, that the wealthy concessionaire ought to pay if it doesn't. J. L. G.

I desire to say that the ordinances governing the bureau of water provide that the water rates shall be paid by the "person owning or occupying, or in possession, charge, or control of such building, structure, or premises." If written [illegible] forms furnished by this office is made, [illegible] will be forwarded to any party in his or her name.

Regarding collections of bills by the United States Express company, will say that for more than fifteen years the United States Express company has been the authorized agent of the city of Chicago in the collection of water bills, for which concession this company furnishes to the bureau of water approximately 500,000 [illegible] per annum, used in inclosing water [illegible].

In addition to this, by virtue of the [illegible] of the United States Express company, the consumers are greatly convenienced by being able to pay at offices near to their homes, thus avoiding inconvenience of paying at the water office, which could not accommodate the public if all payments were to be made here only. W. J. McCOURT,
Superintendent of Water.

SEWERS IN THE SPRING.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am writing in regard to [illegible] ing of the district south of Forty-[illegible] street and east of Western avenue. The district is only two blocks square and all properties are surrounded with ditches of stagnant water. We have asked many and many a time to put in sewers, but of no avail. Western avenue sewer was put in last winter and we are paying special assessments for same, but it is not helping us in this district. The health department has been notified of conditions here but as long as this swamp is never drained. We have never been able to get any improvements here and are taxed as high as property with all improvements. Must we wait another twenty years more before the city realizes what a "beautiful and healthy" locality we are residing in? Hoping the city awakens, [illegible]

An assessment for a system of sewers in this district was confirmed a few weeks ago after a long delay in the courts. The contract has been let, but it is impossible to do the work under the present weather conditions. We expect to have these sewers built in the spring. C. D. HILL,
Engineer, Board of Local Improvements.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

DISCREDITS LA FOLLETTE'S REFORM INFLUENCE.

Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In a recent editorial you take it for granted that Senator La Follette's statements concerning the great benefits derived from the so-called reform laws in Wisconsin are correct.

Yours is a great newspaper, and as such has made many investigations in a fair and open minded way, and published the findings. If you will send a man into Wisconsin to investigate freight rates, passenger and freight service, I think you will find the rates higher and the service, without a doubt, the poorest we have had in twenty years. I think you will find that the railroads have conspired to give us the poorest freight and passenger service possible and still keep within the law. Send your investigator to the business organizations, including the Oshkosh chamber of commerce. Ask him to find out if practically all of the business interests of Wisconsin do not feel as though they were discredited and looked upon with suspicion for no other reason than that they are employing capital and labor, and are therefore unqualified to have an honest opinion.

Our much touted employé compensation law is not being accepted by employers of labor in any large number. Employers look upon it as an unfair law inasmuch as it makes all the loss fall on the employer, while the German law takes a part of the insurance from the workmen and part from the government.

I understand that the state of Washington has passed a law based on the German law. All employers I think agree that a law insuring to workmen compensation for injuries should be passed, but it should guard against fraud, which the Wisconsin law encourages. It should be passed for the economic and social benefit of all, not purely for politicians, as was the Wisconsin law.

In investigating laws affecting industry in Wisconsin I think you should go to the men engaged in industry and not to professors and politicians. Old maids can tell how to raise children and men who never did any business are prompt to tell and legislate how it should be done. G. A. BUCKSTAFF.

STOP SMOKING ON THE CARS.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am glad to read in "The Friend of the People" column so many letters of commendation of your article pursuant to abolishing smoking on surface cars in Chicago. It is certainly a filthy habit, and I believe THE TRIBUNE can do a great deal towards getting the city authorities to pass a law forbidding the using of tobacco on any of its surface lines.

As a rule a passenger does not stay on a car longer than one hour at the most, and if he cannot give up his cigar, pipe, or cigaret for that length of time it is about time he took some course of treatment for his health. Now that the subject has become agitated I hope THE TRIBUNE will follow up this work with editorials from time to time.

WANTS THE STREETS SANDED.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I cannot understand why in a city the size of Chicago they do not sand the streets, at least in the downtown district. I counted this morning no less than four horses down in one block at the same time in Madison street. It is a disgrace; a fall hurts a horse as much as a human being. Can you not take this matter up with the city hall?
H. R. ROBERTS.

CLOVER, ALFALFA, AND STRAW FOR THE SOIL.

Breckenridge, Minn., Jan. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Referring to the letter of Mr. R. E. Cushman in regard to fertilizers, I will say that the fertilizer question can be easily solved by the purchase of manure. Clover and alfalfa can be grown in a rotation and a part of the crop left on the field, or, better still, the seed can be sold and all of the hay left on the field to be turned under. This may cut the income down for a year or two, but once started, the income will be larger than it was before. One cutting of clover or one cutting of alfalfa can be left on the soil, especially in the latter case, as a man can afford to do this when the alfalfa will yield three or four tons per acre. If the first cutting of clover is left the clover will grow up through it without being smothered out.

It is lamentable that so few farmers realize the value of straw as a fertilizer. Straw is as valuable as manure when once rotted, adds plant food to the soil, and improves its physical condition. FRANK BRAM.

WHAT WILL THE CHURCHES DO?

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The United Charities are trying to care for 4,000 families through this bitter weather. With no fund to call upon they are obliged to depend upon the subscriptions that come in from day to day. What are the churches of Chicago going to do about it? Could not an appeal be made now in the churches for the purpose of tiding over the present crisis?

Are not the suffering poor of our great city of more importance than those of foreign lands?

"He that provideth not for his own . . . is worse than an infidel."

May one be allowed the suggestion that if self-denial were practiced for a short time in the matter of floral decorations in our churches and the money given where it is so greatly needed, would not our Lord consider it an act of worship worthy of him?

I appeal to the churches to stand forth and "let their light shine" now, when their help as well as their sympathy is so sorely needed. ABOU BEN ADHEM.

WATER SUPPLY AT THE STOCKYARDS.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In an editorial in THE TRIBUNE [illegible] you say that Commissioner McGann has plans for improvements which will cost [illegible] $15,000,000, but these will cover a considerable period of time, etc. I desire to call your particular attention to the fact that the stockyards interests attempted, after the Morris fire, when so many firemen lost their lives, to get the city to permit the construction of a water works main from the lake across to the stockyards district, using the Chicago Junction right of way for the location of such main.

This is a practical solution of the fire protection to the stockyards interests, being speedy and at low cost to all concerned.

Do not see why we should defer action in a matter of so much importance and involving the lives of perhaps hundreds of our heroic firemen in order that great general improvements could be made. A simple pipe system from the lake to the stockyards along the Chicago Junction right of way as a basis for locating, would insure protection to millions of dollars' worth of property and to hundreds of lives, and cost a small sum.

Believing from the tone of the editorial inclosed that the writer of that editorial appreciates the need for prompt action in this matter, I am in hopes of his advocacy of such a plan. C. F. [illegible]

PACKERS FIGHT PAPER EVIDENCE

Judge Carpenter Rules Today on Admission of Long List of Documents.

SEEK TO SHIFT BLAME.

Defendants Contend They Were "Unaware" of Their Subordinates' Activities.

Judge George A. Carpenter will make some sort of ruling this morning as to the admission as evidence of the long list of identified documents which passed back and forth between the different packing interests prior to the statutory period named in the indictment of the defendants.

It is believed around the federal building the documents will be classed with all the evidence thus far submitted; that is, it will be considered only if a definite connection is traced from that period into the period covered by the indictment, Sept. 12, 1907-1910.

A significant statement was made by the court yesterday near the end of three hours of hot debate between Pierce Butler of the government forces, and John S. Miller, chief counsel for the packers.

Judge States His Stand.

"The government cannot, it is not obliged to forge this chain (of evidence) by beginning at both ends at the same time," said the court, after Mr. Miller had objected to the introduction of old evidence. "It is apparent the conspiracy, if there is one, is not going to be proved by a written contract signed and sealed by the parties.

"That conspiracy, if there is one, will be proved by circumstantial evidence. And the government charges such a conspiracy between three large houses made up of several groups made up of individuals, dividing them up into three groups.

"The government must forge the chain by circumstantial evidence before it will ever succeed in this case as to each individual group by itself, and prove the business of that individual group; then it must by circumstantial evidence connect the individuals of that group with what the business of that group did.

Must Be Connected, He Says.

"Having done that, the three big businesses must be connected together, and the individuals of the corporations must be connected together. Now, that cannot all be done at once.

"Therefore, if this evidence that is offered under any circumstances when the proof is all in throws light on the general situation or on any of these different branches that the government must erect upon this tree before it can blossom, it is competent evidence.

"It is my opinion that unless a document is clearly irrelevant, under all the circumstances in a case that depends upon circumstantial evidence, it must come in. Because it always is in the power of the court to go back in the forging of the chain, and if a single link in this chain has gone when the government finishes its proof, why the whole case falls."

The jury was excused almost as soon as court opened, and the attorneys set to work with a rush. The packers were forced in their arguments to explain a significant feature of the defense—that the individual defendants were "unaware" of the activities of their subordinates, such as Jerome H. Pratt, whose testimony has been particularly valuable, inasmuch as it was something in the form of a confession.

This attitude on the part of the defense explains more clearly the vigor of the attempt to break down the identification of the actual handwriting of the beef men—an attempt that was unsuccessful for the most part. Mr. Butler contested hotly the defense's claim that the evidence must be direct.

"That is in the sense," he said, "that somebody saw Mr. Armour or Mr. Meeker take this paper, traced him to the meeting, watched him while he was there, and traced him back. That is not here, and probably will not be forthcoming. These men were engaged in a secret enterprise. Secrecy was one of the predominating features of the old days, of the meetings at the houses, and of everything that followed."

Arguments closed early in the afternoon and Judge Carpenter took the numerous documents under consideration.

TO PUNISH CENTRAL TRUST FOR CONTEMPT IN YERKES CASE.

Probably Will Be Fined for Turning Over to Inter-Ocean Company Coupons on $400,000 Bonds.

Judge Cutting, in Probate court, yesterday decided the Central Trust company should be punished for contempt because it turned over to the Inter Ocean Newspaper company interest coupons on $400,000 first mortgage bonds owned by the Charles T. Yerkes estate. The trust company probably will be fined on Jan. 18, the day on which bids for purchase of the bonds will be opened. Charles G. Dawes, president of the company, will not be fined, although W. O. Underwood, representing Louis S. Owsley, executor of the Yerkes estate, urged such a punishment.

On Dec. 30 Attorney Underwood had sought to have Mr. Dawes punished for contempt of court. Yesterday he suggested that Mr. Dawes be fined "nominally."

Mr. Dawes, who was in the courtroom, jumped to his feet.

"If there is to be any fine, I want it imposed upon myself, as I was responsible for the turning over of the coupons," he said. "We admit that we made a mistake in turning over the coupons."

The executor of the Yerkes estate held that the interest coupons were turned over to the Inter Ocean without authority of the court. The court ordered the Central Trust company to get the coupons back, but the newspaper company refused to surrender them, it was charged in an answer to the court's order, filed on Monday.

CREDITORS WANT 'ASSETS HUNT'

Charge Colonial Leather Company Diverted Resources to Another Concern—File Bankruptcy Suit.

Creditors of the Colonial Leather company, 1267 Elston avenue, tanners, filed a petition in the United States District court yesterday asking that the concern be adjudged bankrupt. They declare in their petition that the leather company has been gradually diverting its assets to another company, the United States Crome Sale company, with a view to defrauding the creditors. It is set forth that the assets of the company amount to about $25,000 and liabilities approximate $50,000.

HIGH COURT HITS STATE TRADE ACTS

Decision of National Tribunal Clinches Control by Commission.

MAY HALT LITIGATION.

Advocates of Inheritance Tax Win When New York Law Is Called Constitutional.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—The grip of the interstate commerce commission over the commerce of the country was tightened today through a series of decisions by the Supreme court.

The principle was laid down that shippers suffering from civil injuries from railroads must go to the commission before rushing into the courts for relief.

The paramount authority of the commission in reasonable rate making was upheld by the court's decision that the federal District court of Minnesota was wrong in preventing the enforcement of the commission's reduced rates on lumber from the Pacific coast, Oregon, and Montana points to St. Paul, Omaha, and Chicago.

The legislative field touching the acceptance of goods by railroads for interstate shipment was marked forever as federal territory and states were warned to keep off.

The supremacy over state laws of similar import of the federal "hours of service law," the enforcement of which is confided to the commission, was upheld.

Hard Fight on Lumber Rates.

The fight over the lumber rates had been the most exhaustive. The commission's rates eradicated substantially all the increase in rates proposed by railroads from the northwest in 1908. After a lengthy consideration of the attack upon the commission's order, Justice Lamar concluded that the court could not say the order was made because of the effect of the advances on the lumber industry, as suggested by the railroads, nor that there was no evidence to support the commission's rates.

The court laid down the principle that railroad dividends were not to be a sole basis for judging the reasonableness of rates, but that conditions as a whole were to be taken into consideration. The fact that the commission allowed a higher rate to Omaha than to St. Paul was said to be justified by previous rate distinctions between the cities by the railroads themselves. The validity of the Hepburn rate law was not involved.

Victory for Inheritance Tax.

Advocates of the taxation of inheritances won a long fight today in the Supreme court, when the tribunal decided that the New York "transfer tax" on a life interest retained in property transferred during life was constitutional.

The constitutionality of the law arose over the taxation of a portion of the estate of Mrs. Susan A. Keeney of Brooklyn.

RICHESON SENTENCED TO DIE

Extreme Penalty Pronounced After He Confesses Murder.

PLAN AN APPEAL TO FOSS.

Basis for Clemency Plea Has Not Been Decided Upon.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 9.—The Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson today confessed the murder of Avis Linnell, and heard Judge Sanderson sentence him to death in the electric chair during the week beginning May 19.

To the half dozen questions which Judge Sanderson put to Richeson as to whether he realized the full nature and effect of his acknowledgment of guilt he answered without emotion, always in the affirmative.

Richeson's counsel said an appeal for executive clemency would be made to Gov. Foss soon and that every effort would be made to obtain life imprisonment instead of death.

Some attorneys said tonight that Judge Sanderson's action in accepting the plea might have an echo in the Supreme court, on the ground that a jury alone could accept such a plea.

After the district attorney had read Richeson's confession, Judge Sanderson asked:

"Have you anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon you?"

The young man replied:

"No, sir, nothing further than I have stated."

Rising in his seat Judge Sanderson pronounced the death penalty.

CHICAGO'S BANKS CHOOSE OFFICERS

Financial Institutions Hold Annual Elections; Name Directors for the Year.

MANY CHANGES ARE MADE

Several Show Increases in Surplus and Capital; G. M. Wilson Quits Union Trust.

Sentiment entered into the elections of yesterday, in which most of Chicago's financial institutions chose their directing bodies and officers for the coming year. G. M. Wilson, 72 years old, who had been connected with the Union Trust company for forty-three years, retired as a vice president under a pension plan recently adopted by the banking institution. The vacancy was not filled.

Mr. Wilson became identified with the Union Trust company as a cashier on its opening day, four years before the Chicago fire. Of the institutions that now furnish the financial backbone of the city, only four were in existence at that time.

William G. Schroeder was elected a vice president of the Continental and Commercial National bank, a title which will take that of secretary, previously held by him, and in the trust company, George B. Caldwell was elected vice president, but will continue in charge of the bond department. W. H. Rehm succeeded John F. Harris as a director of the Continental and Commercial National.

First National Directorate Changes.

Two important changes were made in the directorate of the First National bank, George F. Baker of New York, and Charles Deering retiring. Mr. Deering's place will be filled by W. J. Louderback, who, it is said, will represent the Deering interests, while that of Mr. Baker will be filled by Marvin Hughitt. C. N. Gillett, who has held the title of cashier in addition to that of vice president, continues as vice president but gives up the former position.

The Union Trust company added $100,000 of undivided profits to its surplus, which was increased to $1,200,000. At a directors' meeting in December the Chicago City bank increased its surplus from $150,000 to $250,000 out of its undivided profits. In addition to a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent declared at that time the directors yesterday declared an extra ... per cent dividend.

Among the smaller institutions the Citizens Trust and Savings bank increased its surplus from $1,500 to $12,000 in a similar manner and the dividend rate was increased from [illegible] to [illegible] per cent.

Banks Increase Directorates.

A. A. Sprague II. and John G. Shedd were elected directors of the Merchants' Loan and Trust, the directorate of which was increased from twelve to fourteen.

The death of Robert Mather and the increasing of the number of directors of the National Bank of the Republic from thirteen to fourteen made way for the election of Ira M. Cobe and Samuel Scotten as directors of that institution.

H. W. Mahan was elected president of the Washington Park National bank in place of Isaac N. Powell, while Werner A. Wieboldt was elected vice president of the Union bank, the position of second vice president being abolished.

R. H. Griffin, formerly cashier, was elected vice president of the People's Trust and Savings bank. His former place as cashier will be filled by Earle H. Reynolds.

John A. Spoor retired as a vice president of the Live Stock Exchange National bank, but was reelected a director. F. A. Fowler was elected vice president of the Kenwood Trust and Savings bank in place of D. E. Hartwell, who retired.

Fort Dearborn Makes Changes.

Edward F. Swift, Averill Tilden, and L. P. Patterson were elected directors of the Fort Dearborn National bank, the directorate being increased from thirteen to sixteen. John Fletcher and Averill Tilden were elected directors of the Drovers' Trust and Savings bank, the number of which was increased from five to seven.

Isaac N. Powell succeeded John W. Venable as president of the Ashland State bank, and E. H. Nichols was elected vice president of the Englewood State bank in place of F. G. Thearle.

S. M. Felton, president of the Chicago Great Western railway, and Alexander H. Revell were elected directors of the North Side State Savings bank.

The new staffs of Chicago banks follow:

WANTS MERIT MEN DEPRIVED OF VOTE

Ballard Dunn Says That Is Only Way to Take Public Employes Out of Politics.

TALKS TO REALTY BOARD.

Increase in West Madison Street Property Values Shown in New Deal.

That all civil service employés of cities, counties, states, and nation be disenfranchised was advocated yesterday by Ballard Dunn, member of the county merit board, who was deposed from its presidency by Peter Bartzen. Mr. Dunn's idea was expressed to members of the Cook county real estate board at a luncheon in Hotel La Salle.

"That would be one sure way to eliminate politics from government employés," he said. "If they have no vote, their interest in politics would decrease to the minimum. They would get out of politics and we would have more efficiency in public service than is now possible.

Sees Precedent in U. S. Constitution.

"It may be urged that it would be illegal. A precedent is found in the federal constitution, where a vote is denied members of the army. The framers of that great instrument decided that it would be unwise to give the soldiers a vote.

"As long as employés in the classified service believe they must have a political pull, just so long will they dabble in politics. After while they may attempt to run things—not for the benefit of the taxpayers, but for the benefit of the officeholders. They compose an enormous army now. The government has 300,000 under civil service. Chicago has about 20,000. Cook county has upwards of 4,000 and New York City has about 50,000."

Wants County and City Rule United.

Mr. Dunn also urged that county and city governments be consolidated.

"That," he said, "would save from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000 a year and the service would be as good or better than now. I lived for 17 years in St. Louis, where the county and city are the same. There is no objection to the system there, and it would benefit Chicago. The elimination of the county board and auxiliary places would save $100,000 a year. The expense of county elections, between $200,000 and $250,000 biennially, could be saved. Having both a city and a county civil service commission is an absurdity. Many other instances could be cited."

Taking up county civil service, Mr. Dunn explained the provisions of the law and told the reforms he had suggested before removed from the presidency.

Indorse Torrens System.

By a vote of 80 to 42 the board confirmed its previous indorsement of the Torrens system of land registration. The vote was taken after one of the hottest debates that has marked the sessions of the body. Since last October opponents of the Torrens plan have endeavored to reverse the decision of the board, and the two-thirds vote in support of it was declared the quietus of the "anti" movement.

The committee to nominate new officers was said to be made up of men favoring the Torrens system. The members named were Robert E. L. Brooks, Paul Kraemer, Ralph G. Badeaux, J. F. Heck, and A. J. Bockman.

West Madison Street Values Go Up.

A notable West Madison street deal closed yesterday is the purchase by the Madison Terminal Syndicate from G. Arthur Buhl, Peter S. Thurer, and A. H. Berger, trustees of the Schoenhofen Investment company, of the leasehold estate in the 80x140 feet of ground at the southeast corner of Clinton street, for $70,000.

Less than ninety days ago the investment company acquired the leasehold from Max Goldstine and Peter J. Schaefer for $37,500, so that it nets a profit of $32,500 in its brief ownership. G. A. Buhl & Co. were the brokers.

A new eight story store and office building is to be erected upon the property after plans by Holabird & Roche.

The ground is under long term lease with an annual rent of $10,000 from May 1 next to May 1, 1922; $12,500 to May 1, 1932, and $15,000 to Oct. 31, 2001.

Deal in South Side Flats.

An interesting transaction in high grade south side flat property closed and made a matter of record is the sale by Christian A. Loudelius to Philip Cohn of the new Virginia Court apartments at 5629-5643 Prairie avenue. The lot is 141x161 feet and the building is a three story and basement court structure, containing thirty-six apartments having a total gross annual rent of about $18,000.

The consideration in the deed is nominal and subject to an incumbrance of $72,200, but the actual price is said to be around $130,000. In part payment Mr. Cohn gave a 640 acre stock and grain farm in Kankakee county valued at $65,000. E. B. Woolf & Co. represented both parties to the transaction.

Business Property Sold.

The sale of the Liquid Carbonic company's property at the southeast corner of Illinois and Franklin streets, to John M. Berry has been closed. The lot is 99x100 feet, with six story manufacturing building, and the consideration is $85,000, subject to an incumbrance of $35,000 assumed.

Mr. Berry secured $40,000 of the purchase money by a trust deed to the Real Estate Title and Trust company, six years, at 6 per cent. Alexander Friend & Co. negotiated the deal.

E. W. Blatchford has sold to John A. Muldoon the property at the northeast corner of Lake and Curtis streets, lot 100x100 feet, improved with a garage covering the entire lot, occupied by the Motor Transportation company. The consideration is $26,500. Mr. Muldoon is said to plan adding one or more stories to the building. L. G. Varty of H. O. Stone & Co. negotiated the deal.

Lease in Goddard Building.

E. F. Keebler & Co. have leased for David Mager to John T. Muir, the florist, a store 17x31 feet in the new Goddard building to be erected at the southwest corner of Wabash avenue and Monroe street. The store adjoins the entrance to the building and the lease, which runs for ten years from the completion of the building at a term rent of $90,000, includes also 2,000 square feet of basement space. Mr. Muir has plants at Thirty-sixth street and Michigan and Forty-seventh street and Grand boulevard.

$75,000 Loan Secured.

G. H. Coney & Co. made a loan of $75,000 five years at 5½ per cent to Adolph Arnold, secured by the property at the southwest corner of Randolph and Halsted streets, 77x65 feet, with five story and basement brick building.

FIRE PLAYS ROLE IN STOCK MARKET

Foreign Traders Influenced by Reports of Blaze in New York City.

SLIGHT BEAR ACTIVITY.

Heavy Selling Seen in Leading Shares, Union Pacific Leading in Campaign.

[NEW] YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.] New York, Jan. 9.—[Special.]—Exaggerated accounts of the fire disaster which visited the financial district today found their way to the London market before the opening of the stock exchange here and resulted in many anxious inquiries from the continent as well as from England, and in some hasty selling of our stocks from abroad.

This caused some weakness in the early trading, and then ensued extreme dullness. [Relieved] during the final hour of trading by heavy selling of a few of the leading stocks with the greatest pressure upon Union Pacific. The manner of the decline suggested something like a predetermined movement on the part of bear traders, and this view of the afternoon's selling was borne out to some extent by the fact that the greatest pressure was against Union Pacific, which had been sold freely during recent days.

[Much] was made of the inconvenience and [possible losses] which may be caused by the destruction of the Equitable Life building, and disquieting rumors regarding the vast amount of securities in the vaults of the building were circulated in a manner which suggested that a certain element operating in the market was glad to make use of the situation in furthering the decline. There was a sharp rally from some of the low prices of the day, but the net losses were large in a number of issues.

Day's Routine Favorable.

The day's routine financial information was principally favorable, for it included the cotton ginning [report], bearing out the expectation of a crop [approximating] 16,000,000 bales, and a statement of the Copper Producers' association showing that during December there was a further reduction of [over] 25,000,000 lbs in the stocks of copper in the hands of producers.

The features of the report of unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation to be issued tomorrow [are] also highly favorable. It was noteworthy, however, that neither the steel shares nor the copper stocks were favorably influenced by considerations connected with the favorable trade conditions indicated in these reports.

Weak Tone in London.

Somewhat firmer discount rates abroad, particularly in the London market, and continued ease in our own money market were two of the factors which contributed to a further advance in sterling exchange rates here.

The labor situation in England was partly responsible for a weak tone on the London stock exchange and the course of prices was irregular both in Paris and Berlin. The latter market will shortly have to pay to New York a considerable amount of maturing loans unless the ease in money there prompts renewal of these New York advances.

Money on call steady, 2¼@2¾ per cent; ruling rate, 2½ per cent; closing bid, 2¼ per cent; offered at 2½ per cent. Time loans easier; sixty days, 3 per cent, and ninety days 3@3¼ per cent; six months, 3½@3¾ per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8355 for sixty day bills and at 4.8685 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83. Bar silver, 55c. Mexican dollars, 45c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds irregular.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The supply of money was smaller and discount rates were firmer today. Traders on the stock exchange were occupied with the mining carry over and business was slack, with an irregular tendency. American securities opened quiet and about unchanged, but later in the forenoon prices declined under realising. Canadian Pacific was weak and led the downward movement. In the afternoon Berlin and Wall street selling caused additional losses and the market closed flat.

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—Prices opened weak on the bourse today. Later the market was supported and all losses were recovered.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—Prices were irregular on the bourse today.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 9.—[Special.]—Mayflower and Old Colony were once more features on Boston board today. Thousands of shares of each were traded in and the former went up to 6 and Old Colony to 6⅝. Superior and Boston was fairly active, but other coppers did not do much in spite of the favorably monthly statement of the copper producers' association. In fact, most of them lost a fraction. PUBLIC SERVICE BONDS

Prior to purchasing and offering for sale an issue of public service bonds the legal, financial, physical and commercial conditions of the property are subjected to the most rigorous investigation by our attorneys, accountants, engineers and business experts. It is not feasible for an individual to prosecute such an investigation, but it is one of the primary duties of the reliable bond house.

HOGS GLUT MART; HAVE BIG SLUMP

Packers Beat Prices Down 20 @25 Cents When Receipts Total 45,000 Head.

CATTLE ARE CONGESTED.

Killers Take Pick of Offerings at Lower Figures; Sheep and Lambs Higher.

Hog receipts at Chicago yesterday were first estimated at 32,000 head, and then gradually raised until final postings of 45,000 head were made. As the guesses on the probable supply were increased, buyers' ideas of market values cheapened, and whereas sales were made at the outset at prices that were only 5@10c lower than the previous day's values, closing transactions were at a reduction of 20@25c. Packers were big buyers at the maximum decline, taking droves aggregating 30,300 head at an average price of $6.39, against $6.52 Monday. Shippers bought 4,000 head, paying up to $6.60 before the market had more than fairly started on its downward slide.

The cattle market also was in a badly congested condition, and prices dropped 15@25c. Packers, who had let shippers load up on the previous day's sharply advanced market, had the trade much to themselves, and, after picking out what they wanted, left many loads of fair to good steers to be carried over unsold. Best sales were at $8.15.

Lambs and sheep continued to meet with an exceptionally strong call, and new high marks for the season were made when prime western lambs sold at $7.15 and yearlings reached $6.00. Wethers topped at $4.90.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF

The National City Bank

OF CHICAGO

THIS Bank was organized February 5th, 1907—almost five years ago—and we believe the time is appropriate for a general review of the period.

I. GROWTH OF BUSINESS

¶ This is best reflected in the deposits. The following figures indicate a steady growth:

Total deposits, February 5, 1907 (opening day)		$ 2,198,337.25
" " December 31, 1907		6,201,815.87
" " " 31, 1908		12,344,125.88
" " " 31, 1909		15,243,602.94
" " " 31, 1910		22,965,928.59
" " " 31, 1911		27,524,223.90

II. PROFITS.

¶ Net profits earned to date—$817,509.57. This is an average annual return on the capital of 10.55 per cent. These profits have been disposed of as follows:

Dividends paid at 6% (beginning April 1, 1908)	$360,000.00
Added to Surplus Account	100,000.00
At credit of Undivided Profits, December 31, 1911	117,509.57
Profits re-invested in purchase of the deposits and good will of the Hamilton National Bank	240,000.00
TOTAL AS ABOVE	$817,509.57

¶ Two offices have been furnished during the period, and the cost of the furniture and fixtures has been charged off.

III. LOSSES

¶ Our policy has been to avoid large loans, and no heavy single loss has occurred during the period. We have, however, encountered the ordinary losses incident to the business. The total of these for the five years is $105,566.26 which, is one-fifth of one per cent per annum on the average loans carried during that period.

IV. BOND DEPARTMENT

¶ A Bond Department has been satisfactorily established, and is a most important branch of our business. The bonds carried by the Department usually amount to about $2,000,000, and are always valued on a conservative basis. Respectfully submitted,

On behalf of the Board of Directors,

DAVID R. FORGAN, President.

FIRST MORTGAGE 6% BONDS

There is NO class of security on the market having any better record than 6% TIMBER LAND BONDS as handled by Clark L. Poole & Company.

Of the $50,000,000 bonds secured by First Mortgages on Timber Lands, which we have purchased and sold during the past nine years, $10,901,500 have either matured and been paid or called prior to maturity, at a premium.

There has not been a single instance of loss or default of either principal or interest on any of our loans and they have all uniformly increased in security.

FIRST MORTGAGE 6% BONDS

Subject to Prior Sale and Advance in Price we offer—on a basis to net 6%—the unsold portions of two very desirable issues of bonds, both the direct obligation of large lumber companies and secured by First Mortgage on Virgin Timber Lands (owned in fee) conservatively worth 260% in excess of the bonded indebtedness.

Both issues are in serial form—no timber can be removed without deposit with the trustee of an amount sufficient to retire the bonds before removing 80% of the timber, so that the security is steadily increasing throughout the operation of the property.

These bonds are in denominations of $500 and $1,000 each and run from six (6) to ten (10) years.

$50,000,000 Loaned on Timber Land Security Without a Loss

Unlike man-made properties, such as railroads, buildings and plants of one type and another, timber—which forms the major security for these issues and all other loans which we market—is not subject to depreciation through wear, tear, mismanagement, etc., but is constantly enhancing in value. Operation of the property, instead of lessening the security, acts to increase it—no act of man is required to keep up the value of the physical assets—dependence upon competent and honest management is eliminated.

No matter what type of investment you have heretofore favored, take occasion to compare it with the facts in regard to these issues. We will very gladly supply you with circulars and other literature, which goes broadly into the general subject and record of timber land bonds. Ask for Circulars No. 139 and 141, by telephone, letter or in person.

We are the only large financial house making a specialty of loaning funds on large tracts of timber and our many years of successful experience in this particular field properly equips us to look after the interests of investors.

Natural Resources
As Security For Bonds

The natural resources of this country are steadily increasing in value with the growth of population and industry. Bonds secured by lands, water powers, coal, iron ore and standing timber when conservatively issued and properly safeguarded have been proved to be sound and profitable investments. Bond issues of this character offered by us always mature in annual or semi-annual series, so that the margin of security constantly increases. Properties securing these bonds are in every case in strong hands, are well located as regards market and represent a considerable cash investment aside from the proceeds of the bonds. Our present offerings are as follows:

NAME OF ISSUE	TO NET
Reedy River Power Company First Mortgage 5's	5 %
Northwestern Iron Company First Mortgage 5's	5 %
Illinois Midland Coal Co. First Mortgage 5½'s	5½%
Panhandle Lumber Company First Mortgage 6's	5½%

Time-Tested Investments

FOR centuries past the type of investment represented by first mortgage real estate bonds and first mortgage loans, secured by well-located, improved income-producing property, has been generally acknowledged to be the highest type of conservative investments.

First mortgage real estate securities return a larger income and are more stable in value than other standard securities.

Real Estate in Chicago, the great central market of the United States, is constantly increasing in value, thus forming an exceptionally attractive security for loans. For 30 years we have been selling first mortgage loans and bonds based on such security, and in all this time no investor has ever lost one single dollar of principal or interest on any investment made through us.

If you are genuinely interested in sound investments, call or write for The Investors' Magazine, which we publish twice a month in the interest of investors. We would be pleased to submit a select list of first mortgage real estate loans and bonds netting 5½ and 6 per cent in amounts of $500 and upwards. Send for circular No. 732.

Reservations may be made for future delivery.

WEAK UNDERTONE IN WHEAT TRADE

Large Increase in World's Stocks Causes Heavy Selling by Professionals.

CORN MART HOLDS FIRM.

Receipts Are Larger, but Selling Pressure Is Light; Products Are Easy.

Highest prices for wheat yesterday were scored right at the start, after which there was an easy tone. Offerings were liberal at the start and there was an absence of outside buying which made any further advance impossible without continued buying by the local contingent. Later in the day the unexpected big increase in Bradstreet's world's stocks gave the market another blow, and there was renewed local and commission house selling. In the last hour there was buying on the break by commission houses which rallied prices a little. The close showed net declines of ⅜c to ⅝c.

Argentine news was as bullish as ever, and there was still an inclination to lower estimates, but as a market factor the news was not efficacious in boosting or even holding prices.

Liverpool Sends Higher Cables.

Early buying was due largely to the strength at Liverpool, which closed ⅛d to ⅜d higher. Shorts here covered freely and there was a little buying by Bartlett-Frazier and Clement-Curtis. On the swell Lindman, Valentine, Noyes-Jackson, Armour, Lowitz, Lamson, and Gifford were sellers. On the break Ware-Leland, Barrett, Knight-McDougal, and Harris-Winthrop were on the buying side.

Bradstreet's showed an increase of 7,925,000 bu in the world's available supply, the big increase being due to the addition of the Canadian wheat at Duluth and Buffalo. A year ago there was an increase in the available supply of 2,817,000 bu. Clearances for the day were 157,000 bu. Canadian estimates indicate there is about 47,000,000 bu wheat still on the farms in western Canada, 12,000,000 bu at Fort William and 36,000,000 bu in country elevators.

Cash Sales Are Larger.

Just a trifle better demand was reported for cash wheat and sales here were 75,000 bu. No. 2 hard wheat selling at 2c over the May free on board. Kansas City sold Nebraska No. 2 hard wheat to Oklahoma at 4c over their May. Minneapolis premiums were a shade lower with a less urgent demand. Stocks there decreased 150,000 bu for three days. Primary arrivals aggregated 371,000 bu, against 373,000 bu a year ago. Local arrivals were 15 cars, with 10 cars for today estimated. Northwest cars were 259 cars, against 180 cars a year ago. Clearances for the day were 157 cars.

Continental markets were irregular. Paris was ⅛c higher, Berlin ⅛c off, Budapest ⅛c lower, and Antwerp ⅛c off. Buenos Aires opened 1⅜@1½c higher.

Corn Shows Steady Tone.

In spite of the weakness in wheat and the generally favorable weather conditions there was a steady tone to the corn market and at the close prices were unchanged to ⅛c off. The cash demand was a small factor, as sales reported were only 80,000 bu and prices were steady to ½c lower in the sample market. New sales from the country were moderate, but receipts are expected to continue liberal as long as weather conditions are favorable.

Receipts here were 568 cars, with 464 cars the estimate for today. Western points had 964,000 bu, against 671,000 bu a year ago. Closing cables were ¼d higher. Outside cash corn markets were generally a little firm, with the demand reported good. Clearances for the day were 168,000 bu.

Sharp Dip in Oats Prices.

The tone of the oats market was heavy and prices were ⅜c to ⅜c lower at the windup. Weakness in wheat was a factor, but the buying demand for oats has dwindled materially and there has been less urgency in the demand from the shorts the last two or three days. Receipts here were 74 cars, with 83 cars the estimate for today. Primary receipts were 224,000 bu, against 509,000 bu a year ago. Shipping sales were 110,000 bu; cash prices ½c lower.

Large Hog Receipts Factor.

Large receipts of hogs and a break of 5@10c at the yards caused a weak undertone in product and small losses were sustained throughout the list. Jackson and Tietgens were on the selling side. Early there was a little buying of lard by Ellsworth-Cross. Receipts here were 38,000, with 40,000 the estimate for today. In the west receipts were 129,700, against 115,400 a year ago. Product prices were 2½ higher for lard and 6d for hams and cumberland sides. Receipts of hogs here were 43 cars; shipments, 74 cars.

Further Gains in Rye.

Prices of rye continued to work upwards, with sales of No. 2 at 96c and of No. 4 at 89c. No. 3 was quoted at 91@93c. Receipts were estimated at 3 cars.

Barley sold at higher prices than in many years, with malting at $1.05@1.35; mixing, 95c@$1.05; feed, 85@90c; screenings, 40@70c. Receipts, 17 cars.

Timothy was quiet and steady. March closed at $15.00 nominal and cash lots at $12.00@15.00. Clover seed was firm at $15.00@20.00 for cash lots.

Duluth flax closed at a decline of 1⅛@2⅛c. Cash on track was $2.18½; January, $2.16¼; May, $2.17½; receipts, 43 cars. Minneapolis flax was 1⅛c lower at $2.20 for cash on track. Receipts, 16 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Argentine news appears to have become stale so far as influencing prices of wheat is concerned. The advices by cable yesterday were extremely bullish, the weather having again turned unfavorable, and Buenos Aires opened 1⅜@1½c higher. There was not much buying response, either here or abroad, however, although Broomhall said that reliable interests now estimated the exportable surplus at only 92,000,000 bu. Snow's cable was bullish, and there were other private advices that the outlook was unfavorable. Most of the buying on the Argentine news has been of a local professional character, and there has been no increase of importance in the outside speculative demand. The consequence is that after local traders are loaded up ready for an advance they find no one to sell it to, and the market declines of its own weight.

Bradstreet's statement of the world's available supply of wheat was a surprise to the trade, showing an increase for the week of 7,925,000 bu. The big increase was due principally to the addition of stocks of Canadian wheat in Duluth and Buffalo. This made the big increase. Hereafter Bradstreet's figures will include also the stock west of the Rockies.

Bradstreet's report of the available supply last week shows the following increases:

	1912.	1911.
Wheat, east of Rockies	*653,000	*625,000
Canada	6,261,000	*556,000
U. S. and Canada	5,328,000	*1,183,000
Europe and afloat	2,600,000	4,000,000
World's stock	7,925,000	2,817,000
Corn	868,000	3,016,000
Oats	686,000	*17,000

*Decrease.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 10 cars; corn, 464 cars; oats, 83 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 17 cars; hogs, 40,000 head.

Corn offerings from the country were fair and there was no shipping demand of importance. Prices were steady to ½c lower here. Peoria wired that the cold snap had checked the farm marketing, but that larger receipts were looked for if the weather moderated. This view coincided with that of most of the local receivers. Cash oats were ½c lower, with a slow demand and also small offerings. Shipping sales were 20,000 bu corn and 110,000 bu oats.

No. 2 hard wheat at Kansas City is quoted $1.06@1.06 and No. 3 hard $1.01@1.07. No. 2 red was $1.02. These prices indicate big premiums over Chicago prices. A Kansas City wire from Bracken said: "About 20,000 bu ordinary Nebraska No. 2 hard wheat just sold to go to an Oklahoma mill at 4c over the May here." No. 2 hard wheat at Omaha was quoted $1.01@1.02.

The directors yesterday elected Edwin Mooers to membership on the board of trade, and declared the second floor of H. Boore & Co.'s warehouse "A" regular for the storage of provisions until July 1. The meeting was then adjourned until Friday, when the annual reports will be read and the new officers installed.

Frank B. Gordon, who for the last two years has been Bartlett-Frazier's special representative in this state, has entered the service of Gardiner B. Van Ness in a like capacity of reporting on crops and general conditions, in addition to acting as solicitor.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ⅛@¼c higher; corn, ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher; oats, steady to ⅛c higher; rye, unchanged.

Alvo Von Alvensleben, George G. Hannah, and Harold L. Mack have made application for membership on the board of trade.

Three memberships on the board of trade were sold at $2,900 each net to the buyer.

Deliveries on January contract were 10,000 bu corn and 500 tcs of lard.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 150,000 bu for three days.

COLD DULLS PRODUCE TRADE; SHIPPERS AND BUYERS IDLE.

Retailers Absent from Mart—Egg and Butter Receipts Prove Ample—Show Slightly Easier Tone.

Produce trade at Chicago yesterday was restricted to insignificant volume and price variations were confined to an advance of ½c on live roosters. The light trade was due to the fact that shippers were idle on account of the cold weather, while most of the city retailers, having filled their wants Monday, did not put in an appearance on the market.

Egg receipts were 1,472 cases, but the supply proved ample for the requirements of the trade and the market had an easier undertone than on any day in a long time. Butter arrivals were 8,181 tubs, reflecting a steady increase in the production.

Potato receipts were posted at 40 cars, but many of these did not reach the market until late in the day, and receivers left them standing unopened. The demand was narrow and weak.

HARVESTER SELLS $20,000,000 NOTES

New Issue Purchased by J. P. Morgan & Co.; Will Retire Floating Obligations.

COMPANY'S CREDIT GOOD.

Annual Report Shows $8,684,819 Surplus; Edison Shares Advance to 141½.

It was learned yesterday that the International Harvester company has issued $20,000,000 three year 5 per cent notes. No announcement has been made of this issue. It was purchased by J. P. Morgan & Co. Of the total amount $5,000,000 was apportioned to Chicago and the notes are understood to have been received with much favor.

It is learned that from the proceeds of the sale the company will retire floating obligations. Just why secrecy should have been observed is not apparent. The company's credit is necessarily in the first class and its report for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1910, showed a surplus of $8,684,819 after all fixed charges and dividends. The total surplus on that date stood at $16,069,549.

The issue is one of the largest in note form that has recently been put out. The company is at times a large borrower at the banks and one local institution last year is reported to have loaned the company $2,000,000 in one transaction.

Live Stock Exchange Wound Up.

Stockholders of the Live Stock Exchange National bank are receiving the following notice from Cashier G. F. Emery:

"We inclose herewith check for $—— representing final dividend on the stock of the National Live Stock Bank of Chicago in liquidation. Your certificate representing —— shares, and left in our hands for collection of final dividend has been surrendered to the liquidating agent."

Commonwealth Edison Up.

Commonwealth Edison shares had a quick advance on the local stock exchange. The price opened at 138 and moved up to 141½. Thereafter the market was irregular, closing at 140⅝. Brokers had a story that the Commonwealth Edison company would buy the Continental and Commercial National Bank building and issue stock at par to pay for it. It was announced by an interest in the company, however, that there would be no stock issue in connection with the deal, but that bonds would be sold. An issue of bonds is not a bull point on the stock.

Chicago Title and Trust stock was bought up from 193 to 195¼. Accompanying this rise were rumors that the company would start a trust company to handle its banking business. President Riley denied that such plans were under contemplation at this time.

Booth Fisheries preferred was active and firm, advancing to 88. The close was ½ lower. Series 2 certificates of the Chicago Railways company participated in the upward movement and touched 38. The close was at 37⅛. Series 1 advanced to 104⅛. There was a story on the floor of the exchange that dividends would be paid quarterly at the rate of 8 per cent on the series after the merger. No such thing is likely to happen.

In the bond department Chicago Railways As again sold at 96¼. The Bs were quoted at 91⅛. The business was not large.

Silver Output Increases.

The silver mining industry of the United States, according to the geological survey, was considerably larger in 1911 than the previous year. This was owing mostly to the prosperity of the gold, copper, and lead mining industry. The 1911 silver output was 57,796,117 fine ounces, being 2,182,197 ounces more than the average annual output of 55,613,120 ounces of the preceding decade and 658,217 ounces more than the output of 1910.

According to the director of the mint, the value of the silver production in 1911 was $31,787,868. The production in 1910 was valued at $30,854,500. The average price of silver in 1911 was 53 cents a fine ounce, a decrease of 1 cent from that of 1910. The year began with silver near 54 cents, but the price declined to 52 cents in February and fluctuated between 52 and 54 cents until November, when it rose sharply to 56 cents, declining to an average of 55 cents for the closing month of the year.
